MR. QUA SAYS BILL IS LEGAL

Advised City Treasurer Stiles to Issue Check for the Knox Fire Auto

Attorney Francis W. Qua was called upon by City Treasurer A. G. Stiles for an opinion relative to the payment of the bill to the Knox Automobile company for the apparatus furnished by the same company to the city of Lowell, so that he might act legally in the matter. Mr. Qua decides that the city treasurer is fully authorized to pay the bill to the Knox fire auto and that there is nothing in the city charter making the signature of the commissioner of finance a prerequisite of payment.

Office of F. W. and S. E. Qua, Room 518, Hildreth Building, Lowell, Jan. 29, 1913.

A. G. Stiles, Esq., City Treasurer, Dear Sir: I have carefully examined the question submitted to me by you, namely, whether you as city treasurer are authorized to issue your check for $5500 to the Knox company for the construction of a motor propelled fire apparatus, and beg to submit the following opinion. The facts as stated to me are that the apparatus in question was specially constructed for the use of the fire department under a contract with Alderman Barrett, the commissioner having charge of that department; that it could not be bought in the market but had to be specially ordered; and that it has been delivered and accepted and is now in use by the fire department. The primary objection to the payment of the bill seems to have been that the apparatus in question was not ordered through the office of the chief of the supply department. I do not think that this objection is valid. It was not a purchase of material of supplies for the city but a contract for the construction of a special machine adapted to the wants of the department, of a kind not usually kept on hand for sale by dealers, and therefore was properly contracted for by the commissioner who had charge and authority over that department. But whether this opinion of the law as to the authority of the commissioner to order this machine is correct or not I think is immaterial.

In view of the further action that has been taken by the municipal council in reference to this bill.

At the meeting of the municipal council on Jan. 28, 1913 the following vote was passed: "That the city auditor be instructed to issue a draft for the sum of $5,500.00 directing the city treasurer to pay said sum to the Knox Company for the construction of a motor propelled fire apparatus as contracted for, received and accepted by the auditor in compliance with the above vote has issued his draft on you for the amount. It is now contended that you ought not to pay the draft because it was not approved by the present commissioner of finance who was not the commissioner at the time when this bill was contracted. I can find nothing in the charter or ordinance of the city of Lowell which requires the approval of the commissioner of finance as a prerequisite to the payment of a draft especially ordered to be paid by the municipal council. Section 12 of an ordinance passed in Oct. 1912 provides that no money shall be paid out of the city treasury except upon an order or resolution of the municipal council. Certain exceptions are made in the ordinance which need not be considered as they have no bearing on the question we are considering. Section 17 of the same ordinance provides that "before issuing any order on the treasurer for the payment of any money from the city treasury on any resolution, ordinance, order or vote of the municipal council a certified copy of the original resolution, ordinance, order or vote authorizing or directing said payment and bearing the official signature of the auditor and city treasurer. These provisions of the ordinance seem to have been fully complied with, I am, therefore, of the opinion that you are authorized to pay the draft and that it is your duty to do so.

Very truly yours,
Francis W. Qua.

MANY JUVENILES IN POLICE COURT

Variety of Cases Heard—Boy Who Created Excitement in Theatre Was Fined $10

There were quite a few juvenile offenders before Judge Bright this morning on a variety of complaints. On a charge of wilfully disturbing an assembly of people, Joseph Lussard was fined $10. The story goes that Lussard with several others created a small riot in a local theatre a short time ago by blowing a sneeze producing machine about 30 feet to draw out the sounds of the music with the merry "A-chews." The boy has an unenviable record of misdemeanors and his parents in court said that he had been conducting himself especially unworthily of late.

Robert Lawson responded to a charge of breaking and entering and larceny of two watches, a pin and a chain from a house in Manchester. The defendant had and two other boys who were connected with the affair later restored the articles and the court ordered a continuance of the case until February 23. In this period the lad will be sent to Kentucky where his father is now located.

George Morine and George D. Jones, both delinquent lads, were committed to the Middlesex county training school; George Carpenter was fined $10 for playing a game on the Lord's day and Leo Allard paid five dollars for being present at this game.

Found Not Guilty

With several witnesses whose examination required the services of two interpreters, the case of Charles Saucier, charged with assault and battery on, and larceny of a ring valued at $45 from Joseph L. Pigeon, which was opened in court yesterday, was continued this morning. Attorney Joseph Laughman appeared for the complainant with Lawyer Charbonneau representing the defense.

The complainant, Joseph Pigeon, was the first to testify this morning, and he told his story of the affair. The substance of it was that he entered a bar-room to collect a bill and had to wait a few moments. During this interval a kind soul "set up" the drinks for a couple of rounds and the plaintiff duly responded with a similar act of courtesy. He said that he refused to pay for Saucier's drink but paid for five others. Then he said the defendant followed him out of the bar room and struck him in the breast and later in the eye. His left optic was covered when he appeared in court today. The witness said that when the defendant struck him, he also (the defendant) caught hold of Pigeon's hand and after the battle the latter mistook two rings. One of these, he said, he afterward found in the street near the scene of the affair. Witness also said he was not drunk but had been drinking ginger ale.

It was brought out in this testimony that there was a debt between Pigeon and another man which entered into the conversation. The defendant said that Pigeon was the assailant and that he had to defend himself.

Each witness had his own story and it was a difficult matter to follow the thread of the plot in a connected manner. Much was said as to the particulars of the assault and also as to the character of the drinks consumed in the bar room.

In the conclusion of the evidence the court found the defendant not guilty and ordered him discharged.

Neglected to Support Wife

On complaint of his wife that he had since October 1st neglected to provide for her proper support, John W. Boynton was arraigned in police court this morning. His wife, Lillian A. Boynton, testified she has two children of the ages of one year and five years. She said that her husband works, earning $150 per day and that he does not know what he does with the money for she never sees it. She testified also that he gets groceries on credit and remains loafing about the house till they are consumed. A neighbor corroborated the wife's testimony. The defendant on the stand said and stoutly maintained that the statements of both women were false. Judge Bright, however, decided otherwise, and sentenced the man to six months in the house of correction. An order was made for 50 cents per day from the man's labor to go toward Mrs. Boynton's support.

Edward M. Edington paid a fine of $5 for drunkenness. Wallace P. Cunningham was held for tomorrow's session while Lawrence Haley was committed to the state farm. Five were released by the probation officer.

GREAT BATTLE WON

LONDONDERRY, Ireland, Jan. 31.—

The Irish home rule forces partly won a notable victory over the unionists in the election of a member of parliament for this, the chief city of the province of Ulster yesterday.

In the poll David C. Hogg, nationalist, led Col. A. C. Pakenham, by 57 majority. The seat had been held since 1866 by the Marquis of Hamilton, who recently was elevated to the house of lords on the death of his father, the Duke of Abercorn. The result of the election is to give the home rulers a majority of members of parliament from the province of Ulster.

Extraordinary efforts were made by both parties to bring electors to the polls and as a result out of a total electorate of 5162 voters 5341 cast their ballots. Many sick and infirm persons were taken to the polling booths in ambulances. There was no disorder.

The majorities in Londonderry elections have always been small, ranging between 24 in 1902 and 165 in December, 1911.

The announcement of the result of the polling was followed by extraordinary scenes. The pent up excitement of the populace was vented in wild demonstrations. A deafening chorus of shrieks, cheers and hisses broke loose, and this was accompanied by the firing of revolvers in the air, while green and red handkerchiefs and Union Jacks fluttered over the heads of the surging crowd. The nationalists sang "A Nation Once Again," to which the unionists responded with "Rule Britannia" and "God Save the King."

Mounted and foot police had to clear the way and form an escort round Mr. Hogg and Col. Pakenham while they were on their way to their hotels. The rival crowds of home rulers and unionists came into contact at one point of the city. There was much stone throwing and the police were obliged to charge and disperse the people with their clubs.

CHIEF GETTEMY DECLINES OFFER

Will Not Send Experts Here Unless Municipal Council Gives the Authority

A short time ago Commissioner Brown of the finance department wrote a letter to Charles F. Gettemy, chief of the bureau of statistics in Boston, requesting him to send some of his men to this city in order to make an inspection of the city's books for the past ten years.

Mr. Gettemy's reply was to the effect that the commissioner of finance has not the authority to request an inspection of the books, as this must be done by a vote from the municipal council. Mr. Gettemy also states that until such time as the council authorizes him to audit the books he will not do so.

Sewer Assessments

The engineer's department is now making out bills for sewer assessments in compliance with the ordinance passed in Oct., 1912. These assessments are for the sewers constructed in 1911 and will be mailed to the abutters next week.

March 4, 1917, it was defeated on a viva voce vote but by demanding a rollcall he got it before the senate again for further consideration. As a substitute Senator Hitchcock proposed an amendment to let Wilson, Roosevelt or Taft have one six year term under the new amendment.

"When we except these persons from its operations we are making it entirely personal," declared Senator Borah; "we might as well name these three men in the amendment as being exempt from its provisions. We practically would be amending the constitution for their convenience."

Senator Paynter then proposed an amendment to make the six year term take effect in 1912. Senator Works, author of the original resolution, endorsed Senator Hitchcock's plan.

Senator Clapp, progressive, took emphatic exception to his position. "It is a reflection upon the senate itself," he declared, "in our saying to the country that a great principle cannot pass this body unless three great partisan leaders are recognized and cared for in the legislation."

"I am not in favor of any limitation on the right of the people to choose their own executives," pursued Senator Clapp, "but if such a principle is to be established, I regard it as trifling with the fundamental principles of government to recognize the personal equation and exempt three great gentlemen from the operation of the constitutional amendment. One of those gentlemen I hold in close friendship; yet in the interest of that man I would not like to see a new principle put into effect from the operation of which he would be exempt. If this change in our constitution is wise and if this limitation is to be adopted let us rise to the occasion and apply it to every man."

Senator Southerland urged the adoption of the root amendment. This brought another protest from the progressive ranks. Senator Poindestexter declaring that if there was any danger of a man "perpetuating himself in office" because of his "ability and popularity" as the friends of the single term claimed, that danger should be met by making the resolution immediately effective.

Senator Cummins favored and Senator Lodge opposed the exemptions for Wilson, Roosevelt and Taft.

EXCLUDE TEDDY FROM THIRD TERM

Amendments So Drawn Are Before the Senate—Works' 6 Year Term Considered

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Nearly a dozen important amendments and counter proposals were pending before the senate today when it resumed consideration of the Works' resolution for a single six-year presidential term. These included amendments designed to exempt Wilson, Taft and Roosevelt from the effect of a change in the constitution and some amendments so drawn as to expressly exclude Col. Roosevelt from another term.

The senate was still in the legislative day of yesterday as it had agreed to table on the Works resolution during the legislative day of Jan. 30.

It was expected that a final vote on the resolution and all amendments might be reached before night. At least four of the acts pending were to restrict a president to two terms but to count "a fraction of a term" as a full term. An amendment by Senator Gallinger proposed a four-year term with the provision that no person who has held the office by election or discharge its powers and duties or acted as president should be "eligible to hold the office by election more than one additional term."

An amendment by Senator Hitchcock was similar but provided a six-year term with one re-election. An amendment by Senator McComber also limited a president to two four-year terms and provided that any service as president for the "major fraction" of a four-year term should count as one term.

Senator Williams' amendment, similar to this, would have counted "any fraction of a term" as a full term. Under any of these amendments, Col. Roosevelt would be ineligible for re-election. An amendment by Senator Paynter proposed to extend the six-year term to the president in office when the constitutional amendment should be ratified; another by Senator Dixon proposed expressly to exempt President-elect Wilson from the restriction of a single term and an amendment by Senator Root proposed to make the single term take effect after March 4, 1917.

When the senate took up this subject Senator Root's amendment to make the constitutional amendment take effect

ANOTHER WATER MAIN BURST

Trouble Found in the Woolworth Store—May be Main Laid Fifty Years Ago

It never rains but it pours, and the water department of this city is fast discovering the truth of that old saying for, shortly after eight o'clock this morning, more trouble of an apparently serious nature was discovered in Merrimack street directly in front of the Hildreth building.

It was employees of Woolworth's five and ten cent store who first discovered that the troubles of the water department were not over. About eight-twenty o'clock this morning water was discovered pouring into the basement of the Woolworth establishment from a source unknown, finding its way through the stone wall and splashing down over a set of shelves which are set up against the wall in front. The goods were removed from these shelves at once by the clerks of the store and no serious damage resulted. Fortunately, there is a connection of the sewer and by removing the cap and sending the water in that direction, the more serious flooding of the cellar was prevented.

The officials of the city water department were immediately notified and sent men at once to the spot who turned off the water. An investigation of the cellar and the manholes and other inlets in the street failed to reveal the cause of the trouble and it was found necessary to begin an excavation to locate the break or leak. The usual difficulty was experienced in removing the hard pavement, which also prevented the water from coming to the surface and being seen from the street. The hole which was made filled with water as soon as the laborers had dug part way down and a hand pump was brought into service to keep the excavation as clear as possible. Even then, the water flowed in faster than it could be removed, while the men at work on the pump sent large volumes of the muddy liquid into the sewer, which was fortunately handily situated nearby.

Superintendent Thomas of the water department told a Sun reporter shortly before one o'clock this afternoon, that although the men had not as yet located the leak, it might arise from one of several causes. It was at first thought to be in the plumbing of the Hildreth building, but this was soon proven false. Mr. Thomas said that on Merrimack street was an old 12-inch water main, laid there about 50 or more years ago by the Locks and Canals people who, before the construction of the city's water supply system, used to furnish the water for the fighting of fires. "It is possible," said Mr. Thomas, "that the leak is in this old pipe, which was taken over by the city when they first formed the water department. Another possible explanation is, that there may be a leak in one of the joints of the main pipe, caused by the removal of the street paving above the reservoir is at least the remote cause of the trouble."

To many, the appearance of two defects in the water main, in different places and within so short a period is a significant fact and the opinion has been advanced that the increased water pressure brought about by the putting into use of the new reservoir is at least the remote cause of the trouble.

Cause of Leak Discovered

Early this afternoon, the workmen of the water department got their excavation down to the Merrimack street 12 inch main and discovered that what was at first supposed to be a break was nothing more than a very badly leaking joint. The leak must have been in progress for some time for it had sent out a large quantity of water. The hard quality of the street paving above prevented it from gaining exit upward.

The leak was caused by the loosening of a collar of one of the joints and the removal of the lead from the seam. Beyond the trouble which it caused the city, the labor, and a slight inconvenience of an hour or two to the Woolworth company, no great damage resulted. Commissioner Barrett and Superintendent Thomas of the water department were on the scene most of the whole of the morning and part of the afternoon, directing the operations of the men.

Towers Corner Main

The work of filling in the large excavation caused by the washing away of the earth at Tower's corner by the bursting of the water main there has been started and will not be long before entirely completed. It was found necessary to strengthen the spot by placing supports of wood under the paving to do away with the danger of its caving in upon the workmen of the city and of the Lowell Electric Light Corp., who are at work on the cables there.

WORK ON NEW PLANT

Of Chelmsford Springs

Co., is Progressing

The management of the Chelmsford Springs Co. in Chelmsford Centre, is having the erection of the new building rushed and plans to occupy it by the first of May.

When completed the building will be 265 feet long and 42 feet wide, the side of the building facing Littleton street where the company's products will be manufactured will be one story in height while the ell facing the railroad track will be of three stories above the large basement. This projection will be used for storage shipping. Upstairs the mixing will be done. The part of the building being erected now is on the right hand side of the old building where formerly many birch trees stood. These constructions will all be of brick and be built with an asbestos roof making it fireproof. The office will contain a new fireproof safe.

Early in the summer the plant will be in full swing with modern machinery of latest design and methods, manufacturing 1000 cases of tonic a day with 24 bottles to a case, making a distribution of about 35,000 bottles of tonic all over New England.

The larger plant in Suffolk, New Brunswick, is also rushing, as it supplies the wants of people in that district. The company has been organized eleven years and has been very successful in business.

PLEAS OF NOT GUILTY

Entered by Mellien and Chamberlain

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Charles S. Mellien and E. J. Chamberlain entered pleas of not guilty in the federal court this afternoon to indictments charging them with violating the criminal clause of the Sherman anti-trust law in connection with a monopoly agreement between the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad and the Grand Trunk railroad.

George P. McCabe Resigns

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—George P. McCabe, solicitor of the department of agriculture, has presented to Secretary Wilson his resignation, effective March 1. It has been accepted. He will go to Portland, Oregon.

It is reported at city hall that Dr. Rodenbeck Hignett is a candidate for park commissioner, to succeed Judge John J. Pickman, whose term expires this year.

SAVES CASH FROM FIRE

Miss G. Clark Crawled

PLUCKY WOMAN TOOK $1000 FROM
A BURN

Fire in Sagamore Block Caused a Loss of $1000—Much Water Damage

WARE, Jan. 31.—Fire that broke out in the Sagamore block on Main street yesterday afternoon caused a loss of $1000, and much water damage.

Miss G. Clark, bookkeeper at the hotel office of the Metropolitan Insurance company, lived in the Sagamore block. After the fire she was found in the building, and she took more than $1000 in cash from a drawer in her desk and carried it to her home and there hid it in a safe.

The fire was caused by the explosion of an oil heater in the billiard room of Misses Emily and William Kelly in the rear of the block. Miss William Kelly lighted the heater and stepped out to the dressing room, and when she returned she found the heater had exploded. She rushed to the door and opened it, and the pressure of smoke against a window, compelling the billiard room with the insurance office, caused the fire to break out.

The fire spread with the new supply of air, the fire was soon a mass of flames. Miss Clark, called Edward Fitzgerald, a stable in driveway room in the first floor, and he had Louis Albertine, a maid, call an alarm.

The fire raged so quickly that Miss Clark had difficulty in getting out of the office, as did J. J. Lange, who carried out the office books.

The fire gained such headway that a second alarm was sounded, but by the time the additional squad arrived the fire was under control.

The damage to the block is estimated at $1000, covered by insurance, and the damage to the contents is estimated at from $1500 to $2000, partly covered by insurance.

S. P. Fitch's grocery store and the jewelry store of E. J. Bassett, on the first floor were badly damaged by water.

Years of Age

PITTSFIELD, Jan. 31.—Capt. Frederick A. Francis, a prominent Civil war veteran, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John N. Robbins, at 21 Breton terrace. He was 78 years old.

He was born in Stearnsville, son of Manning and Elizabeth Foster Francis. One of his ancestors had organized the First Baptist church of Pittsfield, and was its pastor.

Capt. Francis was engaged in business in Pittsfield when the Civil war began. He was a member of the Allen Guards, which became Co. A of the 4th Massachusetts Infantry. He was appointed quartermaster by Col. W. P. Bartlett, was made second lieutenant Sept. 6, 1862, first lieutenant Dec. 1, 1862, and captain of Co. A May 20, 1863. He was wounded at Port Hudson and was made partially deaf by an explosion in an arsenal on rebel works. On his return from war he engaged in woolen manufacturing and operated for a time three mills in Stearnsville. He then entered the insurance business, which he conducted for a long time.

He was twice married. He had been senior vice commander of Rockwell Post, G. A. R., and a delegate to many encampments.

SKELETON ON FLAG POLE

Gardner School Princippal Gets a Shock

GARDNER, Jan. 31.—Maudie E. Smith, principal of Gardner high school, received a shock yesterday when he noticed at the school building and saw a skeleton hanging from the flagpole on top of the building.

Mr. Smith immediately ordered four for Edward Hutchinson to remove the offending framework of bones from its conspicuous position. At the chapel exercises in assembly hall a few minutes later he lectured the boys on the subject of loyalty to the school.

An investigation was begun yesterday by the school authorities in an endeavor to learn the identity of the person or persons who hid the skeleton on the flagpole. After it had been removed from a classroom on the third floor, where it has been used for some years in practical demonstrations in the study of physiology.

W. J. KELIHER MAKES CONFESSION

"Big Bill" Tells Amazing Story of Cambridge Bank Swindle and Its Victims

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Ex-Governor John L. Bates, receiver of the National City bank of Cambridge, has received from William J. Keliher (Big Bill) a complete, detailed statement of confession regarding the $350,000 stolen from the bank by George Coleman.

The bulk of this money was taken from Coleman by Keliher and Martin Walsh in fake faro games in New York.

Arrived with this statement Receiver Bates is preparing to institute civil suits against parties who obtained from Keliher and Walsh large portions of the stolen cash.

The revelations made to Receiver Bates are startling.

Some are so amazing that criminal proceedings instead of civil suits may be forced.

Names, dates and places are detailed by Keliher in his sensational statement. Persons prominent in Boston and New York are among those Keliher claims have received stolen money, well knowing it was stolen.

Receiver Bates has relied only partly upon Keliher to back the array of suits he is to institute.

For weeks employees of a detective agency have been employed on the case. Men named by Keliher have been under surveillance and full reports made on them.

More than this legal proceedings, which have so far escaped notice, have already tied up a sum of money which the receiver believes is a part of the bank loss.

The astounding feature of Keliher's statement to the receiver is that when he returned to Boston after Coleman's arrest he had in his possession a good part, if not all, of his portion of the "grat" taken from Coleman in the fake faro games.

Keliher declares that it was his expressed intention to go to the bank's receiver, turn the money over, together with a frank statement as to just how he received it, admitting it was obtained from Coleman in a fake gambling game.

Vast Amounts of Money

Keliher declares he was persuaded against his will into abandoning his resolution. He declares he never expected to have to answer to the law for his part in the robbery of the Cambridge bank. His experience with officers of the law in New York had been such that he was convinced that no man with plenty of money need fear conviction.

Keliher went to trial firm in the belief that not alone had every prosecuting attorney against him been liberally bribed, but that even the jurymen had been given money to acquit him.

Not until he was convicted and sentenced did he wake up to the fact that Massachusetts prosecutors and jurors were not to be bought.

Keliher realizes now how absurd his belief in the bribery idea was, but it took him some time to realize it. Before this he declared he had been "tricked."

All through Keliher's statement runs the amazing story of vast amounts of money taken in the fake faro games. He mentions the names of other men, some high in business circles, who were taken to New York by him and roundly fleeced. He includes in his statement two Boston bankers. One, he claims, was fleeced to the extent of $125,000. The other lost about $50,000. One of the most prominent men in public life in the state gave up $10,000, so Keliher states. A judge of one of the Massachusetts courts, who is now dead, was taken to New York by Keliher and lost $10,000 in an hour on the simplest kind of a card swindle.

All of these incidents have been carefully talked down by the receiver and in the trial of the suits he expects Keliher to take the stand and relate what will probably be the most sensational story ever told in a Massachusetts court room.

BEAUTY SUGGESTIONS

Calm Mind Shows Itself in Youthful Faces—Other Hints for Those Who Use Mirrors

A calm mind invariably shows itself in the youthful face of its owner, and there is no surer preventive of wrinkles.

There should never be any undue pressure on the throat, especially for full blooded persons. Anything that retards the circulation in the large artery that carries the blood to the head should be avoided. Dress the throat loose enough to allow free movement of the head.

A skin specialist says: "Had I to choose between the cook and the apothecary as collaborator I think I would not hesitate for a moment to yoke myself with the former." He goes on to say that "the board kills more than the sword." Many people eat not only the wrong foods, but too much of them.

Regular bathing with hot water before bedtime is said by one of the world's most famous oculists to be the most stimulating treatment that can be given the eyes. He also recommends for tired eyes that have been strained by close application to work to look out of the window at a view that is distant. In other words, look at some distant point for ten minutes, so as to entirely change the focus of the eyes.

CUTAWAY EFFECTS WILL BE POPULAR WITH LADIES FOR SPRING STYLES—SEVERAL OTHER NEW ONES

SMART COAT MODELS IN CUTAWAY EFFECTS

Cutaway effects make a notable feature of the spring styles, and both the short and the long coats are exceedingly smart made in that way. In this illustration are shown most attractive models that can be utilized for all seasons materials—silk, velvet and corduroy, as well as the wool fabrics illustrated.

The suit to the left shows one of the new plaid skirts with a coat of the very latest cut. As illustrated, it is longer at the back than at the front, but it can be made with straight and longer fronts if preferred. In the illustration two toned cheviot is trimmed with broadcloth and velvet, while the edges are bound with braid.

The long coat is a very new and extremely graceful one. It is made in the kimono style, which is always pleasant to wear and which is exceedingly smart this season with long sleeves joined to the body portion of the long shoulder line. In the illustration it is made of velvet and trimmed with fox fur, but a very charming result could be obtained by making a round collar.

The young girl's costume shows the combination of materials that makes such an important feature of the season. The skirt is six gored with an inverted plait at each side seam, and the coat can be made with cutaway or straight front edges and with or without the overcollar in Robespierre style. In the illustration broadcloth is combined with plaid wool material while the collar is of velvet, but the model is an excellent one for one material throughout as well as for combination. Corduroy with collar and cuffs of broadcloth would be exceedingly smart.

There was much good natured rivalry attendant on each competition for at the last social in which the local young men were the guests of the Lawrence organization in the latter's city, the hosts defeated the Lyceum teams and the members of the local club meant to even up matters last night. In spite of their determination, however, fortune favored the guests and when the scores were counted up, they were victorious by a tally of 12 points to 8.

During the entire evening general dancing was enjoyed by a large number in the lower assembly hall of the school. There was also a concert and entertainment of excellent instrumental and vocal selections. Everything which could contribute to a general good time was prepared for the occasion and no element of enjoyment was lacking. An intermission was held about 10 o'clock and during this breathing space, a dainty luncheon was served.

The visitors from Lawrence were high in their praise of the hospitality of the members of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum and departed homeward with many words of appreciation and with the memory of a most enjoyable evening as guests of the Lowell organization.

The Lawrence night of the C. Y. M. L. was in every respect a most successful and pleasing affair and reflects credit on those who prepared and took part in it.

It was near the hour of 1 a. m. when the five special cars collected their passengers for the return trip and the happy Lawrence crowd departed homeward causing the neighborhood of the route to ring with their songs and cheers.

TOURNAMENT OF GAMES WON BY VISITORS LAST NIGHT

Dancing and Entertainment Furnished Enjoyment to Guests at Rooms of Local Organization

A very enjoyable social enlivened the headquarters of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum on Suffolk street last night in the form of a "Lawrence Night," at which the Catholic Young Men's association of the down river city together with their lady friends, came to Lowell to enjoy the hospitality of the local club. Not long ago, the Lawrence organization tendered a reception and entertainment to the members of the C. Y. M. L. of this city and the event of last night was a similar one in honor of the Lawrence young men and in return for the delightful evening spent as guests of the latter.

A delegation of members of the Lyceum were at Merrimack Square at 5:15 o'clock last night to meet the visitors from Lawrence and escort them to the club rooms. The five special cars were filled to their capacity and as they unloaded their burden of humanity, the members of both organizations formed into line and headed by a drum corps, marched to the home of the Lyceum. The parade was viewed by hundreds

At Highland Club

The Highland club held a very delightful dancing party last evening at their Princeton street club house. The dance hall was decorated with a pleasing scenic effect and the club's reputation for good times did not suffer by last night's affair. The hall was in winter costume of snowflakes, evergreen and frosted windows. Huge icicles suspended from the ceiling completed the false effect of a rigorous winter without.

The dance program consisted of sixteen numbers and was enjoyed to the utmost by the large attendance of members and their friends. The many encores as well as the regular program was furnished by Carl Newton's orchestra and was heartily appreciated.

RECALL VOTED DOWN

LIVELY SESSION OF THE SENATE YESTERDAY

Proposal to Recall President Defeated 55 to 10—Many Amendments Pending When Session Adjourned

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—President Taft's recall was voted off the way from the Senate yesterday, 55 to 10. The vote was taken on a resolution introduced by Senator Brundage, of Mississippi, which provided for the recall of the president in case of impeachment or conviction by the Senate.

Recall Voted Down

In a session which lasted until 11:30 p. m., the Senate voted on the recall of President Taft. The vote was 55 to 10, with 10 yeas and 45 nays. The yeas were cast by Senators Brundage, of Mississippi; Clegg, of New Hampshire; and 10 others.

Change With Congress

The defeat of the Brundage amendment for recall of the president, followed by a vote on the Wilson amendment, which provided for the recall of the president in case of impeachment or conviction by the Senate.

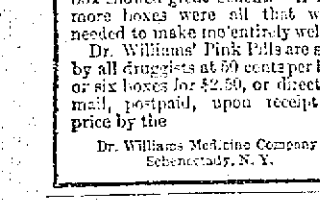

EARNEST ADVICE

However painful, however stubborn your rheumatism may be, even if it is of long standing and many remedies have failed, do not despair, but give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. The rheumatic poison is in the blood and it defies any treatment that does not build up and purify the blood.

Mr. Charles B. Montgomery, of Pecker, Conn., who cured himself of rheumatism with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills tells his experience, as follows: "After my discharge from the army in 1893, I suffered terribly from rheumatic pains and numbness. At times the numbness was very bad and greatly alarmed me. The rheumatic pains were in the joints of my left arm and leg and inoperably followed a numbness which was the first indication of the rheumatism. My left foot was swollen and sore, so much so, that I could not wear my shoe sometimes. At times I was practically helpless for two or three weeks. The pains in my arm and leg were sharp and cutting. I tried all known medicines and saw little if any benefit from their treatment. I finally ordered a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the second box showed great benefit. A few more boxes were all that were needed to make me entirely well."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists at 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50, or direct by mail, postpaid, upon receipt of price by the recall amendment mustered 10 yeas only in its favor, the following senators voting for it: Brundage, Clegg, Dixon, Gronna and Peckham, progressives and republicans. Ashurst, Martin, Owen, Perkins and Thomas, democrats. The candidates of Roosevelt, Wilson, Bryan and Taft figured in the fight throughout the day. Senator Borah said President Taft had not used the power of his office for his own reelection in 1912 to any greater extent than Roosevelt had used it in 1908 for the election of Mr. Taft.

Roosevelt Wanted Taft

"President Roosevelt wanted Mr. Taft nominated because he believed Taft would carry out the principles to which the Roosevelt administration was devoted," said Senator Brundage.

"A president who would not use every effort to perpetuate his policies would not be worth his salt," Senator Hittcher said. "It was not generally believed that Roosevelt favored President Taft's nomination in 1908 so that he himself might be a candidate in 1912."

"I know the senator himself does not entertain such a thought," retorted Senator Borah, "so I feel free to say that such an idea is the product of a diseased mind."

Senator Dixon's charge that a single six-year term was desired chiefly by ambitious aspirants for the presidency, and the declaration of Senators Brundage and Peckham that this proposed limitation would be a destructive of American principles of government, made against the resolution.

Senator Brundage declared the people should be free to choose their own president and to re-elect a president when they believed it wise. He declared the constitution should include a recall provision, so that when Congress is overthrown because an administration is not satisfactory the people could also recall the president and establish a new administration.

HUSBAND IS STILL ALIVE

Wife Thought Him Dead and Wed Again

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Because he found that his wife's husband was still alive, Albert J. Gage, of Standish, has filed a suit for annulment of marriage against Winifred E. Gage, of 25 Havre street, East Boston. Mrs. Gage will not contest the suit.

Mrs. Gage, who was formerly Winifred E. Gage, was married Nov. 7, 1898, to George E. Ames. In 1907 her husband deserted her and for some time she heard nothing of him. Then her father told her that her husband had come to sea and lost his life in a fall from a mast. She investigated and found that one George E. Ames had been killed as reported.

On June 2, 1907, she was married to her present husband, Albert J. Gage, of Standish. She told him before the marriage of her former husband and her belief that her husband had died. East August, however, a friend told her that her husband was living in the little seacoast town of Bucksport, Me.

Investigation showed that the man who was killed was not her husband, but another bearing the same name. She then communicated with Selectman E. E. Smith of Bucksport, Me., and received the following letter in reply to her inquiry:

"Dear Madam: George E. Ames is living here, and a letter addressed to him will reach him."

"E. E. Smith, Selectman."

Aug. 8 she told Gage that her first husband was living, and they agreed that he would file a suit asking for an annulment. Aug. 4 they separated. They have no children. Since then Mrs. Gage has seen her first husband at Bucksport and identified him beyond doubt.

It is believed that Mrs. Gage will sue for divorce from her first husband after the annulment from her second has been granted.

GOLD MEDAL FOR TAFT

To be Presented President February 22

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—President Taft, in recognition of his notable efforts in behalf of universal peace, will be presented with a gold medal at a peace testimonial reception and dinner to be held in his honor here on Feb. 22 by the American Peace and Arbitration League.

Thirty-three peace and civic organizations throughout the country will join in honoring the president upon what may be his last public appearance before his retirement on March 1. Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain, will present the medal on behalf of the National Institute of Social Science.

It was at a dinner given in his honor by the American Peace and Arbitration League on March 22, 1910, that the president made his first speech advocating arbitration of all justifiable questions of dispute among nations. At the dinner on Washington's birthday, the president is expected to review the international peace problems of the past and present and also to forecast a distinct policy for the future, according to announcement made today by the committee in charge.

McNicholas Owns Up—Money Missing

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—James H. Jaynes' Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil
Made Fresh Every Other Day
A most palatable preparation of pure cod liver oil, combined with hypophosphites of lime and soda. In this emulsion all the valuable properties are retained, and yet it is so pleasant in taste that invalids and children can take it in cases where it would be impossible to administer the clear oil. In full 16-ounce bottles 50c

Jaynes' Black Mixture
Sometimes Called Black Bottle
This preparation is made from the original formula of Dr. Hyndman, and has been prescribed by physicians for many years. The taste of the cod liver oil is disguised with licorice, which makes the preparation not only an extremely valuable one, but palatable as well. The cures of coughs and deep-seated lung and bronchial affections that have been effected by this old-time remedy seem almost miraculous, and we unhesitatingly recommend its trial by those who are thus affected. Put up in full 16-ounce bottles 60c

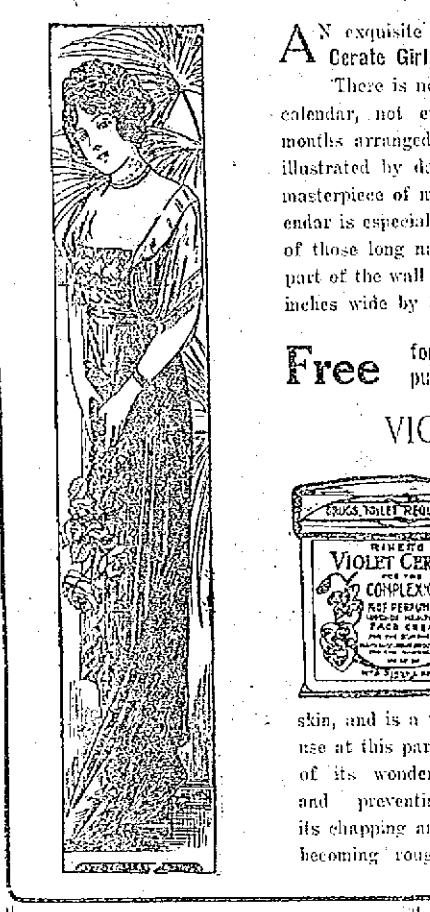

Jaynes' Eucol Spray
Consists of a very fine oil, medicated with pleasant antiseptics and other ingredients possessing healing properties. This oil is sprayed up into the nostrils by the aid of an atomizer, which is supplied with the treatment. We recommend it for Catarrh of the Nose and Throat, Head Colds, Inflamed Nostrils and Irritated Throat. A sufficient quantity of Eucol Spray for one month's treatment, complete with atomizer 83c

Sanatogen
When the nerve force is below par, no matter what the cause of the abnormal condition, Sanatogen will feed the organism and tone up the nervous system. In cases of brain-fag, overwork, business or social cares, lack of fresh air and exercise, profound mental shock, acute illness—Sanatogen is a matchless invigorating force for young, the old, and for the ill of mind, body, and soul. McNicholas Owns Up—Money Missing
BOSTON, Jan. 31.—James H. McNicholas, the western mining promoter who was arrested in the lobby of Young's hotel on Tuesday as he was preparing to put through a "big deal" in mining securities, made a statement to the postal authorities yesterday confessing his part in the defalcation of $1,000,000 in bonds for which he is under indictment in Cleveland, O., charged with fraudulent use of the mails.

"FORGIVE ME"—EUGENE

Suicide Left Note Addressed to Father

Delano Committed Suicide
NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The family of Eugene Delano, Jr., found dead in the Royal Alexandra hotel, at Winnipeg, Man., confirmed today that he had died by his own hand. It was suicide, said a male member of the household this morning. "Our advice, however, are meagre."

According to the despatches from Winnipeg, a chambermaid discovered the young man's body after he had been dead several hours. His wrists and throat were slashed and by his side was a razor.

Young Delano graduated from Yale in 1908 and was well known in club and athletic circles. His father is a member of the banking firm of Brown Bros. & Co.

POOR GIVEN FIVE YEARS

Conviction of Man Who Victimized Gate Tender

A verdict was given in the case of Frank W. Poor, formerly of Billerica, who cheated Thomas B. Nickerson, a veteran crossing tender in Andover, out of $1550 by false pretences. Poor was sent to jail for not less than four or not more than five years. The jury was out all day and came to an agreement after being told by the court that it was their duty to agree if possible. The case was taken up in the Salem criminal court and was tried on three different days. Poor conducted his own case.

CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS

Usual Monthly Social at the Worthen
Street M. E. Church followed by Enjoyable Entertainment

The Worthen Street M. E. church was the scene, last evening, of the usual monthly social, the supper being served under the direction of Mrs. J. R. Smith, assisted by a committee of ladies from the Ladies' Aid society. The supper was followed by an entertainment that was thoroughly enjoyed.

Highland Methodist

The W. F. M. S. of the Highland M. E. church held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Washburn, 266 Pine street. Mrs. McLean had charge of the program, which covered the second chapter of the book being studied, "Christ's New Day." Those reading papers were Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Lester, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Timmins, Miss Washburn and Miss Clark. Ice cream and cake were served by the hostess.

At St. Anne's Church

The annual party of the Sunday school of St. Anne's church, held in the parish rooms, was well attended. The juniors enjoyed themselves in the afternoon and in the evening the seniors had a good time. Those taking part in the entertainment were: Readings by Rev. E. E. Atkinson; piano and violin duet by the Misses Knight; and a sleight-of-hand performance by Edwin Knight, who bewildered the young folks with his clever tricks. Miss Mevis also gave recitations. Refreshments were served by the Young Men's club. Those responsible for the success of the affair were the following committee: Chairman, Miss Dossie P. Smith; Misses Hogg, Duncan and Kelly. The pastor, Rev. Appleton Grantham, presided.

Benefits By Agricultural Fairs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—In an effort to revive interest in old time agricultural fairs the agricultural department today issued a bulletin treating on the benefits to be derived from such gatherings. The report is of historic interest for it tells the beginning of such "fairs" when the country was young and when they were not only an advantage to agriculture but were the excuse for social gatherings as well. The report declares that the first agricultural fair was held by the Columbian agricultural society in Georgetown, D. C., in 1850. According to the newspapers of that day "it was attended by a numerous assemblage of members of the society, among whom were noticed the president and his lady, the secretary of state, the secretary of the treasury, the secretary of war, the comptroller, the registrar, etc., and many other ladies and gentlemen of respectability."

Leaves Kidneys in Weakened Condition.

Doctors in all parts of the country have been kept busy with the epidemic of grip which has visited so many homes. The symptoms of grip this year are very distressing and the system is run down condition, particularly the kidneys which seem to suffer most, as every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to more serious sickness, such as dreaded Bright's Disease. Local druggists report a large sale on Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which so many people say soon heals and strengthens the kidneys after an attack of grip. Swamp-Root is a great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, and, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed by those who try it. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., offer to send a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, free by mail, to every sufferer who requests it. A trial will convince any one who may be afflicted with regular or irregular 50 cents and $1.00 size bottles. Be sure to mention this paper.

Standish Worsteds

The finest goods woven in New England. Tailors doing $30.00 to $40.00 suit business always feel that they are giving customers exceptional values when they give them goods from the Standish mills at regular prices; usually an additional charge of $5.00 is made for this class of goods.

I have purchased from one of the largest woolen houses in this country, DOWNING, CLARK & CO., 568-578 Broadway, New York, nearly 3000 yards of their finest worsteds, no yard of which was made to sell under $2.75 a yard, and from that up to $4.25 a yard wholesale. These goods are all worsteds and run from 14 to 17 ozs. in weight; colorings mostly browns, grays, blues and blacks, some clear and some rough finished, and I consider them the highest quality goods woven from long Australian yarns. No tailor carries better at any price and no tailor would have the variety.

I have put a large quantity of these goods in my windows for display, some in suit patterns, some in whole bolts, where you can see them without entering my store, the price marked plainly on each garment. I have placed two prices on these goods, $12.50 on the lower grade, $15.00 on the better grade. You are your own salesman. You have the privilege of selecting as many suits or overcoats as it is your pleasure to buy. Sold to me with the positive assurance of the commission man that he loses $1.10 to $1.90 on each yard; that they are this season's goods and he guarantees them to be pure worsteds, all wool.

IT NEVER FAILED—Show the people values that they know, that common sense tells them are bargains and there is always genuine, active demand from enough persons to crowd a store. Now I am not blowing about profits, I am not saying that profitable business can be obtained, I am not saying that I made profits on the immense business you saw in my store the past eight days, but I do say I did big business in the dead, duldest part of the tailor's year by the simple showing of goods that people know to be wonderfully unusual in price and quality.

AND I'LL DO BIG BUSINESS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY. You can't stop me—you can't stop the people from buying when they can see, feel and handle the woollens that I shall throw at them for prices that defy the known laws of production.

EASTER THIS YEAR comes in March, only a few weeks ahead. By forcing business now regardless of prices, profits or values, we get a lot of persons to leave orders for clothing before the rush starts. These men get first pick of the new styles, they get many an extra stitch that the help might possibly skip when they are swamped with work, and it keeps the help steamed up for the Easter rush.

Crusade Against Pickpockets in Boston

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—A vigorous crusade against pickpockets has been begun by District Attorney Pelletier, and he intends to urge the authorities to use every effort to drive this class of thieves out of the city.

Owing to the recent activity of the pickpockets on the elevated trains, street cars and at railroad stations, District Attorney Pelletier yesterday issued a statement in which he said it was his intention to have every pickpocket brought before him from the lower court sent to the state prison at Charlestown if possible.

During the last few weeks the district attorney and his assistants have recommended to the judges of the superior court that substantial sentences be imposed on these men. In commenting on this class of thieves yesterday, District Attorney Pelletier said:

"I wish to say regarding the case of pickpockets that it has been the policy of this office for a long time back, and will be continued in the future, to deal with such cases in the most vigorous way."

"Probation is out of the question in such cases and a fine accomplishes nothing. The pickpocket represents a danger to the community, and he is locked up, not to punish him necessarily, but to protect the community."

"It is perhaps a harsh judgment to pronounce and yet it seems to be true that a pickpocket never reforms; once a pickpocket, a pickpocket for life. I am inclined to the belief that the statement is true from my experience."

TWO LEFT ON BOARD

BALTIMORE, Jan. 31.—The steamer Tiverton arrived here yesterday, bringing Capt. Norman McLeod and eight men of the four-masted schooner S. P. Blackburn, rescued from the clutches of a heavy storm off Cape Hatteras last Tuesday. Two others of the Blackburn's crew are believed to have gone down with the vessel. The survivors were obliged to jump overboard from the schooner, as the steamer's lifeboat could not get alongside. A. F. Wendall, engineer, and the negro steward of the Blackburn refused to jump, saying they could not swim. The schooner, which was coal laden, from Baltimore for Galveston, was left in a sinking condition.

Sent Revenue Cutter to Rescue Men

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—In hope of saving the lives of the two men left aboard the schooner S. P. Blackburn, Capt. Berthoff, commanding of the revenue cutter Onondaga, at Norfolk, ordered the cutter Onondaga, at Norfolk, to steam at full speed to the place where the Blackburn was last seen. The vessel then was 507 miles east-southeast of Cape Henry, Va.

To Extend Grand Trunk to Providence

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—President E. J. Chamberlin of the Grand Trunk railroad yesterday said that only $6,000,000 stood in the way of the extension of the Southern New England railroad into Providence.

To raise this amount of money, he intimated, was the present problem. He declared that the construction of the southern end of the road had not been abandoned. He said it was tied up for financial reasons.

This and the resignation of President E. H. Fitzhugh of the Southern New England and the election of President Chamberlin to his place, were the features disclosed at a series of conferences held at the Hotel Touraine yesterday.

The conferences were between the Grand Trunk officials and the directors of the various corporations of the new famous Southern New England line.

These corporations are those of New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Rhode Island and Connecticut, the latter two being a joint bond.

Rev. Dr. Pepper Dead

WATERVILLE, Me., Jan. 31.—Rev. Dr. George D. B. Pepper, ex-president of Colby college and known as "Lincoln's double," died here yesterday, aged 59. Rev. Dr. Pepper bore a striking resemblance to the emancipator and in his early days was often mistaken for Lincoln. He retained the characteristics up to the last.

CLEANS THE HAIR AND MAKES IT BEAUTIFUL—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

IN A FEW MOMENTS YOUR HAIR LOOKS SOFT, FLUFFY, LUSTROUS AND ABUNDANT—NO FALLING HAIR OR DANDRUFF

Simply try a "Danderine Hair Cleaner" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few moments you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair beauty.

Beside beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knobel's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

Foley Declares That They Were Stolen

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—With the court case coming today, and a $25,000 bequest to the society hanging in the balance, William J. Foley, treasurer of the Children's Health Fund, made his appearance at the office of the attorney general yesterday afternoon, and admitted that the Children's Health Fund was defunct.

When questioned as to where the records of the society might be, he told Assistant Attorney General Walter A. Powers that they had been stolen from the headquarters of the organization at 31 Exchange street.

Foley was summoned to appear at the court proceedings today and was advised by Mr. Powers to testify as he had spoken to him in his office.

Mr. Foley said that the books of the society had been stolen and he further insisted that he had not seen George W. Averell, his working partner, since the latter's trouble with the federal authorities in the south.

Favored for King by the Council

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—That the governor's council is in favor of an absolute pardon for Cardenio F. King, and that in all probability Gov. Foss, although in favor of a conditional pardon, will accept the finding of his council, was the general assumption at the state house yesterday.

To Inform Foss

Councillor Alexander McGregor, who was out of town yesterday, and Lieut. Gov. David L. Walsh, who will return from New York today, the two members who were on Wednesday authorized to inform the governor of the council's attitude, are expected to tell Gov. Foss that the council favors the unconditional pardon.

Gov. Foss is in favor of King's returning to serve out his sentence after being restored to health, but by the finding of the council if for absolute pardon, King will not finish the sentence nor be arraigned again.

King Hears of Plea

King yesterday told in detail of the plea made for his pardon before the council Wednesday by his wife and his brother, James King, who visited him at Bridgewater State hospital.

Just after the hearing he was informed over the telephone of the proceedings. His brother, who came from Danville, Va. to be present at the hearing and also to visit King, encouraged by the sentiment displayed Wednesday, made the trip from Winthrop to cheer the former financier with a full report.

LEAVE IT TO VOTERS

Ex-Gov. Bass Suggests Way to Name New Hampshire Senator and Break the Hopeless Deadlock

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 31.—After the legislature had balloted for the 13th time yesterday for United States senator and failed to elect, Ex-Gov. Robert R. Bass, progressive candidate for senator, issued a statement in which he urged a popular vote at the March 10th meeting, the legislature to elect a senator by the largest number of votes at the proposed primary.

Ex-Gov. Bass takes the ground that there is a hopeless deadlock on the senatorship and that the popular primary suggested by him is the only solution of the problem confronting the legislature.

He also urged the progressives to stand together to the end for their candidate, Robert Perkins Bass.

Diamond Mystery is Puzzling Police

"It was pure carelessness in me to leave it there exposed in plain view," he said last night "but it hardly entered my head that it would be stolen, because my hotel suite is like a home to me. I have been there so long."

Mr. Rice, who with his mother occupies a large suite circling from the Boston to the Tremont street side, says he had seen the ring at his washstand during the evening.

"I could not have lost it out of doors, as some have suggested, because it stuck so tight to my finger that I had to use soap to get it off. I laid it down, washed my hands and, of course, went out without the ring."

"Out on the street I missed the ring and I ought to have gone back after it, then but I did not and there is perhaps where the carelessness comes in."

Mr. Rice describes the ring as being a big solitaire for which he paid $1600 some years ago and which is now worth more because of the appreciation in the value of diamonds.

Stone of Six Carats

"The ring was unmistakable. It was of six carats, pure white, without a flaw, in a Tiffany setting. Naturally, I hope to hear something of it. If a professional thief entered my room, he might leave the city with it. If an amateur, he may hide it for a time. I have been thinking of advertising a reward for its return, for I would gladly give $500 to get it back and it is always just possible that somebody will get track of it who is honest and can help toward a restoration."

The hotel management greatly regrets Mr. Rice's loss and every possible assistance is being given the local police by the house officials. Considering that only one article and that a small though valuable one, was lost, they were at first in hope that the ring had been only mislaid and would come to them, but Mr. Rice is confident on the point.

"I distinctly remember taking off the ring. It was big and brilliant and would attract the eye of anyone going into the suite. No other valuables were in sight to tempt a thief. If it should turn out that some otherwise honest person was overcome by the temptation and should voluntarily make restitution, the offense would be very leniently looked upon. But I fear it was the work of a professional and that the ring is lost. Its size and value, however, will make it conspicuous and more difficult to dispose of and there is some measure of hope in that."

Doesn't All Take Place on the Road

Lowell is not the only city on the map that is suffering from automobilism. Worcester is having some little trouble in the matter of automobile purchases, and they do tell that the trouble is very much like our own. It seems that just before the mayor of 1912 went out of office, he signed contracts for the purchase by the city of Worcester of five automobiles from the Knox Automobile company. The machines were delivered but when a new mayor came into office he declared the contracts illegal on the ground that they had not been authorized and carried out by the head of the fire department, as he contends, is required by the charter of the city of Worcester.

It is also stated that the new mayor favors the purchase of machines other than those bought by the preceding administration.

In addition, Lebron gave four years more of his life to Uncle Sam, having served as a personal scout for Gen. U. S. Grant in the Civil war.

Pimpily? Well, Don't Be!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Nothing ever cleansed the blood, the bowels and the liver like Olive Tablets. Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for calomel—they do all the bowels; there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Olive Tablets do all that calomel does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless "no go" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Try them. Take one nightly for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel. 10c and 25c per box.

But if stomach is deranged—the balance of health is destroyed and the blood does not carry the proper elements to the different organs, and there is blood trouble—nervous trouble—heart trouble. FORD'S THEATRE, WHICH SAW THE SHOOTING OF
ABRAHAM LINCOLN, GREAT EMANCIPATOR, IS TO GO

With the government's condemnation of Ford's theatre, in Washington, begins the last chapter in the history of one of America's best known buildings. It is known to all visitors to Washington and to all students of American history and of the life of Abraham Lincoln as the building in which the martyred American president was shot by John Wilkes Booth. The tragedy occurred on the night of April 14, 1865. Throughout the 47 years that have passed since that night the walls of Ford's theatre it had been accepted as a repository for war relics. But being old and rotten it collapsed. There was a chorus of condemnation and there were proposals to demolish the men held responsible, but the structure was of sufficient value to be preserved. The government has now decided to demolish the building. Now at last it is to go.

FORD'S THEATRE

HOUSE IN WHICH LINCOLN DIED

Washingtonians are saying the building should have been condemned and razed long ago. Failure to do so led to the deaths of 22 men and the injury of many others on June 9, 1893, when the upper floor of the old structure collapsed, carrying down with it and mingling men and timbers and brickwork in an awful heap. The victims were government clerks, for since modern office buildings. On it there may or may not be placed a tablet telling of the shot which, far more than the report at Concord bridge, roused about by Emerson, was "heard round the world." Some Washingtonians and government officials favor the reconstruction of the building in its old form. It has been altered slightly since the time of the Lincoln shooting or the erection on its site of a Lincoln museum to house the Lincoln relics owned by the government and displayed in the National museum, the treasury building and elsewhere, and also the Lincoln relics owned and exhibited by O. H. Oldroyd in the Peterson house, opposite the theatre.

The Peterson house is the one in which Lincoln died. It stands diagonally opposite the theatre and at the time of the shooting was occupied as a boarding house by a man named Peterson. Lincoln was carried there soon after he was shot and was laid on a bed in a rear room, on the first story. The room had been rented by a young soldier. He was turned out to make way for the wounded president. There Lincoln died the next morning. Any one who wishes to do so may stand on the very spot which saw the last moments of Lincoln. The bed is no longer there. It is owned by a Chicago collector of historical relics.

The house in which Lincoln died is owned by the government, but the thousands of Lincoln relics kept there are the property of Mr. Oldroyd, who has made his life work the collection of articles owned by or relating to Lincoln. He began his collection in the first Lincoln campaign, in 1860, and continued it during the war, in which he served as a federal soldier. It is a strange fact that the man who has been possessed by such absorbing interest in the life of Lincoln, making the collection of Lincoln relics his life work, never saw the president.

The Oldroyd collection first was housed in the Lincoln home in Springfield, Ill., which Mr. Oldroyd rented from Robert T. Lincoln, son of the president. When the state of Illinois purchased the house, Mr. Oldroyd was compelled to move his collection. He heard about that time that the Peterson house, wherein Lincoln had died, was available for his purpose, and he accordingly moved his relics to Washington.

He had been told and believed that thousands of visitors would flock to see the Lincoln family bible, wherein Lincoln had written his name in boyhood, the chairs and other furniture from the Lincoln home and office in Springfield, the rail split by Lincoln and John Banks in 1830 and the other interesting mementos of the dead president. But the thousands did not come, and for a time Mr. Oldroyd was in hard straits. Now, however, with the spread of knowledge regarding his collection, times are easier for the old man who lives continually in an atmosphere of devotion to the memory of Lincoln.

The government permits Mr. Oldroyd to occupy the Peterson house free of rent and to charge an admission fee. But he says that he hopes congress will buy his Lincoln collection and preserve it suitably, making him its guardian. It would be recompense and honor well earned by 50 years' devotion to the memory of Lincoln.

Musterole Better Than
Mustard Plaster!

MUSTEROLE is oil of mustard combined with other simples used in home medicine.

It is a clean, white ointment that you rub on—and the pain is gone!

No plaster—no mess—no blister!

It does all the work of the good old-fashioned mustard plaster, but does it better.

Millions of jars of MUSTEROLE are sold annually.

Doctors and nurses recommend it to patients; it is constantly used in many of the large hospitals.

MUSTEROLE is what Twentieth Century science has made of the remedy that your mother and grandmother depended on. It gives instant relief from Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lamppost, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chills, Inflamed Feet, Colds of the Chest (it prevents Pneumonia).

At your drug-gist's—in 25c and 50c jars and a special large hospital size for $2.50. Accept no substitute. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c to the MUSTEROLE Company, Cleveland, Ohio, and we will mail you a jar, postage prepaid.

For two years I suffered with rheumatism. The doctors treated me for different kinds of sickness, but did me no good. I read of Musterole, and began to use it at once. In a short time I regained the use of my limb.

MISS LA FOLLETTE BECOMES PICKET FOR GARMENT WORKERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Miss Fola La Follette, daughter of the Wisconsin senator, has become a picket for the striking garment workers. She was on duty when a score of girls were arrested after bricks were hurled at windows and the police. She went to night court to testify for several of the prisoners. The throwing of the bricks followed a speech by Miss La Follette. She is scheduled to speak regularly at meetings of the strikers.

SAYS WIFE SPAT ON HIM

Harry Weinstein in Divorce Court Also Declares She Objected to His Bald Head

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—"Why, in Leverett street, two or three weeks back, she spat in my face," said Harry Weinstein in testifying in his own behalf in the trial brought by his wife, Mollie, in the divorce court yesterday afternoon.

The libelous confession: "She left me because, I suppose, she was ashamed to face me any longer after I saw what she was doing." The libelous did not specify to what he referred.

He said that his wife had thrown water from a window on him and that one morning his wife's father had come downstairs, and he and the libelous had "it out" on the sidewalk. "I had trouble with the whole family."

She complained of my bald head. She said, "I once liked you when you had some hair on your head, but now you have no hair today on it." She always told me that she looked like a child of 15, and that there was "a duck" at the Massachusetts General hospital and at a nearby theatre that would admire her beauty any time. It was talk about the house."

During the forenoon session Mrs. Weinstein had testified to various alleged acts of cruel and abusive treatment on the part of her husband, ranging over a period of three or four years. Among her witnesses were patrolmen of Division 3 at the West End, Mrs. Pearl Victor, who lived next door to the Weinstein family, Mrs. Mittenhall of 52 Chambers street and Hyman Davis, father of Mrs. Weinstein. The case was continued.

To Seize Coal

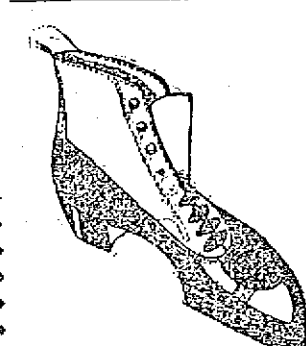

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The Greek government has notified the United States that coal shipped by way of the Hellenic Black Sea ports will be subject to seizure unless it is certified for local consumption at neutral ports.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Life may be given in many ways
And loyalty to truth be sealed
As bravely in the closet as the field,
So hallowed is fate.

But then to stand beside her,
When craven curbs deride her,
To front a lie in arms and not to yield.

This shows, methinks, God's plan
And measure of a stalwart man.
Limb like the old heroic breeds,
Who stand self-poised on manhood's solid earth.

Not forced to frame excuses for his birth.
Fed from within with all the strength
He needs.

Such was he, our martyr-chief,
Whom late the nation he had led,
With ashes on her head,
Wept with the passion of an angry grief.

Forgive me if from present things I turn
To speak what in my heart will beat
And burn.

And hang my wreath on this world
Honored urn.
Nature, they say, doth dote
And cannot make a truce
Save on some worn-out plan,
Repeating us by rote.

For him her old world molds aside she throws
And, choosing sweet clay from the breast
Of the unexhausted west,
With stuff she unmeted shaped a hero
New and true.

Wise, steadfast in the strength of God.
—James Russell Lowell.

TWO SLIGHT FIRES

Called the Local Fire Department Out Last Night, But Little Damage was Done

An alarm from box 46 shortly before 6 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to 34 First street, where there was a slight blaze caused by an overheated furnace. There was very little damage.

At 7:10 the department was called for a chimney fire at 200 Chelmsford street. There was no damage.

NORMAL SCHOOL GIRLS

BEFORE THE COMMITTEE ON RAILROADS.

To Appeal For More Favorable Rates
For Students Attending the Normal

About 65 young ladies of the State Normal school in this city visited the state house yesterday in company with Principal Cyrus A. Durgin and attended the hearing given by the committee on railroads on the several bills to regulate further the use of quarterly tickets on railroads, as well as to place all students on an equal basis with respect to reduced rates.

Principal Durgin called attention to the injustice done Normal school pupils in the present rate schedule and he asked the committee to consider it. Mr. Durgin submitted a comparison of the rates charged pupils attending the Lowell Textile school and those attending the Normal school. The following rates were shown:

Lowell Textile School	Normal School
Modford.....$4.25	$5.45
Winchester.....4.35	7.05
Lawrence.....3.50	7.00
Andover.....3.10	5.35
Boston.....4.80	10.25
Winter Hill.....4.50	8.45
Haverhill.....4.35	8.70

Rep. Victor F. Jewett of this city is a member of the committee and says he will do everything in his power to have the rates equalized. Previous to the meeting of the committee, Rep. Jewett accompanied the members of the party through the building, visiting the chambers of the senate and house.

The party also visited the state library where they saw the log of the Mayflower, Memorial hall and the Hall of Flags, as well as the famous paintings commemorative of events in the early history of the state and nation. The young ladies enjoyed their visit very much.

ON CHARGE OF FORGERY

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—George J. Atkinson, 21, who had lived at 11 Brighton street, Charlestown, was taken off an engine in Bangor, Me., yesterday morning and brought back to police headquarters last evening by Inspector George Farrell.

The prisoner is charged with having forged the name of Earl Lane of 11 Brighton street, Charlestown, to a check on the Whitman Savings Bank amounting to $242, which he is alleged to have uttered to the buying teller of the Bangor Trust company. Atkinson, who is a native of Bangor, had hired a room on River street. When the strike occurred on the Bangor & Aroostook railroad, he got a position as engineer. Through a letter sent to a friend Atkinson was located. Inspector Farrell got a lower court warrant and caught on the trail of the alleged forger.

After risking his life by crossing a network of tracks, the Boston inspector mounted a moving engine and placed Atkinson under arrest. At first the Boston man thought that it had something to do with the strike, but when Inspector Farrell made his mission known Atkinson is said to have wilted.

The pair reached police headquarters about 7:30 last evening. The prisoner was booked and then locked up at the city prison for the night.

The arrested man and Lane, the complainant, had roomed together in Charlestown. Atkinson is charged with taking his roommate's bank book, which had a balance of $800 at that time, when the accused had gotten through with it, the police say. It had a balance of but $7.88.

Although there is but one specific charge against Atkinson at present, others will be preferred against him, the police say.

CATARRH

Breathe HYOMEI—Heal the Soreness—Kill Catarrh
Germs, or Money Back

No Cocaine, Opium or Harmful Drug In HYOMEI

Australian Eucalyptus is a powerful germ destroying antiseptic. It is also a soothing and healing agent.

Booth's HYOMEI is made of Australian Eucalyptus and some of the best antiseptics.

Breathed through the inhaler that comes with the $1.00 outfit that all druggists have, the air of HYOMEI kills catarrh germs and heals the inflamed and raw catarrhal spots.

It penetrates as no fluid can into the innermost recesses of the branching, trust all destructive germs whether in the folds, crevices or nooks of the membrane are reached and destroyed.

For catarrh, coughs, croup, colds, sore throat and all nose and throat misery HYOMEI is guaranteed. If you own an inhaler get a bottle of HYOMEI for only 50 cents.

Besides using the inhaler throughout the day and for quick results, thousands use the HYOMEI vapor treatment at night, just before going to bed. Here it is:

Thoroughly heat a teacup, then fill it half full of boiling water. Pour into the water one-half teaspoonful of HYOMEI. (Do not stir.) Hold the cup close to face and breathe deep into the lungs the healing, germ destroying vapor that arises.

Carter & Sherburne guarantee it.

Lowell, Mass.

What Our Modern Drug Store Service Means

To the People of Lowell

It means that you can buy a SUPERIOR GRADE of Drugs, Medicines, Rubber Goods, etc., than heretofore has been possible—and at Lower Prices. This is a broad statement to make but the facts prove it.

We operate an immense laboratory just for the purpose of testing, analyzing and bottling the goods we offer you. The Liggett laboratory is equipped with every modern device for guaranteeing absolute purity, maintaining the highest technical standard and constantly insuring your safety.

The purchasing power of our 57 stores, conducted as one, is remarkable. It is the reason why Liggett's Hall & Lyon Stores can and do sell standard articles at the ordinary cost price of most druggists—and still make a profit. We must make a profit or we could not continue in business—but we do not want an exorbitant profit. We realize that by selling goods at a small profit our stores will attract many times the number of customers than would be the case otherwise. It will pay you to remember this fact when shopping.

BACHELORS UP IN ARMS DEMAND THAT DECATUR STREET BE WIDENED OR THAT AIKEN STREET BE EXTENDED

Over Declaration That They Should be Barred

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Bachelors of both the senate and house today are lying in wait for Dillingham of Vermont. While the senator has not yet been found it is not believed he is in hiding despite the vigilantes. The trouble arose because of the Vermont senator's declaration that a local church last night that bachelors should not be admitted to the country. Mr. Dillingham incidentally is chairman of the immigration committee of the senate. In view of the fact that many of these men are married, he told his lieutenants, referring to the tide of immigration flowing to these shores, and that they leave their wives and chil-

VIEW OF DECATUR STREET SHOWING ITS NARROWNESS

The above photograph of Decatur street will give the public an idea of the narrowness of this street, which is the center of considerable traffic and also the necessity of quick action on the part of the municipal council to either widen the street, or to make a one-way street of it, or again to extend Aiken street from Merrimack street to Salem street, and thus avoid the repetition of numerous accidents which have occurred in this narrow passage-way recently.

Some time last year a petition signed by Amador Archambault and others, asking that Decatur street be widened, was presented to the council and a hearing was given. Several people spoke in favor of the project, among them being Mr. Archambault and Mr. Ephrem Pelletier, both owners of real estate in said street. It seemed that Mr. Archambault wanted the city to widen the street by purchasing Mr. Pelletier's property on the opposite side of the street, while Mr. Pelletier advocated the widening on Mr. Archambault's side.

Commissioner Barrett suggested relief of the situation by extending Aiken street from Merrimack street to Salem street, but nothing was done and the conditions are unchanged.

Decatur street is 11½ feet wide, which means about one-fourth of the width of an ordinary street. It extends from Merrimack street opposite St. John Baptist church to Salem street between Common street and Hancock avenue, and is greatly used both ways. When two wagons meet, one is forced to travel over the sidewalk much to the detriment of the walk and fences, or a collision occurs. This narrow street is a menace to pedestrians, for one never knows when a horse will be driven on the sidewalk. Besides sidewalks and fences are damaged.

Underwriter Archambault stated to the writer that he is tired of having his sidewalk and fences repaired. He said the sidewalk opposite his home is still in a bad condition, and a short time ago a woman fell in front of his property and threatened to bring suit against him if he did not repair the break on the walk. He said he will not do it until something is done to relieve the situation.

As it was exclusively published in The Sun a few days ago, Jan. 29, Jan. 29, a horse ran away in Decatur street after a collision with a wagon owned by the A. L. Brooks Co., and considerable damage was done.

A couple of days later another of Brooks' wagons collided with one owned by the Mussey Laundry and a runaway was narrowly averted. Several other accidents have occurred in this narrow street quite recently, and it seems that people are bound to drive their horses through just the same. Of course it is a short cut and everyone is taking advantage of it notwithstanding the danger.

The people in that vicinity demand relief from this state of affairs and this relief can come only from widening Decatur street, or making it a one-way street and extending Aiken street.

children in the old country it would be a good thing for this nation to rule that only married men accompanied by their families shall enter the gates. The bachelors in congress are nonplussed. In the congressional directory Senator Dillingham is not recorded as ever having married nor is his name in the official register preceded by the typographical marks that designate that he is accompanied by a wife, daughters or "other ladies."

Unless the senator is able to prove an alibi the free men in the capital intend to take him severely to task.

SOCIALIST UNSEATED

Kansas Senate Ousts Its Only Member of This Party Because of Votes by Missourians

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 31.—The Kansas state senate yesterday unseated its only socialist member, Fred Stanton of Crawford county, by a vote of 23 to 10 in favor of E. E. Porter, republican. Evidence tended to show that men crossed the line from Missouri to vote for Stanton, and that many aliens voted.

Conservation of Cattle

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 31.—Letters urging the conservation of the cattle of the country so that the supply of beef will meet the demands of an increasing number of consumers were sent from here today by R. H. Woodbury, secretary of the National Livestock exchange, to the governors of all states in which legislatures are in session.

Legislation is asked forbidding the slaughter or sale of calves or cows under three years of age except those unfit for breeding purposes.

Mr. Woodbury also urged leading livestock men of the country to support the proposed legislation.

Such Values You Have Never Seen Before!

The Suits and Overcoats being shown and sold at the P. & Q. Shop are greater values than any man in the city has ever seen in his life. We say this without fear of contradiction by anybody.

Our way of doing business is to offer you not only first-class values always at the same prices—$10 and $15, but to place within your easy reach such extra values that you cannot afford not to take them.

This week we continue the sale of a special lot of Suits and Overcoats made up from the special purchase of all-wool fabrics to which we referred last week. Remember, these are extra values, not "mark downs." While this is a special sale, it is not a cut-price sale. It is special because the values are special, although the prices remain the same—

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—F. C. Desendorf, chief of the field division of the federal land office here, received orders here today from Secretary Fish of the department of the interior to begin an investigation of transac-

EXPLOSION IN LABORATORY

Rockefeller Institute Building in New York Shaken and Neighborhood Alarmed—Nobody Hurt

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—One of the Rockefeller Institute buildings was shaken to its foundations yesterday by an explosion in the chemical laboratory. The detonation alarmed the neighborhood and kindled a fire in the experimental room. It was extinguished before the arrival of the fire apparatus.

Dr. La Farge, working under instructions from Dr. Alexis Carrel, had completed an experiment and stepped out of the door when the explosion occurred. He was hurled from his feet but was not hurt. Plaster from ceilings and walls was torn down in several rooms of the building.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late John Donnelly desires to express their most sincere and heartfelt thanks to all those who by their words of sympathy and condolence made our burden lighter in our recent bereavement, and to those whose floral tributes were sent in memoriam of the departed. ED. MELOY, EX-FIRE ENGINEER, DEAD

One of the Bravest Fire Fighters of His

THE LATE EDWARD MELOY

Edward Meloy, formerly assistant chief engineer of the fire department, and well known throughout the city for his long term of service with the local fire department, died last night at his home, 30 Fort Hill avenue, at the age of 66 years. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Marietta Hogan, and two sons, William J. and Fred E., all of this city.

In the death of Mr. Meloy the members of the fire department lose a valuable friend, one whom they loved and esteemed most highly.

Mr. Meloy was born in this city on Dec. 16, 1847. He joined the Excelsior No. 1, hand engine company, as torch boy, in 1861, and two years later was promoted to a regular member of the department. In 1876 he was transferred to Moxeppa Hose 4, and promoted to the board of engineers in 1882, while three years later he was made assistant chief engineer.

Deceased had quite a number of narrow escapes during his long career in the department, and was considered one of the best fire fighters in the country.

Of his many experiences during his years of service the one at the burning of the Centralville bridge in Bridge street, in 1882, stands out before the others. Together with three other members, Engineer Meloy was stationed on the bridge directing a stream of water on the flames, when without the slightest warning the span on which he was standing gave way and he with his companions were thrown into the river below.

Engineer Meloy landed on the edge of the stream, and was able to save himself from drowning by clinging on to a plank which fortunately was large enough to bear his weight. The falling of a large beam struck him on the head, making a cut from the back of the head to the forehead, and required 44 stitches to close. The fall also caused temporary paralysis of one side of his body so that he was only able to use one arm to hold himself from falling into the water. In this position he remained for some time, the blood from his wound flowing down his face and blinding him, while the burning embers threw off smoke that all but smothered him. The minutes seemed like so many hours and it was only when he had about given up the fight for his life that his comrades who had instituted a search immediately after the collapse, located him and pulled him to safety.

In his half dead and alive condition he was rushed to the nearest hospital and treated for his injuries. Dr. Fox was the surgeon who treated the fireman at that time, and he sewed up the wound without giving the injured man an anesthetic.

In July, 1905, Engineer Meloy was thrown from the Protective while responding to an alarm and he had seven or eight stitches taken in a laceration on the head; and at a fire in a building in Gorham street some time later he accidentally fell through a bulkhead and suffered severe bruises about the body.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Opera House
The phrase "moving pictures" conveys a wrong idea of the admirable show at the Opera House in which the wilds of Africa, the trapping of hyenas, jackals, lions, rhinos, cheetahs, and many animals found only there are shown in pictures as natural and lifelike as if but twenty feet away, then the men getting into the cage in which it was carried to New York. The parade of the animals to the waterhole, the family of elephants, rhinos, giraffes, zebras, gazelles, monkeys, baboons and scores of others, is the most wonderful ever seen. Every child in Lowell and every teacher should see this exhibition.

There are many exciting incidents in the production of Paul J. Rainey's African hunt which is being shown at the Opera House all this week, with matinee daily.

One of these was when a lioness had been tracked by Mr. Rainey's Mississippi hounds, who play a most important part during the entire exhibition and was finally brought to bay by the hounds. The lioness had a pair of cubs with her which were captured after a most thrilling incident. The capture of her cubs she became most ferocious and without a second's warning broke through the ranks of the dogs and made directly

BATES MAKES FORMAL STATEMENT

Says "Big Bill" Keliher Told of the Wrecking of the Cambridge Bank

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Former Governor Bates, receiver for the National City bank of Cambridge, issued a formal statement today in which he said William J. Keliher, the confidence man, had made to him a complete statement of the facts in the case so far as he had knowledge of them.

The bank was wrecked by George W. Coleman, a twelve dollar a week clerk, who was convicted of stealing $350,000 and is now serving a sentence of not less than five years nor more than eight years at Greenfield.

After his conviction he appeared as a witness against Keliher, who was charged with aiding in the looting of the bank. The young man told how he had been induced to go to New York with the promise of rich rewards from a "fixed" duo game only to find himself later the person defrauded.

It is understood that the receiver never has been satisfied in the three years since the bank was forced into insolvency that the stolen funds were all dissipated and had hoped through information that he thought Keliher might give to recover a portion of the stolen money. To what extent Keliher's statement would aid him, if at all, the receiver refused to say.

Mr. Bates also refused to confirm or deny that what Keliher had told him was along the line of a statement credited to Keliher and published here today. In the published story the confidence man is quoted as going into the details of his operations much as they were revealed in court.

Keliher is in the Charlestown state prison where he is serving a sentence of from 15 to 18 years.

Mr. Bates' statement follows:

"In reference to an alleged confession by William J. Keliher, published in one of the morning papers, Mr. Bates, the receiver of the bank, says that he is informed by the paper that published the alleged confession that it obtained its information directly from Mr. Keliher. Mr. Bates would neither confirm nor deny the statements made in the article, further than to say that Mr. Keliher had made to him some weeks ago a complete statement of all the facts in the case, so far as he had knowledge of them."

He knows that the bill being given there this week is a good one. It contains four high-priced acts and a number of interesting photo plays. The performances are continuous all night, something going on from 1 to 10:30 p. m.

LOOKING FOR MEMBERS

Y. M. C. A. Conducts Very Energetic Campaign

If you are not already a member of the Young Men's Christian Association the chances are that somebody will ask you today to join. The campaign for new members is booming and it is expected that the membership roll will be brought up to 2500 in the next eight days. Next Monday at 6:15 the first reports of the committee will be made at the supper to be held at the new association building.

A very excellent supper was served last night and there was no dearth of enthusiasm. There were over 50 men present and they took the names of over 1000 prospective members and will make a report of the canvases of these names next Monday.

Brief addresses were made by Secretary D. E. Tarnell, President J. H. Brown, Boys' Secretary T. R. Williams, C. P. Fleming, chairman of the membership committee, W. S. Dillon, formerly secretary of the Lowell association, now secretary at Manchester, and H. E. Dodge, secretary of the Fall River association. Mr. Dodge said that the local building is quite large enough to accommodate 3000 people.

Agent For Incendiary Fires
CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Harry Brown, member of a fire insurance adjusting firm was named as a booking agent for incendiary fires by witnesses examined today by Assistant State's Attorney Johnson, who is inquiring into the workings of the so-called arson trust. According to Johnson, witnesses told him that Brown solicited persons to furnish flats and houses for the single purpose of setting fire to them and collecting insurance. Brown is alleged to have instructed them how and when to take out their policies.

The Playhouse
But four more opportunities remain of witnessing the most delightful three-act comedy, "Facing the Music," which is being so capably presented this week by the company. See it and enjoy an afternoon's or evening's fun. You'll laugh yourself tired at the many trying situations into which the various characters are thrown as a result of the misfortunes of the members of the two Smith families. Next week Mr. Weston will present the company in "Her Lord and Master," a dramatic offering that's said to be of unusual worth. Mr. J. Anthony Smythe, who is enjoying a week's rest, will be included in the cast.

Merrimack Square Theatre
Tonight Frank Russ will give the collection of stories that he has been holding all week, and no doubt the story which he has already been given will be on hand to hear these—the best in his repertoire. He goes on at 8:10 and patrons who enjoy an evening of pure fun will do well to attend the performance. Of course by now every one who reads these no-very elaborate. There was no definite color scheme; the draperies hung about the walls and the streamers that were lightly suspended from the central chandelier to the balcony, were of many different pastel shades, pink, lavender, green and white. These dainty rainbow colorings furnished an admirable setting for the beautiful dresses worn by the girls, and when the dancing began it was a pretty sight to watch the gay throngs of dancers from the balcony.

"LEAVE TO WITHDRAW"
No City Money for Boston Art Museum

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—In Massachusetts house yesterday afternoon the committee on cities reported, without dissent, leave to withdraw on Mayor Fitzgerald's petition for an act authorizing the city of Boston to appropriate money for the maintenance of the Museum of Fine Arts.

The same committee gave the mayor "reference to the next general court" on his petition for an act to provide for redistricting the city of Boston by the general court in the event of the failure of the city council so to do.

The committee on mercantile affairs, following the course pursued by this committee in former years, reported leave to withdraw on the petition for legislation to require the licensing of real estate brokers.

Further consideration of the hat-pin bill went over till Monday of next week.

The committee on finance reported the bill authorizing Fitchburg to borrow $350,000 for sewerage purposes.

By a vote of 10 to 7 the house turned down the motion of Representative Morrill of Haverhill to substitute, for an adverse committee report, the bill to authorize city councils to submit questions to the people.

In the senate, on motion of Senator Blanchard of Somerville, consideration of the house order for an investigation by a joint legislative committee of the telephone companies of the state was postponed till this afternoon.

The resolutions for an international commission on the cost of living were not acted upon. They were still held by the committee on bills in third reading.

Senate Committee Reports
In the senate reports were received from these committees:

Cities—A bill that the rate of interest on damages for real estate taken by the city of Boston shall be 4 per cent.

Mercantile Affairs—That the committee be discharged on the Orstrom stock and bond advertising bill and that the same be referred to the committee on judiciary; also a bill that the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, may take and hold property bequeathed to it by Mary Baker G. Eddy; also a bill to increase the number of trustees of the Episcopal Theological school.

Legal Affairs—Leave to withdraw to John J. Murphy on his petition to make March 17 a legal holiday; also leave to withdraw to John H. Mack on his petition that April 19 be excluded from the legal holidays and that May 30 be Patriots Memorial day at the request of the petitioners; also reference to next general court of the petition of George E. Mansfield to authorize the making of bread on the Lord's day; also same reference on petition of Charles J. McGovern for the making of food sold by bakers on the Lord's day.

Military Affairs—Ought not to pass on the resolve to pay P. Frank Packard counsel fees before a court of inquiry.

Agriculture—Leave to withdraw on petition of Charles F. McCarthy that farmers living outside thickly settled communities may keep one dog without paying a license therefor.

On motion of Senator Blanchard of Somerville an order was adopted that the committee of street railways may visit Springfield, Pittsfield and Lenox on or before Feb. 15, and on motion of Senator Blanchard the western trolley bill, which has been on the table, was referred to the committee on street railways.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

KEEP ABREAST OF THE TIMES

Edward T. Hartman, secretary of the Massachusetts Civic League, says: "For the past few years Boston has grown steadily worse as a place of residence. We are familiar with that style of demolition for there are many among us who say that Lowell has grown worse as a place of residence. State-ment such as this is very sweeping, but they are really based on a wrong point of view, or grossly exaggerated."

Some people do not keep abreast of the times. Their minds dwell on a past condition of affairs, more or less ideal, according to their fancy. To them all things and things deteriorate with time. People, on the other hand, who, looking at the past, look more to the present and the future, see that the progress brings many drawbacks in its train, which must be remedied, if at all, not by extolling the past but by facing the future.

The changes of ten years or even of five years are quite radical. Within that time there has been an enormous increase of population, and factories and mills have multiplied enormously. Among the myriad inventions that have benefited mankind are the telephone, telegraph, trolley car, automobile. Some of our disgruntled critics should picture themselves as living in the communities of the "good old times" that they deplore, before the invention of any of these, not to mention the thousand things that have sprung up for the amusement of the people. The conditions that govern the past would be as far behind today as would be the stage coach of our ancestors for the transportation of the people.

But with improvements have also come new problems. In the advance of civilization the people who formerly worked in the mills and factories have progressed in the social scale, and in their place are immigrants from all the countries of Europe, crowding our labor market. A feeling of selfishness has grown with the multiplicity of manufacturers. "The employer no longer takes that personal interest in the employee that he did before the situation became complex. The cost of living has gradually increased with the result that in all our cities we find a large part of the population engaged in a struggle for existence. Some children at tender age work in the factories, and living conditions among the toilers are not what they should be."

It is not by deploring these conditions, however, and criticizing our cities as places of residence that good will come. At the demand of public spirit legislation is being daily enacted to meet these requirements. If, instead of selfishly deploring our fate, we give a little attention to public affairs and to the wants of those around us, we may find sufficient interest in present day conditions to keep our minds from dwelling on the "good old times" we hear so much about and to which none of us would care to return.

MAGNITUDE OF DIVORCE EVIL.
Judge John B. Ratigan of the superior court made a very startling statement relative to the frequency of divorce. In an address delivered by him at the dinner of the Holy Cross club in Young's Hotel, he asserted that 129,600 children are orphaned in this state each year, and that about one million children are orphaned in the United States yearly, as a result of divorce. It used to be stated that the divorce evil was the principal cause of children becoming public charges, but of late, the divorce evil shows signs of becoming fairly as serious. If not, a great deal more so in the breaking up of homes and casting minor children upon public charity. Judge Ratigan spoke from his experience in the divorce courts of this state. At a session of the court in Worcester, he said that he had 40 cases of divorce to consider in one day, although the court holds a session there every month, excepting July and August.

In this plain but emphatic manner, Judge Ratigan called attention to what is undoubtedly one of the greatest evils of our country today. It is one that commands attention from religious bodies and legislatures throughout the land, in order that some means may be adopted to check its harmful effects. Some people suggest as a remedy uniformity of divorce laws, but a law that will prohibit divorce, except under the most extreme conditions, would be still better.

Divorce, however, has become so common of late, that there is indisputable ground for the belief that many people get married with the intention that if they do not get along to their satisfaction, they will find some pretext to dissolve the union. It is also a fact that many people who are married form new friendships through the windows of the I. W. W. a view to prospective divorce and subsequent remarriage. These conditions are undermining the social fabric in this country today, and unless they are effectively checked the consequences will ultimately be of the most disastrous character.

THE I. W. W. DOCTRINE

There is little doubt that the garment workers of New York deserve higher wages and better working conditions. Their cause is undoubtedly a just one, but we doubt whether it has been helped in any degree by the advocacy of the I. W. W. leaders. Ettor and Giovannitti took advantage of the strike to preach "sabotage." Ettor has been more guarded in his remarks, at least when delivering addresses in New York, than has Giovannitti. The latter, however, seemed to court arrest in New York when he told the strikers that they always make a mistake if they go on strike without leaving the machinery of their employer in such a condition that the men who take the places of the strikers cannot use it. "When a striker leaves his machine behind him in perfect order," said Giovannitti, "he leaves behind him his chance of winning the strike"; therefore, in the opinion of the speaker, the striker is perfectly justified in loosening a screw or bolt or performing some delicate operation which would incapacitate the machine when the strike breaker attempted to use it.

This is a dangerous doctrine. Indeed it may be called revolutionary or anarchistic. It is a doctrine that will injure any labor organization that adopts it, and there should be no hesitancy in condemning any so-called labor leader who preaches such a doctrine. It is in every way subversive of law and order, justice and right, and it should be met and suppressed by the strong arm of the law. Unable to use their special weapon of a general strike these ubiquitous agitators are now resorting to a policy of violence and the destruction of property, a policy that must be condemned by every man who loves justice and fair play.

FROM THE TENTH FLOOR

If only someone would invent a method of penetrating the walls of houses and the thoughts of men, a Sun reporter's life would be a journalistic paradise. From his tenth floor he can look out over the city and view all its activities. In one panorama his field of vision embraces Lowell to its limits in the four points of the compass—an one side the postoffice, the jail, the spires of a dozen churches; on another, the city hall, textile school, gas house, a line of prosperous stores, a forest of mill chimneys, and beyond, the undulating mountains. Before his eye the smoke of industry comes up in fairy spirals, more dense betimes than he approves. Every sphere of activity is represented. The rivers and canals crawl on their harnessed way, the hum of wheels comes up, softened by distance, automobiles run by like Christ-mas toys, cars drag their elongated bodies lazily, people crawl like pig-ones bent on business or pleasure. But, though it is all there, it is a riddle, to disentangle the threads of which the reporter must descend from his tenth floor, and move among the people.

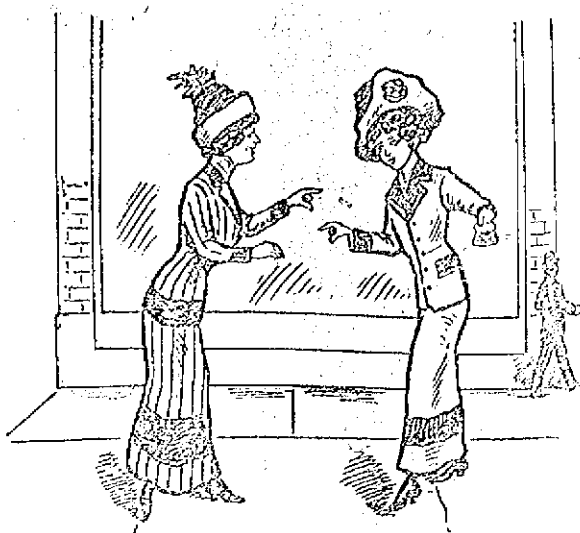

Those who sought to turn popular sentiment against Mr. Wilson before his election, by dwelling on his supposed aristocratic tendencies, should read what he says regarding the impossibility of holding a reception in Washington on the night of the inauguration: "I don't think a reception on that evening should be by invitation. In fact, unless it could be arranged on a democratic basis and no one excluded, which seems physically impossible, I would not favor it."

The militant suffragettes recently arrested in London wish to be treated as political prisoners. They resent being charged with the offence of "disorderly conduct" under which classification their acts are judged. We see nothing deserving of a more elegant title in the pouring of acid into letter-boxes, and the breaking of the windows of private property.

Some of the waiters who lost their jobs by following the advice of the I. W. W. leaders in New York showed their appreciation of the doctrine they had followed by throwing bricks through the windows of the I. W. W. hall. The bricks were probably meant to effect the banquet thrown at them, driven by the leaders of the organization, even at this late date.

ALICE AND MAY

Say, May, have you been reading any of the Boston papers lately?
No, I've been too busy lately to find time to read anything but The Sun. I've been out almost every evening this week.
Monday night I went to the Merrimack Square theatre to hear Frank Bush—his certainly, actually funny.
Tuesday night some girls came to see me, and we got talking about the pretty dresses at the tele-house outfit, and they didn't go home until it was very late. Wednesday, I had the laundry time over. Last night I saw Harden. Isn't it wonderful the way he gets out of that muck? You see, Alice, I've had much time to read the newspapers. Why did you ask me about the Boston papers?
I was wondering if you had noticed all the Lowell news in them. If they never knew it before, Bostonians must realize now that Lowell makes quite a big spot on the map of Massachusetts, after all.
Yes, what was the news? About the water main?
Yes, that was one thing.
Well, that break was certainly a pretty bad thing, and it did a lot of damage. Counsellor Barrett and Mr. Thomas must have done a lot of worrying that morning. But what was the other news?
Well, there was that romance between the baseball pitcher and the Lowell girl, who first met her future husband at a Lawrence and Lowell game.
It seems queer to think that a romance such as that about in novels has happened right here in our own city. I never cared much for baseball, but I'm going to ask my brother to take me to a few of those games next summer.

I'm glad to go, too. But was there anything else, Alice?
Yes, May—and it's perfectly awful. Just think of the impression people in other cities will get of Lowell. Why they ought to be ashamed of themselves. It's disgraceful—what's what it is. The idea of anything like that happening in our city. Why, I—
For goodness sake, Alice, what are you talking about? What is it that's so disgraceful?
Do you mean to say you don't know, May? Aren't you interested in what's going on in your own city?
Of course I am, but I don't know what you're talking about, now. Please hurry up and tell me. I'm getting so curious.
Well, it's about everyone getting drunk in Lowell.
Everyone getting drunk? Why, you don't mean that surely, Alice?
Well, no, not exactly, May. But one of the Boston papers said, the other day, that one out of every thousand persons in Lowell was arrested for drunkenness. I guess it's true, too.
That is certainly terrible, Alice. But what can they do about it?
Judge Bright wants to start an investigation. Some people, I suppose, know what they're talking about, but if drinks were not as thick as leaves at Vallambrosa after the firemen pumped the whiskey out of Conner's cellar, the people of Lowell are not such sots after all.
What do you suppose is the matter with the Lowell liquor, Alice?
One thing, with the whiskey is that men drink too much of it.

Promised to Wed Over Phone
BOSTON, Jan. 31.—When Miss Olive C. Ambler, a teacher in the Matten high school, decided to tell her fellow-teachers that she is engaged to marry the Grigor of Malden she thought it ought to be done by the usual way.
When all the teachers were present—a number of them live together on Auburn street, Malden—she told them to go into another room and listen to what they would hear over the wires of many miniature telephones. The teachers listened. They heard Miss Ambler and her fiance say a few words, real pleasant words, too. Then Miss Ambler walked into the room and showed the engagement ring. Congratulations followed.

CITY MUST PAY BILLS
Ordered to Pay for L. Elevators

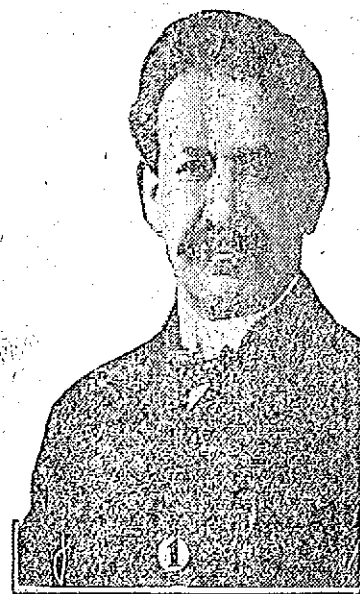

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—In an opinion handed down in the supreme court yesterday, the city of Boston and not the Elevated Railway company must pay $3,612 plus the interest since 1905, for the installation of the machinery and elevators at the Atlantic avenue station of the East Boston tunnel. The decision makes the elevators a part of the tunnel, its entrances, etc., and the expense of their being installed must be borne by the city, by a statute which provided that the Transit commission build the tunnel and the city pay for the building of all approaches to it.

In a trial before Judge Fessenden he found for the city, the city contending that the elevators were a part of the company's equipment. But the full bench has decided that the legislature in passing the statute wanted the street free from congestion, as most of the traffic is between the tunnel and the Elevated structure.

Lowell People Are Greatly Interested in Investigation of the Money Trust in Washington—Special Article and Photos of Some of the Principals in the Inquiry

The people of Lowell are particularly interested in the investigation of the money trust now going on in Washington under the direction of Arsene P. Pujos. It is one of the most important held for years in view of the light it has shed upon the banking and currency interests of the country.

Mr. Charles N. Lurie has written the following story of the probe for The Sun and it will be found well worth perusal:

I am not indicting the banking methods of America. Our banking system does not need to be indicted; it has been convicted.—President-elect Wilson's Chicago speech.

There is, or was very recently, running in New York a play called "A Good Little Devil." Some of its presentation, the clerical district. About four miles below, in the financial section of the city, there's a continuous performance of another sort. Is it or is it not "A Good Little Devil?"

That's what the Pujos house of representatives, investigating committee has been trying to find out. That's what the country would like to know. Ever since the problems in Washington learned from Morgan, Baker and others the enormous power, potential and practiced, of the men at the head of the financial power, the question has been agitating the country—is the money power a "good little devil," or is it a devil with full sized Satanic attributes?

Of course the friends of the money stock exchange and its neighbors contend that the money power is not a devil at all, but a beneficial institution. Others call the Wall street region, with its representatives and partners in other cities, an evil, and they suggest various measures for its eradication.

Just how far the recommendations of the Pujos committee will go toward revising the financial processes of the men who control the country's money no one can say now. The prevailing opinion is that it has established clearly the existence of a money trust—that is, a trust in the commodity which underlies all business transactions.

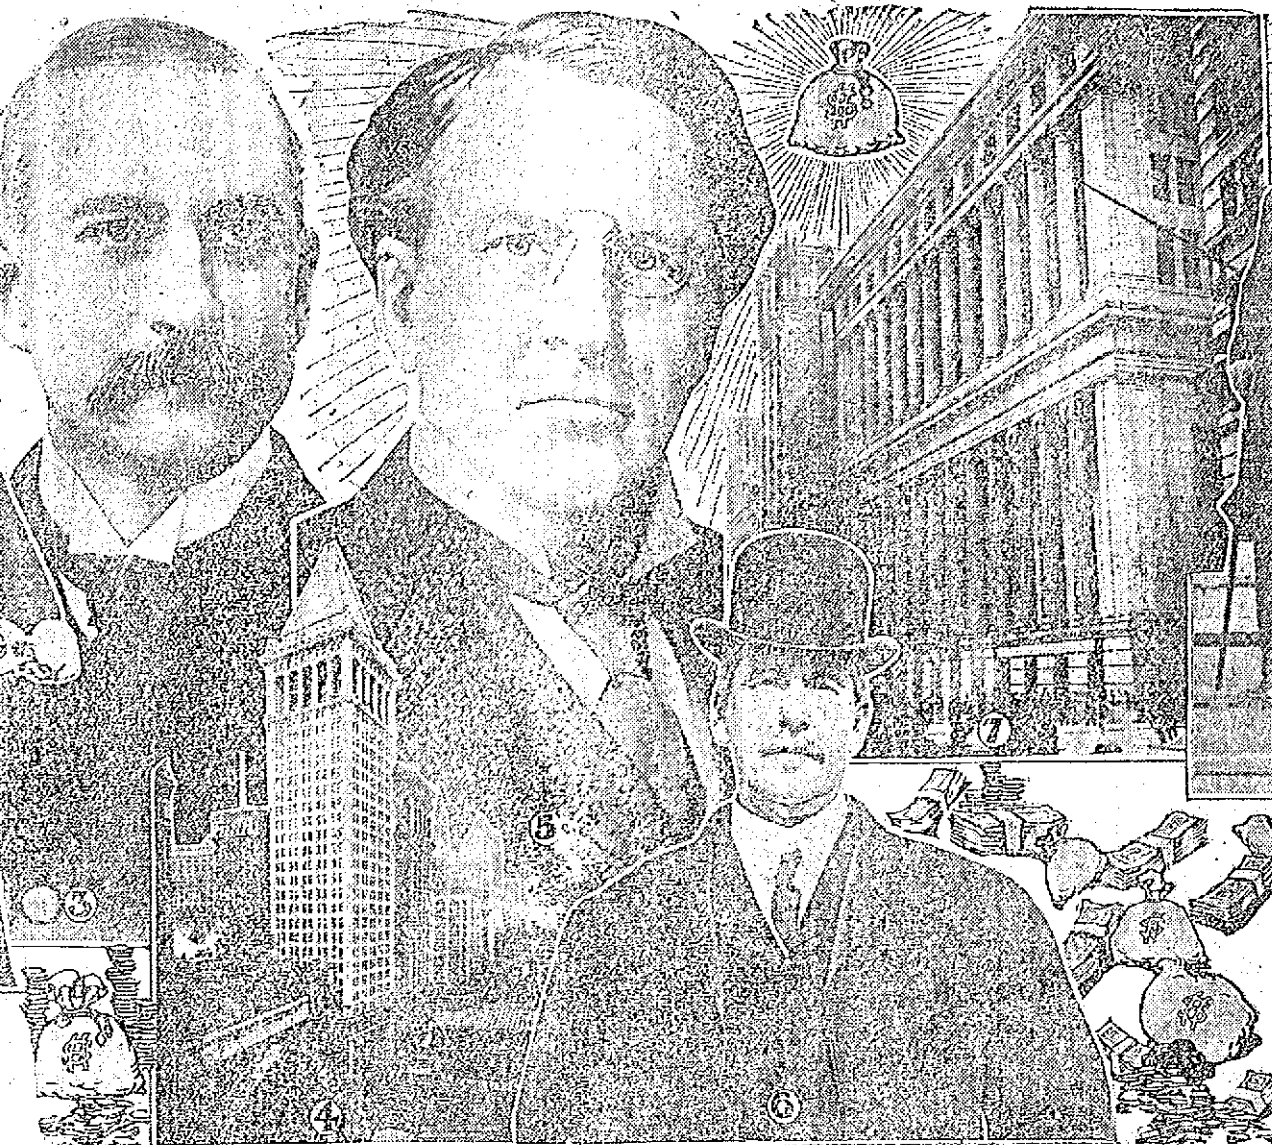

In considering the matter of a "money trust" it must be borne in mind that money is a commodity, just as wheat and corn and cotton are commodities, and that men deal in money as they do in other things. As the prices of other commodities rise the price of money falls in corresponding measure—that is, if a pound of beef sells for 20 cents the money is worth less than when beef sells for 30 cents. You have to give more money to get the same amount of beef; therefore the money is worth less. This principal lies at the basis of all dealings in money.

It is the business of the bankers in Wall street and elsewhere to supply the money whereby business is transacted. On the way they take from it such toll as the market conditions (the price of money) permit them to divert. Thus they do by means of extending credit, since there is not enough money in any commercial country such as the United States to permit cash transactions. The machinery of the process is too complicated for simple explanation here. But the underlying fact of the money question in the United States—the same fact underlies the Pujos investigation and every other inquiry into monetary conditions—is that the bankers do not handle their own money.

Of all the financial business that is transacted only 18 per cent is done by means of the bankers' own money. The other 82 per cent consists of money that is deposited with the bankers and is used by them to finance business. So when a banker, whether his name be John Pierpont Morgan or James Stillman or George F. Baker of New York or Jack Robinson of Hyatt's Corners, lends money on commercial paper or stocks and bonds he does not lend his own money. He lends money lent with him for safe keeping.

Now, John Jones of the backwoods and Tom Smith of the city, represented in congress, have become dissatisfied with the manner and methods of lending their money. They think too much of it sticks in the basket with which the banker, like Ali Baba's wife in the "Arabian Nights," measures out his money. Instead of counting it, and also too much of it is loaned for improper purposes, for stock manipulation and watering and for bamboozling the investor in Wall street. They want to get back to simpler principles, back to the place where and when the money was loaned for legitimate business purposes.

No Get-rich-quick Schemes

They do not speak—or, at any rate, they have not spoken through their representatives, the Pujos committee and its attorney, Samuel Untermyer of New York—of actual swindling. The get-rich-quick schemes whereby the widow and orphan are deprived of their little patrimonies seldom have their homes in the shadow of Trinity church, which stands at the head of Wall street, New York. No one talks of Morgan and Stillman and Baker (who hold Wall street in the hollow of their hands, as the investigation has shown) in the same breath with Get-rich-quick Wallingford. But there is talk, and very much of it, of "man-cial emperors" and "dangerous concentration of power."

It should be remembered by all who are interested in financial affairs that a few years ago Governor Hughes of New York (now supreme court justice) appointed a committee to investigate the whole matter of Wall street's control of the money of the country. In accordance with its recommendations the Stock Exchange of New York put into effect various reforms. The conduct of stock exchange business is a vital point in the matter, since the men who are charged with manipulating the country's money in their own interest and in a manner to perpetuate their control of the nation's business find their chief field of operation in the stock exchange.

Some Measures of Reform

These are the measures recently carried out by the Stock Exchange to reform its own business, which has been under criticism:

First—It has empowered its law committee to examine into members' business with a view to protecting nonmembers against loss through analogy with insolvents, upon the receipt of deposits after insolvency.

Second—It has adopted a rule requiring members to learn the essential facts regarding all their accounts with the funds of clerks, bank officials or others in positions of trust and with opportunity and temptation to use the funds of others than themselves.

Third—It has been ordered that a hundred shares should be the unit of dealing and that all bids and offers must clear up all such orders before prices could be altered on larger bids. This rule is designed to prevent manipulation of prices by bids and offers and "match sales," lots of multiples of thousands of shares, which no ordinary operator could fill. In the A. O. Brown case sales and purchases of Brown case sales and purchases of 2,000,000 shares were matched.

Fourth—Members acting as "specialists" are forbidden to act as brokers for any account in which they had an interest, direct or indirect, or to accept a commission.

Fifth—The exchange has rescinded the rule preventing arbitrage by forbidding the splitting of commissions and requiring the collection of full commissions on business done with nonmembers in other cities and for local clearing transactions. The effect of the rule is to make bond business so costly that it is killed through the narrowness of profits in business of this source.

Sixth—The exchange has reformed its method of election in a manner opening wide the door to any improvements in the way of doing business which the members may desire.

Views of Horace White

In a recent address Horace White, chairman of the Hughes Stock Exchange investigating committee, speaking of credit, said:

"I am in favor of a general dissemination of credit. I want to see it made so common that I or anybody can borrow freely. That I or anybody who wants to build a railroad or a skyscraper or develop a copper mine can sell bonds at a fair rate of interest instead of paying enormous commission to a grasping syndicate among impecunious persons or rascals."

"Mr. Baker and Mr. Morgan and their like are able to extend credit to borrowers because the public has extended credit to them. Millions of people who have saved money deposit it with them or put it in banks, trust companies and other institutions which they control. They do so because they consider it safe in their hands."

"It is the possession of these bills of the companies to form a great river that enables Mr. Baker, Mr. Morgan and their fellows to extend credit. Take away from them this general confidence and you will not need any laws at Washington or at Albany to lesson their power to extend credit to others. If you can confine them to the use of their own money—that is, to such property as they can dispose of in their last wills and testaments—the money trust will cease to disturb the imagination of politicians at Washington."

"In other words, before you can shatter the credit which they are able to extend to others you must shatter that which others extend to them. I was taught in my youth that to earn the confidence of my fellow men was praiseworthy and would probably be fruitful in the long run. If some persons have obtained more of such confidence or have made better use of it than I have, that is nothing to complain of."

Possible Committee Recommendations

While no decision had been reached up to a recent date as to what the Pujos committee would recommend in its report, it is believed that the following reforms, among others, will be considered as a partial basis for the report:

The federal incorporation of the New York Stock Exchange.

The prohibition of national bank officers, possibly other than directors, borrowing from their own banks.

The prohibition of directors of national banks serving as directors in interstate commerce and other corporations which borrow from their banks.

The incorporation and possibly the supervision of private banking houses like that of J. P. Morgan & Co., just as state and national banks are supervised.

The provision of some plan for the protection of minority stockholders, possibly by means of cumulative voting.

Publication of the assets of national banks and their securities.

Remodelling of the national banking laws, particularly with respect to the method of examination of national banks.

Safeguards around the issuance of securities of interstate corporations to the public.

Restrictions around the underwriting of securities of interstate corporations by national banks and their officers or directors.

Mining Coal in a City Park

Most city parks have their zoos, museums, floral displays, band concerts and such things, but the honor of being distinctive belongs to Nay Aug park of Scranton, Pa.

Here the visitor views with wonderment a real anthracite coal mine, and he does not have to go underground to see the coal seams and the mining operations, for it is a roofless mine.

Two miles or so down the valley there is a regular mine shaft with its hoisting plant and towering breaker, and from this shaft mining operations have been carried on in the same manner that crop-out either in or under the park.

The work has been done to accommodate certain persons who wanted the rocky bluff removed. Eventually the gangways from the faraway shaft will come out through the face of the seam in the park, and then the coal will be hauled underground to the breaker.

The remaining rocky bluffs over the coal will be utilized by the large stone crusher plant, and the colliery will disappear, except that right in the center of the park is a gated mine entrance, which is one of the permanent exhibits of the place. In this the visitor may follow the coal seam for some distance.—F. W. Brady in Coal Age.

CHICAGO POLICE HUNT VAINLY FOR AUTO BANDIT WHO KILLED DETECTIVE HART

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—After more than ten days' search the Chicago police are apparently as far from finding Robert Webb, the auto bandit, as they were Jan. 20, when he shot and killed Detective Peter Hart. More than 50 men have been arrested on suspicion of being Webb and have been released after investigation. Edmund Bell, who strongly resembles the hunted man, was arrested so often that he finally got a letter from Police Captain Lavin of the Hyde Park station certifying that he is not Webb. Rewards totaling $700 have been offered for the capture of Webb. James Perry, confessed leader of the case of auto bandits, is in custody, and so is Frank Madia, owner of the flat in which Detective Hart was murdered.

Litigation Begun Twelve Years Ago

WORCESTER, Jan. 31.—Litigation between the towns of Athol and Winthrop that had been pending 12 years over the care of the family of Samuel F. Daniels, was ended by a decision handed down in superior court yesterday by Judge Bulfinch.

The town of Winthrop sought to have the case reopened, petitioning for a writ of review. This motion was denied and the petition dismissed by the decision of Judge Rattigan.

The original action was heard before the late Judge Gaskill on July 26, 1968, after it had been pending in the courts for five years. The town of Athol sought to recover from Winthrop for money expended in caring for the Daniels family as a public charge. Athol sought to establish the residence of the family as Winthrop and Judge Gaskin found for Athol to recover $254.23, but exceptions were noted by Winthrop and the case was kept pending in the courts until the death of Judge Gaskin prevented him from finally passing on the exceptions.

Meanwhile the town of Stoughton sued Winthrop to recover for the care of the same family. Judge Hardy, who tried the case, found for the town of Winthrop. Last November judgment in the original suit, for $167.78 and costs of $326.25, was found in superior court and execution was issued. Winthrop filed its petition for a writ of review and this acted as a stay of execution. But the Stoughton creditors

The case has been stubbornly fought in the courts because it involved several interpretations of the statute governing residence and settlement.

ANOTHER N. Y. EXPRESS TRAIN

Will Leave Metropolis at 8.05 P.
M. and Arrive Here at 3.33
A. M. After Feb. 10

As a result of a visit of Mr. George M. Harrigan, president of the Lowell board of trade and Secretary John H. Murphy, to the office of the general passenger agent, Mr. C. M. Burt, relative to complaints in regard to the train service, it was officially stated that beginning Feb. 10th, Lowell would have another New York express train connection.

The new train will leave New York at 5.05 p. m. and will arrive in Lowell at 3.33 a. m. Because of the complaints in regard to the early arrival of this train at Lowell, the Lowell patrons will have the privilege of sleeping in the car until 7 a. m.

The train to New York will leave Lowell at 11.30 p. m. and a special sleeper will be available in Lowell after 9.50 p. m. so that Lowell people can secure their berth any time after 9.50. This train will arrive in New York at 7.05 a. m. This is a new train, the original New York train now running will continue and will have sleeper as well as passenger coaches.

The new schedule of trains will go into effect Feb. 10th and the 3 a. m. so-called paper and mail early morning express will be restored.

Mr. Harrigan and Mr. Murphy desired to have the 11.17 p. m. train from Boston run express, inasmuch as the new theatre train at 12 p. m. was to run local. It was shown that more than two-thirds of the traffic on the 11.17 was local business between Boston and Wilmington and the railroad people would not agree to the express idea.

Mr. Burt, the general passenger agent, was given a great many suggestions which came in the nature of complaints and criticisms to the board and it is hoped that the new schedule will be so arranged as to be of greater accommodation to Lowell people.

RESUMPTION OF HOSTILITIES BETWEEN BULGARIA AND TURKEY ON MONDAY

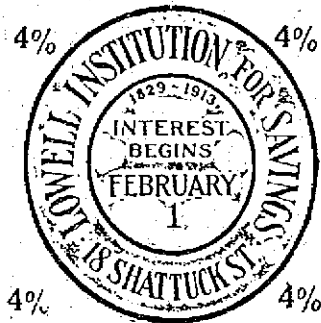

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—Great pessimism regarding the Balkan situation is displayed in official circles here owing to Bulgaria's uncompromising attitude. Germany's conjunction with the other powers is doing her best to persuade Bulgaria and Turkey to attempt to reach a compromise, but the resumption of hostilities on Monday next is regarded as highly probable.

The situation causes considerable concern to the German government, which fears that if the war should be resumed Bulgaria may push matters beyond her own interests.

ULSTERITES BURIED

BY IRISH NATIONALISTS IN LONDON-
DERRY ELECTION

Seat Held by Marquis of Hamilton Carried by Mr. Hogg, Giving Liberals a Majority in Ulster

LONDON, Ireland, Jan. 31.—The Irish home rule forces partly won a notable victory over the unionists in the election of a member of parliament for this, the chief city of the province of Ulster yesterday.

In the poll David C. Hogg, nationalist, led Col. A. C. Pakenham, by 57 majority.

The seat had been held since 1900 by the Marquis of Hamilton, who recently was elevated to the house of lords on the death of his father, the Duke of Abercorn. The result of the election is to give the home rulers a majority of members of parliament from the province of Ulster.

Extraordinary efforts were made by both parties to bring electors to the polls and as a result out of a total electorate of 5462 voters 5341 cast their ballots. Many sick and infirm persons were taken to the polling booths in ambulances. There was no disorder.

The majorities in Londonderry elections have always been small, ranging between 25 in 1902 and 105 in December, 1911.

The announcement of the result of the polling was followed by extraordinary scenes. The pent up excitement of the populace was vented in wild demonstrations. A deafening chorus of shrieks, cheers and hisses broke loose and this was accompanied by the firing of revolvers in the air, white green and red handkerchiefs and Union Jacks fluttered over the heads of the surging crowd. The nationalists sang "A Nation Once Again," to which the unionists responded with "Rule Britannia" and "God Save the King."

Mounted and foot police had to clear the way and form an escort round Mr. Hogg and Col. Pakenham while they were on their way to their hotels.

The rival crowds of home rulers and unionists came into contact at one point of the city. There was much stone throwing and the police were obliged to charge and disperse the people with their clubs.

CHIEF GETTEMY DECLINES OFFER

less Municipal Council Gives the Authority

A short time ago Commissioner Brown of the finance department wrote a letter to Charles F. Gettemy, chief of the bureau of statistics in Boston, requesting him to send some of his men to this city in order to make an inspection of the city's books for the past ten years.

Mr. Gettemy's reply was to the effect that the commissioner of finance has not the authority to request an inspection of the books, as this must be done by a vote from the municipal council. Mr. Gettemy also states that until such time as the council authorizes him to audit the books he will not do so.

Entered by Mellen and Chambérin

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Charles S. Mellen and E. J. Chamberlin entered pleas of not guilty in the federal court this afternoon to indictments charging them with violating the criminal clause of the Sherman anti-trust law in connection with a monopoly agreement for the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad and the Grand Trunk railroad.

The men had been given until Monday, Feb. 10 to change or withdraw their pleas. As each was under $10,000 bail, to which they were admitted under previous indictments for the same alleged offense, this bail was allowed to stand. No date was set for the trial. Both of the defendants were in court.

A. W. Smithers, chairman of the Grand Trunk, jointly indicted with Messrs. Mellen and Chamberlin, was not in court. He resides in London.

The United States marshal today served Messrs. Mellen and Chamberlin with an order requiring them to produce in the federal court here on Feb. 6 certain documents including letters exchanged between Ezra Baker of the New Haven and Smithers of the Grand Trunk, and transmitted by Smithers to Chamberlin. The government contends that these letters had reference to the traffic agreement between the two roads.

Sewer Assessments

The engineer's department is now making out bills for sewer assessments in compliance with the ordinance passed in Oct., 1912. These assessments are for the sewers constructed in 1911 and will be mailed to the abutters next week.

Contract Awarded

The purchasing agent has awarded a contract for light meat for the Chelmsford street hospital to T. H. Fisher for the next six months. The prices given are as follows:
Turkey, 25 cents per pound; chicken, 25; fowl, 20; lamb chops, roast lamb, 20; pork chops, 10; roast pork, 10; sausages, 10; liver, 5; mutton, 10; Small Pox.

Agent Bates of the board of health stated this morning that there is no fear of other small pox cases in this city for some time at least. He said the patient at the contagious hospital is doing very well inasmuch as his case was discovered at the very outstart of the illness and all contagion checked. There was no case of any kind reported at the board of health office today.

Marriage Intentions

The following marriage intentions were filed at the city's clerk's office this week:
Francis J. Sabourin, 15 Perrin, 24, wood turner; Elizabeth Lee, 53 Franklin, 57, nurse.
Willard C. Morrison, 243 Mammoth road, 30, provision dealer; Olga A. Biscornet, Harvard street, 20, at home.
Joseph Jannaszewski, 7 Wall, 23, shoe factory; Maryjanna Jwaskiewicz, 7 Wall, 20, mill operative.
Frank Jenczewsky, 15 Davidson, 25, shoe shop; Jodwiga Wirpsza, 54 Davidson, operative.
Joseph McNicholls, 107 Cashing, 20, auto repairer; Bessie Oakes, North Chelmsford, 20, operative.

PLEAS OF NOT GUILTY A NEW FEDERAL LAW

Entered by Mellen and Lowell Letter Carriers
Chambérin Are Interested

The new federal law relative to the regulation of the working hours of the letter carriers which goes into effect next March is causing considerable comment and activity in post-office circles. This law specifies that a man shall not work his regular eight hour day outside of ten consecutive hours. On the routes where mail is delivered five times each day the carriers now begin work at 7.15 a. m. in the winter and at 6.30 a. m. during the summer months when the direct paper train comes up from Boston with the earlier mail. The time of day that the various carriers return varies from 5 p. m. to 5.45 p. m.

As soon as the new law goes into effect this space of time will be too long to cover it and a whole new system and time allowance must be mapped out. Therefore the above mentioned activity. It is probable that several new men will be necessary to fill in the gaps left by the new time schedule or that the downtown distribution will be cut down. There have been no new men taken on as yet, however.

It is reported at city hall that Dr. Rodrick Mignault is a candidate for park commissioner, to succeed Judge John J. Pichman, whose term expires this year.

Never Too Late

Lowell Electric Light Corp.

50 CENTRAL ST.

LIGHTING CONTRACT ARRANGED

To Run Six Years at Lower Prices Than at Present Prevail for Arc Lights

It will cost the city of Lowell a much less sum to light its streets electrically, for the next six years, than ever before in the history of the city, according to an announcement made at the meeting of the municipal council, this afternoon.

It will be recalled that shortly before the close of the year Commissioner Brown appeared before the municipal council, with a contract proposing to light the streets under a 10-year contract at a cost of $53.25 per arc light, and $21.60 per incandescent.

The municipal council at that time declined to consider the contract as drawn up, claiming that Commissioner Brown's figures were not sufficiently low.

Shortly after the change of departments by Commissioners Donnelly and Brown, Commissioner Donnelly, who as head of the street department, became head of the lighting department as well, requested Mayor O'Donnell and Commissioners Barrett and Cummings to join with him in negotiating with the Lowell Electric Light corporation for a contract with better terms for the city.

Accordingly several conferences were held at which the matter was thoroughly gone into, so that the above-named members succeeded in getting the company to agree to a much better figure for a shorter term contract. This afternoon it was announced that the contract agreed upon was for six years instead of ten, and that the cost will be $50 flat per arc light. Instead of $53.25 called for under the Brown contract, and $21.60 as under the Brown contract. Thus with the city at present maintaining some 550 lights, and constant demands for additional lights one can note that the saving thus made by the four commissioners over the Brown contract is considerable. The old contract which expired on Sept. 15, 1912, was a six-year contract and charged $160 for arc lights and $22 for incandescents.

Under the new agreement the Electric Light company agrees to give the city as good service as regards power, voltage, hours for lighting, etc., as heretofore, and permits the establishment of 150 additional lights at the same cost.

ANOTHER WATER MAIN BURST

Trouble Found in the Woolworth
Store—May be Main Laid
Fifty Years Ago

It never rains but it pours, and the water department of this city is fast discovering the truth of that old saying, for, shortly after eight o'clock this morning, more trouble of an apparently serious nature was discovered in Merrimack street, directly in front of the Hildreth building.

It was employees of Woolworth's five and ten cent store who first discovered that the troubles of the water department were not over. About eight-twenty o'clock this morning water was discovered pouring into the basement of the Woolworth establishment from a source unknown, finding its way through the stone wall and splashing down over a set of shelves which are set up against the wall in front. The goods were removed from these shelves at once by the clerks of the store and no serious damage resulted. Fortunately, there is a connection of the sewer and by removing the cap, and sending the water in that direction, the more serious flooding of the cellar was prevented.

The officials of the city water department were immediately notified and sent men at once to the spot which turned out to be a main and discovered that what was at first supposed to be a break was nothing more than a very badly leaking joint. The leak must have been in progress for some time for it had sent out a large quantity of water. The hard quality of the street paving above prevented it from finding exit upward.

The leak was caused by the loosening of a collar of one of the joints and the removal of the lead from the seam. Beyond the trouble which it caused the city, the labor, and a slight inconvenience of an hour or two to the Woolworth company, no great damage resulted. Commissioner Barrett and Superintendent Thomas of the water department were on the scene almost the whole of the morning and part of the afternoon, directing the operations of the men.

Towers Corner Main
The work of filling in the large excavation caused by the washing away of the earth at Tower's corner by the bursting of the water main there has been started and will not be long before entirely completed. It was found necessary to strengthen the spot by placing supports of wood under the paving to do away with the danger of its caving in upon the workmen of the city and of the Lowell Electric Light Corp. who are at work on the cables there.

Superintendent Thomas of the water department told a Sun reporter shortly before one o'clock this afternoon, that although the men had not as yet located the leak, it might arise from one of several causes. It was at first thought to be in the plumbing of the Hildreth building, but this was soon proven false. Mr. Thomas said that on Merrimack street was an old 12-inch water main, laid there about 50 or more years ago by the Locks and Canals people who, before the construction of the city's water supply system, used to furnish the water for the lighting of fires. "It is possible," said Mr. Thomas, "that the leak is in this old pipe which was taken over by the city when they first formed the water department. Another possible explanation is, that there may be a leak in one of the joints of the main pipe, caused by the removal of some of the lead which holds the sections together."

Causes of Leak Discovered
Early this afternoon, the workmen of the water department got their excavation down to the Merrimack street level, and discovered that what was at first supposed to be a break was nothing more than a very badly leaking joint. The leak must have been in progress for some time for it had sent out a large quantity of water. The hard quality of the street paving above prevented it from finding exit upward.

The leak was caused by the loosening of a collar of one of the joints and the removal of the lead from the seam. Beyond the trouble which it caused the city, the labor, and a slight inconvenience of an hour or two to the Woolworth company, no great damage resulted. Commissioner Barrett and Superintendent Thomas of the water department were on the scene almost the whole of the morning and part of the afternoon, directing the operations of the men.

MAYOR J. E. O'DONNELL

Orders Police to Look
After Liquor Selling

TO ASCERTAIN WHETHER LAW IS VIOLATED

This Action is Taken as a Result of Judge Enright's Reference to Increase of Drunkenness Here

Today Mayor O'Donnell addressed the following letter to Capt. Welch of the police department relative to the sudden increase in drunkenness so forcibly adverted to the other day by Judge Enright.

January 31, 1913.

Redmond Welch, Esq.,
Superintendent of Police,
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:

Undoubtedly your attention has been attracted to the published statements of His Honor, Judge Enright, of the police court, relative to the increase of drunkenness in this city, as a cause of which, His Honor is of the opinion that an inferior and dangerous quality of liquor is being dispensed by local dealers. If such is the case, conditions must be remedied at once, even if it is necessary to ask a special appropriation for a systematic and complete investigation of the quality of liquor sold in Lowell. It is my duty, however, that the fault lies not with the liquor itself, but with the men who sell it, and that they may be discouraged by the law relative to the sale of intoxicants to intoxicated persons. I desire that you instruct the members of the police department to watch vigilantly the conduct of the licensed places on their respective routes with a view to the rigid enforcement of the law pertaining to sales of liquor to intoxicated persons.

Respectfully,
James E. O'Donnell,
Mayor and Commissioner of Public Safety.

SAVES CASH FROM FIRE

PLUCKY WOMAN TOOK $1000 FROM
A DESK

Fire in Sacoedorph Block Caused a Loss of $3000—Much Water Damage

WAH, Jan. 31.—Fire that broke out in the Sacoedorph block on Main street yesterday afternoon looked dangerous for a while, but was confined to two rooms after a stubborn fight. The damage is estimated at $3000, largely from water.

Miss G. Clark, bookkeeper at the local office of the Metropolitan Insurance company, proved to be the heroine of the fire, for after the office was filled with smoke, she took more than $1000 in cash from a drawer in her desk and, crawling on her hands and knees, succeeded in getting out of the office in safety.

The fire was caused by the explosion of an oil heater in the millinery room of Misses Lundy and Lillian Kelly in the rear of the block. Miss Lillian Kelly lighted the heater and stepped out to the dressmaking establishment of Mrs. Daniel Lawlor. When she returned she could not get into the millinery room on account of the smoke.

Meanwhile, the other occupants of the buildings knew nothing of the fire. The pressure of smoke against a window connecting the millinery room with the insurance office caused the glass to break and, with the new supply of air, the place was soon a mass of flames. Miss Clark notified Daniel Fitzgerald, a clerk in a grocery store on the first floor, and he had Louis Albertine sound an alarm.

The fire gained headway so quickly that Miss Clark had difficulty in getting out of the office, as did J. J. Lange, who carried out the office books.

The fire gained such headway that a second alarm was sounded, but by the time the additional apparatus arrived the fire was under control.

The damage to the block is estimated at $3000, covered by insurance, and the damage to the contents is estimated at from $1500 to $2500, partly covered by insurance.

S. P. Rohan's grocery store and the jewelry store of F. L. Bassett, on the first floor were badly damaged by water.

Years of Age

PITTSFIELD, Jan. 31.—Capt. Frederick A. Francis, a prominent Civil war veteran, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John N. Robbins, at 81 Breton terrace. He was 78 years old.

He was born in Stearnsville, son of Manning and Elizabeth Poole Francis. One of his ancestors had organized the First Baptist church of Pittsfield, and was its pastor.

Capt. Francis was engaged in business in Pittsfield when the Civil war began. He was a member of the Allen Guards, which became Co. A of the 45th Massachusetts Infantry. He was appointed quartermaster by Col. W. F. Bartlett, was made second lieutenant Sept. 2, 1862, first lieutenant Dec. 1, 1862, and captain of Co. A May 29, 1863. He was wounded at Port Hudson and was made partially deaf by an explosion in an assault on rebel works. On his return from war he engaged in wooden manufacturing and operated for a time three mills in Stearnsville. He then entered the insurance business, which he conducted for a long time.

He was twice married. He had been senior vice commander of Rockwell Post, G. A. R., and a delegate to many encampments.

SKELETON ON FLAG POLE

Gardner School Principal Gets a Shock

GARDNER, Jan. 31.—Monice E. Smith, principal of Gardner High school, received a shock yesterday when he arrived at the school building and saw a skeleton swinging from the flagpole on top of the building.

Mr. Smith immediately ordered Janitor Edward McDonough to remove the offending framework of bones from its conspicuous location. At the chapel exercises in assembly hall a few minutes later he lectured the boys on the subject of loyalty to the school.

An investigation was begun yesterday by the school authorities in an endeavor to learn the identity of the person or persons who hoisted the skeleton on the flagpole, after it had been removed from a classroom on the third floor, where it has been used for some years in practical demonstrations in the study of physiology.

Carted Away

QUINCY, Jan. 31.—Despite the fact that the Fore River ship yards are patrolled every night by a big force of special company police and that watchmen are on guard, one of the biggest robberies ever recorded there was successfully accomplished early yesterday morning.

Copper, brass and zinc to the amount of 1000 or more was stolen from a storehouse of the brass foundry, almost in the center of the big yard.

Prints in the newly fallen snow showed that the thieves had a horse and wagon, which was left on the beach near the end of Sprague lane. From this point men walked across the bridge to Howard avenue, near the Fore River garage, jumped the big fence on Howard avenue and made a long de-four around the lumber buildings and other structures in the yard until the storehouse was reached.

From the fence on Howard avenue to the beach at Surgeons lane is about 500 yards and the men employed in the stealing were able to traverse that long distance with their burden of metals time and time again without being detected. A complete inventory of the contents of the storehouse, however, has not been obtained as yet, but a space about four feet long and a foot wide was cleared out of valuable brass, copper and zinc pieces. At the least estimate, according to officials of the Fire River company last night, the value of the goods taken is $1000. Officials of the company were disturbed over the wholesale thefts and last night extra guards were placed on duty in the yards.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. John W. Buey and Miss Esther F. Woolley was solemnized yesterday afternoon at St.

Patrick's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Joseph Curtin. The bridegroom, who is stage manager at The Playhouse was attended by Mr. Clyde E. W. J. KELHER MAKES CONFESSION

"Big Bill" Tells Amazing Story of Cambridge Bank Swindle and Its Victims

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Ex-Governor John L. Bates, receiver of the National City Bank of Cambridge, has received from William J. Kelher (Big Bill) a complete, detailed statement or confession regarding the $350,000 stolen from the bank by George Coleman.

The bulk of this money was taken from Coleman by Kelher and Martin Walsh in fake faro games in New York.

Armed with this statement Receiver Bates is preparing to institute civil suits against parties who obtained from Kelher and Walsh large portions of the stolen cash.

The revelations made to Receiver Bates are startling.

Some are so amazing that criminal proceedings instead of civil suits may be forced.

Names, dates and places are detailed by Kelher in his sensational statement. Persons prominent in Boston and New York are among those Kelher claims have received stolen money, well knowing it was stolen.

Receiver Bates has relied only partly upon Kelher to track the array of suits he is to institute.

For weeks employees of a detective agency have been employed on the case. Men named by Kelher have been under surveillance and full reports made on them.

More than this legal proceedings, which have so far escaped notice, have already tied up a sum of money which the receiver believes is a part of the bank loot.

The astounding feature of Kelher's statement to the receiver is that when he returned to Boston after Coleman's arrest he had in his possession a good part, if not all, of his portion of the "graff" taken from Coleman in the fake faro games.

Kelher declares that it was his expressed intention to go to the bank's receiver, turn the money over, together with a frank statement as to just how he received it, admitting it was obtained from Coleman in a fake gambling game.

Vast Amounts of Money

Kelher declares he was persuaded against his will into abandoning his resolution. He declares he never expected to have to answer to the law for his part in the robbery of the Cambridge bank. His experience with officers of the law in New York had been such that he was convinced that no man with plenty of money need fear conviction.

Kelher went to trial firm in the belief that not alone had every prosecuting attorney against him been liberally bribed, but that even the juryman had been given money to acquit him.

Not until he was convicted and sentenced did he wake up to the fact that Massachusetts prosecutors and jurors were not to be bought.

Kelher realizes now how absurd his belief in the bribery idea was, but it took him some time to realize it. Before this he declared he had been "trimmed."

All through Kelher's statement runs the amazing story of vast amounts of money taken in the fake faro games. He mentions the names of other men, some high in business circles, who were taken to New York by him and roundly fleeced. He includes in his statement two Boston bankers. One, he claims, was fleeced to the extent of $120,000. The other lost about $5000. One of the most prominent men in public life in the state gave up $10,000, so Kelher states. A judge of one of the Massachusetts courts, who is now dead, was taken to New York by Kelher and lost $4000 in an hour on the simplest kind of a card swindle.

All of these incidents have been carefully talked down by the receiver and in the trial of the suits he expects Kelher to take the stand and relate what will probably be the most sensational story ever told in a Massachusetts court room.

BEAUTY SUGGESTIONS

Calm Mind Shows Itself in Youthful Faces—Other Hints for Those Who Use Mirrors

A calm mind invariably shows itself in the youthful face of its owner, and there is no surer preventive of wrinkles.

There should never be any undue pressure on the throat, especially for full blooded persons. Anything that retards the circulation in the large artery that carries the blood to the head should be avoided. Dress the throat loose enough to allow free movement of the head.

A skin specialist says: "Had I to choose between the cook and the apothecary as collaborator I think I would not hesitate for a moment to yoke myself with the former." He goes on to say that "the board kills more than the sword." Many people eat not only the wrong foods, but too much of them.

Regular bathing with hot water before bedtime is said by one of the world's most famous oculists to be the most stimulating treatment that can be given the eyes. He also recommends for tired eyes that have been strained by close application to work to look out of the window at a view that is distant. In other words, look at some distant point for ten minutes so as to entirely change the focus of the eyes.

CUTAWAY EFFECTS WILL BE POPULAR WITH LADIES FOR SPRING STYLES—SEVERAL OTHER NEW ONES

SMART COAT MODELS IN CUTAWAY EFFECTS

Cutaway effects make a notable feature of the spring styles, and both the short and the long coats are exceedingly smart made in that way. In this illustration are shown most attractive models that can be utilized for all reasonable materials—silk, velvet and corduroy, as well as the wool fabrics illustrated.

The suit to the left shows one of the new plaited skirts with a coat of the very latest cut. As illustrated, it is longer at the back than at the front, but it can be made with straight and longer fronts if preferred. In the illustration two toned cheviot is trimmed with broadcloth and velvet, while the edges are bound with broadcloth. The long coat is a very new and extremely graceful one. It is made in the kimono style, which is always pleasant to wear and which is exceedingly smart this season with the sleeves joined to the body portion on the long shoulder line. In the illustration it is made of velvet and trimmed with fox fur, but a very charming result could be obtained by making a round collar.

The young girl's costume shows the combination of materials that makes such an important feature of the season. The skirt is six gored with an inverted plait at each side seam, and the coat can be made with cutaway or straight front edges and with or without the overcollar in Robespierre style. In the illustration broadcloth is combined with plaid wool material while the collar is of velvet, but the model is an excellent one for one material throughout as well as for combination. Corduroy with collar and cuffs of broadcloth would be exceedingly smart.

HELD LAWRENCE NIGHT

Lyceum Entertained C. Y. M. L. of Lawrence

Dancing and Entertainment Furnished Enjoyment in Guests at Rooms of Local Organization

A very enjoyable social evening the headquarters of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum on Suffolk street last night in the form of a "Lawrence Night" at which the Catholic Young Men's association of the down river city together with their lady friends, came to Lowell to enjoy the hospitality of the local club. Not long ago, the Lawrence organization tendered a reception and entertainment to the members of the C. Y. M. L. of this city and the event of last night was a similar one in honor of the Lawrence young men and in return for the delightful evening spent as guests of the latter.

A delegation of members of the Lyceum were at Merrimack Square at 8:10 o'clock last night to meet the visitors from Lawrence and escort them to the club rooms. The five special cars were filled to their capacity and as they unloaded their burden of humanity, the members of both organizations formed into lines and headed by a drum corps, marched to the home of the Lyceum. The parade was viewed by hundreds of interested people who happened to be in the neighborhood of Merrimack street at this time. The Lyceum rooms were gaily and tastefully decorated for the occasion and presented a very attractive appearance. A large gathering of the members of the Lyceum and their lady friends were there awaiting the arrival of their guests. As soon as they appeared and after the hearty reception which they were accorded, the rooms and gymnasium and various games were turned over to the guests of the evening who found many and various means of enjoyment.

Early in the evening a tournament of various games was begun, including pool, billiards, checkers and cards in which the contestants were teams from each society.

There was much good-natured rivalry attendant on each competition for at the last social in which the local young men were the guests of the Lawrence organization in the latter's city, the hosts defeated the Lyceum team and the members of the local club meant to even up matters last night. In spite of their determination, however, fortune favored the guests and when the scores were counted up, they were victorious by a tally of 12 points to 8.

During the entire evening general dancing was enjoyed by a large number in the lower assembly hall of the school. There was also a concert and entertainment of excellent instrumental and vocal selections. Everything which could contribute to a general good time was prepared for the occasion and no element of enjoyment was lacking. An intermission was held about 10 o'clock and during this breathing space, a dainty luncheon was served.

The visitors from Lawrence were high in their praise of the hospitality of the members of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum and departed homeward with many words of appreciation and glowing as guests of the Lowell organization. The Lawrence night of the C. Y. M. L. was in every respect a most successful and pleasing affair and reflects credit on those who prepared and took part in it.

It was near the hour of 1 a. m. when the five special cars collected their passengers for the return trip and the happy Lawrence crowd departed homeward causing the neighborhood of the route to ring with their songs and cheers.

RECALL VOTED DOWN

LIVELY SESSION OF THE SENATE YESTERDAY

Proposal to Recall President Defeated 58 to 10—Many Amendments Pending When Session Adjourned

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Presidential terms ranging all the way from two to six years; prohibition against second terms and third terms; exemptions that would affect Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson and proposals for the recall and the direct popular election of presidents were the chief topics of the lively session of the senate yesterday in right session during the first day of celebration of the constitutional amendment limiting a president to a single term of six years.

Recall Voted Down

In a session filled with live debate, Senator Bristow's proposal that a president could be recalled at any regular session was voted down, 58 to 10, and Senator Hoke Smith's amendment to make the single term four years instead of six was defeated, 42 to 25.

Over a dozen amendments were pending when the senate recessed last night, and they will be taken up today.

Senators Dixon and Polk, progressive-republicans, and Senator Bristow, progressive-republican, led the fight against a restriction of the presidential term. Senator Williams, democrat, proposed a four-year term, with the privilege of re-election once, but this amendment was not drawn as to prevent Colonel Roosevelt seeking another election.

Change With Congress

The defeat of the Bristow amendment for recall of the president followed a short debate in which Senator Bristow urged that to make the federal administration properly responsible to public demands the people should have the right to change the president when they change congress. The vote on the

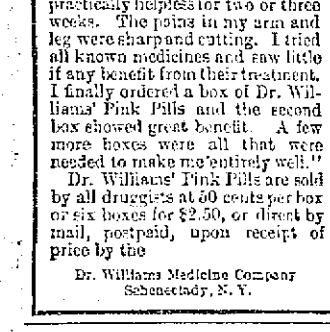

EARNEST ADVICE

However painful, however stubborn your rheumatism may be, even if the disease is of long standing and many remedies have failed, do not despair, but give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. The rheumatic poison is in the blood and it takes any treatment that does not build up and purify the blood. Rubbing something on your skin will not drive it out. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills attack the disease at its root, in the blood, and rheumatism cured in this way stays cured.

Mr. Charles B. Montgomery, of Packer, Conn., who cured himself of rheumatism with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills tells his experience, as follows: "After my discharge from the army in 1898, I suffered terribly from rheumatic pains and numbness. At times the numbness was very bad and greatly alarmed me. The rheumatic pains were in the joints of my left arm and leg and invariably followed a number of which was the first indication of the rheumatism. My left foot was swollen and sore, so much so, that I could not lace my shoes sometimes. At times I was practically helpless for two or three weeks. The pains in my arm and leg were sharp and cutting. I tried all known medicines and saw little if any benefit from their treatment. I finally ordered a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the second box showed great benefit. A few more boxes were all that were needed to make me entirely well."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists at 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50, or direct by mail, postpaid, upon receipt of price by the recall amendment mustered 10 votes only in its favor, the following senators voting for it: Bristow, Clapp, Dixon, Grinnell and Polk, progressive-republicans, Ashurst, Martin, Owen, Picky and Thomas, democrats. The candidates of Roosevelt, Wilson, Bryan and Taft figured in the fight throughout the day. Senator Borah said President Taft had not used the power of his office for his own reelection in 1912 to any greater extent than Roosevelt had used it in 1908 for the election of Mr. Taft.

Roosevelt Wanted Taft

"President Roosevelt wanted Mr. Taft nominated because he believed Taft would carry out the principles to which the Roosevelt administration was devoted," said Senator Bristow.

"A president who would not use every effort to perpetuate his policies would not be forth his salt."

Senator Hitchcock asked if it was not generally believed that Roosevelt favored President's Taft's nomination in 1908 so that he himself might be a candidate in 1912.

"I know the senator himself does not entertain such a thought," retorted Senator Borah, "so I feel free to say that such an idea is the product of a diseased mind."

Senator Dixon's charge that a single six-year term was desired chiefly by ambitious aspirants for the presidency, and the declaration of Senators Bristow and Polk that this proposed limitation would be destructive of American principles of government made up the burden of the progressive fight against the resolution.

Senator Bristow declared the people should be free to choose their own president and to re-elect a president when they believed it wise. He declared the constitution should include a recall provision, so that when congress is overthrown because an administration is not satisfactory the people could also recall the president and establish a new administration.

HUSBAND IS STILL ALIVE

Wife Thought Him Dead and Wed Again

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Because he found that his wife's first husband was still alive, Albert J. Gage, of Standish, has filed a suit for annulment of marriage against Winifred E. Gage, of 28 Havre street, East Boston. Mrs. Gage will not contest the suit.

Mrs. Gage, who was formerly Winifred L. Cavanaugh, was married Nov. 1, 1898, to George E. Ames. In 1907 her husband deserted her and for some time she heard nothing of him. Then her father told her that her husband had gone to sea and lost his life in a fall from a mast. She investigated and found that one George E. Adams had been killed as reported.

On June 2, 1909, she was married to her present husband, Albert J. Gage of Standish. She told him before the marriage of her former husband and her belief that her husband had died. Last August, however, a friend told her that her husband was living in the little seacoast town of Bucksport, Me. Investigation showed that the man who was killed was not her husband, but another bearing the same name. She then communicated with Selectman E. B. Smith of Bucksport, Me., and received the following letter in reply to her inquiry:

"Dear Madam, George E. Ames is living here, and a letter addressed to him will reach him."

"P. F. Smith, Selectman."

Aug. 3 she told Gage that her first husband was living, and they agreed that he would file a suit asking for an annulment. Aug. 4 they separated. They have no children. Since then Mrs. Gage has seen her first husband at Bucksport and identified him beyond doubt.

It is believed that Mrs. Gage will sue for divorce from her first husband after the annulment from her second has been granted.

GOLD MEDAL FOR TAFT

To be Presented President February 22

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—President Taft, in recognition of his notable efforts in behalf of universal peace, will be presented with a gold medal at dinner to be held in his honor here on Feb. 22, by the American Peace and Arbitration League.

Thirty-three peace and civic organizations throughout the country will join in honoring the president upon what may be his last public appearance before his retirement on March 4. Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain, will present the medal on behalf of the National Institute of Social Science.

It was at a dinner given in his honor by the American Peace and Arbitration League on March 22, 1910, that the president made his first speech advocating arbitration of all justifiable questions of dispute among nations. At the dinner on Washington's birthday, the president is expected to review the international peace problems of the past and present and also to forecast a distinct policy for the future, according to announcement made today by the committee in charge.

McNicholas Owns Up—Money Missing

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—James H. McNicholas, the western mining promoter who was arrested in the lobby of Young's hotel on Tuesday as he was preparing to put through a "big deal" in raising securities, made a statement to the postal authorities yesterday confessing his part in the flotation of St. Joe mine stock for which he is under indictment in Cleveland, O., charged with fraudulent use of the mails. Glenn Heston, Gray, to Postoffice Inspector Gray, McNicholas made a clean breast of the whole matter and admitted his willingness to waive extradition proceedings and return to Cleveland to answer the charges against him there. One of the mysteries of the case is what became of the million dollars that $209 in a bank in St. John's, New Brunswick. The other showed about $150 on deposit in a local bank. McNicholas are said to have gathered in from their alleged fraudulent mining schemes. When searched McNicholas had two bank books on his person and about $10 in bills. One of the books showed deposits of a little over

"FORGIVE ME"—EUGENE

Suicide Left Note Addressed to Father

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 31.—Twenty-four hours after he had cut his throat with a razor the body of Eugene Delano, Jr., a member of a prominent New York family, was found last night lying on the floor of his bedroom in the Royal Alexandra hotel. The left hand note addressed to Eugene Delano, New York: "Dear father, sister and brother: Forgive me, Eugene. No reason is known here for the suicide. Delano arrived at the hotel Wednesday and did not leave his room after entering it."

Delano Committed Suicide

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The family of Eugene Delano, Jr., found dead in the Royal Alexandra hotel at Winnipeg, Man., confirmed today that he had died by his own hand. "It was suicide," said a male member of the household this morning. "Our advice, however, are meagre."

According to the despatches from Winnipeg, a chambermaid discovered the young man's body after he had been dead several hours. His wrists and throat were slashed and by his side was a razor. Young Delano graduated from Yale in 1908 and was well known in club and athletic circles. His father is a member of the banking firm of Brown Bros. & Co.

POOR GIVEN FIVE YEARS

Conviction of Man Who Victimized Gate Tender

A verdict was given in the case of Frank W. Poor, formerly of Bitterica, who cheated Thomas B. Nickerson, a veteran crossing tender in Andover, out of $1550 by false pretences. Poor was sent to jail for not less than four or not more than five years. The jury was out all day and came to an agreement after being told by the court that it was their duty to agree if possible. The case was taken up in the Salem criminal court and was tried on three different days. Poor conducted his own case.

CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS

Usual Monthly Social at the Worthen Street M. E. Church Followed by Enjoyable Entertainment

The Worthen Street M. E. church was the scene, last evening, of the usual monthly social, the supper being served under the direction of Mrs. J. R. Smith, assisted by a committee of ladies from the Ladies Aid society. The supper was followed by an entertainment that was thoroughly enjoyed.

Hillside Methodist

The W. P. M. S. of the Hillside M. E. church held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Washburn, 256 Pine street. Mrs. McLean had charge of the program, which covered the second chapter of the book being studied, "China's New Day." Those reading papers were Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Lester, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Timmins, Miss Washburn and Miss Clark. Ice cream and cake were served by the hostess.

At St. Anne's Church

The annual party of the Sunday school of St. Anne's church, held in the parish rooms, was well attended. The juniors enjoyed themselves in the afternoon and in the evening the seniors had a good time. Those taking part in the entertainment were: Readings by Rev. E. E. Atkinson; piano and violin duet by the Misses Knight, and a sleight-of-hand performance by Edwin Knight, who bewildered the young folks with his clever tricks. Miss Mevils also gave recitations. Refreshments were served by the Young Men's club. Those responsible for the success of the affair were the following committee: Chairman, Miss Hesse; P. Smithers; Misses Hoag, Duncan and Kelly. The pastor, Rev. Appleton Grannis, presided.

Benefits By Agricultural Fairs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—In an effort to revive interest in old time agricultural fairs the agricultural department today issued a bulletin treating on the benefits to be derived from such gatherings. The report is of historic interest for it tells of the beginning of such "fairs" when the country was young and when they were not only an advantage to agriculture but were the excuse for social gatherings as well. The report declares that the first agricultural fair was held by the Columbian agricultural society in Georgetown, D. C., in 1892. According to the newspapers of that day "it was attended by a numerous assemblage of members of the society, among whom were noticed the president and his lady, the secretary of state, the secretary of the treasury, the secretary of war, the comptroller, the registrar, etc., and many other ladies and gentlemen of respectability."

Leaves Kidneys in Weakened Condition.

Doctors in all parts of the country have been busy with the epidemic of grip which has visited so many homes. The symptoms of grip this year are very distressing and leave the system in a run down condition, particularly the kidneys which seem to suffer most, as every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to more serious sickness, such as Greaved Bright's Disease. Local druggists report a large sale on Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, which so many people say soon heals and strengthens the kidneys after an attack of grip. Swamp-Root is a great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, and being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed by those who try it. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., offer to send a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, free by mail, to any sufferer who requests it. A trial will convince any one who may be in need of it. Regular size bottles 50 cents and $1.00. For sale at all druggists. Be sure to mention this paper.

Standish Worsteds

The finest goods woven in New England. Tailors doing $30.00 to $40.00 suit business always feel that they are giving customers exceptional values when they give them goods from the Standish mills at regular prices; usually an additional charge of $5.00 is made for this class of goods.

I have purchased from one of the largest woolen houses in this country, DOWNING, CLARK & CO., 568-578 Broadway, New York, nearly 3000 yards of their finest worsteds, no yard of which was made to sell under $2.75 a yard, and from that up to $4.25 a yard wholesale. These goods are all worsteds and run from 14 to 17 ozs. in weight; colorings mostly browns, grays, blues and blacks, some clear and some rough finished, and I consider them the highest quality goods woven from long Australian yarns. No tailor carries better at any price and no tailor would have the variety.

I have put a large quantity of these goods in my windows for display, some in suit patterns, some in whole bolts, where you can see them without entering my store, the price marked plainly on each garment. I have placed two prices on these goods, $12.50 on the lower grade, $15.00 on the better grade. You are your own salesman. You have the privilege of selecting as many shirts or overcoats as it is your pleasure to buy. Sold to me with the positive assurance of the commission man that he loses $1.10 to $1.90 on each yard; that they are this season's goods and he guarantees them to be pure worsteds, all wool.

IT NEVER FAILED—Show the people values that they know, that common sense tells them are bargains and there is always genuine, active demand from enough persons to crowd a store. Now I am not blowing about profits, I am not saying that profitable business can be obtained, I am not saying that I made profits on the immense business you saw in my store the past eight days, but I do say I did big business in the dead, dullest part of the tailor's year by the simple showing of goods that people knew to be wonderfully unusual in price and quality.

AND I'LL DO BIG BUSINESS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY. You can't stop me—you can't stop the people from buying when they can see, feel and handle the woollens that I shall throw at them for prices that defy the known laws of production.

EASTER THIS YEAR comes in March, only a few weeks ahead. By forcing business now regardless of prices, profits or values, we get a lot of persons to leave orders for clothing before the rush starts. These men get first pick of the new styles, they get many an extra stitch that the help might possibly skip when they are swamped with work, and it keeps the help steamed up for the Easter rush.

Crusade Against Pickpockets in Boston To Extend Grand Trunk to Providence

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—A vigorous crusade against pickpockets has been begun by District Attorney Felleiter, and he intends to urge the authorities to use every effort to drive this class of thieves out of the city.

Owing to the recent activity of the pickpockets on the elevated trains, street cars and at railroad stations, District Attorney Felleiter yesterday issued a statement in which he said it was his intention to have every pickpocket brought before him from the lower court sent to the state prison at Charlestown if possible.

During the last few weeks the district attorney and his assistants have recommended to the judges of the superior court that substantial sentences be imposed on these men. In commenting on this class of thieves yesterday, District Attorney Felleiter said:

"I wish to say regarding the case of pickpockets that it has been the policy of this office for a long time back, and will be continued in the future, to deal with such cases in the most vigorous way. "Prohibition is out of the question in such cases and a fine accomplishes nothing. The pickpocket represents a class that ought to be ostracized and locked up, not to punish them necessarily, but to protect the community. "It is perhaps a harsh judgment to pronounce and yet it seems to be true that a pickpocket never reforms; once a pickpocket, a pickpocket for life. I am inclined to the belief that the statement is true from my experience."

TWO LEFT ON BOARD

BALTIMORE, Jan. 31.—The steamship Tiverton arrived here yesterday, bringing Capt. Norman McLeod and eight men of the four-masted schooner S. P. Blackburn, rescued from the schooner in a heavy storm off Cape Hatteras last Tuesday. Two others of the Blackburn's crew are believed to have gone down with the vessel. The survivors were obliged to jump overboard from the schooner, as the steamship's lifeboat could not get alongside. A. F. Wendall, engineer, and the negro steward of the Blackburn refused to jump, saying they could not swim. The schooner, which was coal laden, from Baltimore for Galveston, was left in a sinking condition.

Sent Revenue Cutter to Rescue Men
WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—In hope of saving the lives of the two men left aboard the schooner S. P. Blackburn, Capt. Bertholf, commandant of the revenue cutter service, yesterday ordered the cutter Onondaga, at Norfolk, to steam at full speed to the place where the Blackburn was left sinking. The vessel then was 300 miles east-southeast of Cape Henry, Va.

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—President E. J. Chamberlin of the Grand Trunk railroad yesterday said that only $6,000,000 stood in the way of the extension of the Southern New England railroad into Providence.

To raise this amount of money, he intimated, was the present problem. He declared that the construction of the southern end of the road had not been abandoned. He said it was tied up for financial reasons.

This and the resignation of President E. H. Fitzgugh of the Southern New England and the election of President Chamberlin to his place, were the features disclosed at a series of conferences held at the Hotel Touraine yesterday.

The conferences were between the Grand Trunk officials and the directors of the various corporations of the now famous Southern New England line.

These corporations are those of New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Rhode Island and Connecticut, the latter two being a joint board.

Rev. Dr. Pepper Dead

WATERVILLE, Me., Jan. 31.—Rev. Dr. George D. B. Pepper, ex-president of Colby college and known as "Lincoln's Rev. Dr. Pepper" here yesterday, aged 56, died here yesterday, a striking resemblance to the emancipator and in his early days was often mistaken for Lincoln. He retained the characteristics up to the last.

Recall Amendment Defeated

TORONTO, Kan., Jan. 31.—A constitutional amendment providing for the recall of public officers was defeated by the Kansas house of representatives last night.

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—With the court case coming today, and a $25,000 bequest to the society hanging in the balance, William J. Foley, treasurer of the Children's Health Fund, made his appearance at the office of the attorney-general yesterday afternoon, and admitted that the Children's Health Fund was defunct.

When questioned as to where the records of the society might be, he told Assistant Attorney-General Walter A. Powers that they had been stolen from the headquarters of the organization at 31 Exchange street.

Foley was summoned to appear at the court proceedings today and was advised by Mr. Powers to testify as he had spoken to him in his office.

Mr. Foley said that the books of the society had been stolen and he further insisted that he had not seen George W. Averill, his working partner, since the latter's trouble with the federal authorities in the south.

FOUND ASPHYXIATED

Manchester, N. H. Cigar-maker Overcome in Kitchen Where Gas Range Tube Was Disconnected

MANCHESTER, N. H., Jan. 31.—Dead from the fumes of illuminating gas escaping from the disconnected tube of a gas range, Samuel Lessard, a cigar-maker, was found sitting in a chair in the kitchen of his home at 133 Hancock street, shortly before 8 o'clock last night, by members of his family who had returned from a call.

Lessard, who was 46 years old, was employed in a cigar factory, but had not been working for a number of days. He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Evelyn Lessard, six daughters, and a son.

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—That the governor's council is in favor of an absolute pardon for Cardenio P. King, and that in all probability Gov. Foss, although in favor of a conditional pardon, will accept the finding of his council, was the general assumption at the state house yesterday.

To Inform Foss

Councillor Alexander McGregor, who was out of town yesterday, and Lieut. Gov. David L. Walsh, who will return from New York today, the two members who were on Wednesday authorized to inform the governor of the council's attitude, are expected to tell Gov. Foss that the council favors the unconditional pardon.

Gov. Foss is in favor of King's returning to serve out his sentence after being restored to health, but by the finding of the council, if for absolute pardon, King will not finish the sentence nor be arraigned again.

King Hears of Plea

King yesterday told in detail of the plea made for his pardon before the council yesterday by his wife and his brother, James King, who visited him at Bridgewater State hospital.

Just after the telephone of the proceedings over the telephone of the proceedings, his brother, who came from Danville, Fla. to be present at the hearing, and also to visit King, encouraged by the sentiment displayed Wednesday, made the trip from Wintthrop to cheer the former financier with a full report.

LEAVE IT TO VOTERS

Ex-Gov. Bass Suggests Way to Name New Hampshire Senator and Break the Hopeless Deadlock

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 31.—After the legislature had balloted for the 13th time yesterday for United States senator and failed to elect, Ex-Gov. Robert P. Bass, progressive candidate for senator, issued a statement in which he urged a popular vote at the March town meetings, the legislature to elect the man having the largest number of votes at the proposed primary.

Ex-Gov. Bass takes the ground that there is a hopeless deadlock on the senatorship and that the popular primary suggested by him is the only solution of the problem confronting the legislature.

He also urged the progressives to stand together to the end for their candidate, Robert Perkins Bass.

Men's League Organized

The members of the Elliot Men's League met in the vestry of the Elliot Congregational church last evening and organized with the following officers: President, Charles S. Proctor; vice president, Jesse H. Shepherd; secretary, Fred M. Silk; treasurer, George B. Holden; chairman of the entertainment committee, George F. King; chairman of the membership committee, Edward T. Shea.

"It was pure carelessness in me to leave it there exposed in plain view," he said last night "but it hardly entered my head that it would be stolen, because my hotel suite is like a home to me, I have been there so long."

Mr. Rice, who with his mother occupies a large suite circling from the Boylston to the Tremont street side, says he laid down the ring at his washstand during the evening.

"I could not have lost it out of doors, as some have suggested, because it stuck so tight to my finger that I had to use soap to get it off. I laid it down, washed my hands and, of course, went out without the ring."

"Out on the street I missed the ring and I ought to have gone back after it then but did not and there is perhaps where the carelessness comes in."

Mr. Rice describes the ring as being a big solitaire for which he paid $1600 some years ago and which is now worth more because of the appreciation in the value of diamonds.

Stone of Six Counts

"The ring was unmistakable. It was of six carats, pure white, without a flaw, in a Tiffany setting. Naturally, I hope to have something of it. If a professional thief entered my room, he might leave the city with it. If an amateur, he may hide it for a time. I have been thinking of advertising a reward for its return, for I would gladly give $500 to get it back and it is always just possible that somebody will get track of it who is honest and can help toward a restoration."

The hotel management greatly regrets Mr. Rice's loss and every possible assistance is being given the local police by the house officials. Considering that only one article and that a small though valuable one was lost, they were at first in hope that the ring had been only mislaid and would come to light, but Mr. Rice is confident on the point.

"I distinctly remember taking off the ring. It was big and brilliant and would attract the eye of anyone going into the suite. No other valuables were in sight to tempt a thief. If it should turn out that some otherwise honest person was overcome by the temptation and should voluntarily make restoration, the offense would be very leniently looked upon. But I fear it was the work of a professional and that the ring is lost. Its size and value, however, will make it conspicuous and more difficult to dispose of and there is some measure of hope in that."

Lowell is not the only city on the map that is suffering from automobilism. Worcester is having some little trouble in the matter of automobile purchases, and they do tell that the trouble is very much like our own. It seems that just before the mayor of 1912 went out of office, he signed contracts for the purchase by the city of Worcester of five automobiles from the Knox Automobile company. The machines were delivered but when a new mayor came into office he declared the contracts illegal on the ground that they had not been authorized and carried out by the head of the fire department, as he contends, is required by the charter of the city of Worcester.

It is also stated that the new mayor favors the purchase of machines other than those bought by the preceding administration.

Lawrence Lebron, Chicago's Oldest Letter Carrier, Who Delivered Mail For 44 Years, Retired

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Lawrence Lebron, Chicago's oldest letter carrier, who figured that in his 44 years of service he had walked 135,000 miles, gave up his duties after the close of his day's work yesterday to become a farmer. In addition, Lebron gave four years more of his life to Uncle Sam, having served as a personal scout for Gen. U. S. Grant in the Civil war.

Pimpily? Well, Don't Be!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Nothing ever cleansed the blood, the bowels and the liver like Olive Tablets. Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for calomel—they oil the bowels, there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Olive Tablets do all that calomel does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad digestion or pimply face. Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Try them. Take one nightly for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel. 10c and 25c per box.

Woman Sues "Cubs" for $25,000

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Suit for $25,000 damages was filed in the superior court by Mrs. Anna Dobkin against the Chicago National League baseball club because of injuries sustained by being struck by a foul ball batted from the West Side park during a game last summer.

Mrs. Dobkin alleges that the ball sailed over the park fence and into a window of her home where she was seated. The ball, according to the attorneys for the plaintiff, struck the woman in the head knocking her off the chair and causing partial paralysis which rendered her helpless for several months.

He is serving his eighth term in congress and has been re-elected to the next congress. He is a graduate of the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas and of the University of Texas. He is an attorney and before coming to congress had served several terms as district attorney in Texas.

Baron Ilkerton Dead

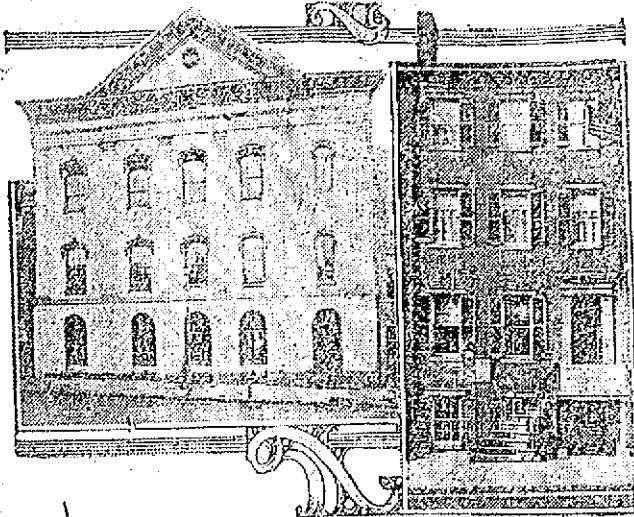

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Baron Ilkerton, a distinguished member of the liberal party in the house of lords, died today at the age of 73. Before being created a peer, he was well known as Sir Walter Foster. He served as parliamentary secretary to the local government board from 1902 to 1907. He was by profession a physician and was the author of numerous works on medicine, especially in connection with heart disease.

FORD'S THEATRE, WHICH SAW THE SHOOTING OF
ABRAHAM LINCOLN, GREAT EMANCIPATOR, IS TO GO

With the government's condemnation of Ford's theatre, in Washington, begins the last chapter in the history of one of America's best known buildings. It is known to Washingtonians and to all students of American history and of the life of Abraham Lincoln as the building in which the first martyred American president was shot by John Wilkes Booth. The tragedy occurred on the night of April 14, 1865. Throughout the 47 years that have the first tragedy that stained the walls of Ford's theatre it had been occupied as a repository for war office records. But being old and rotten it collapsed. There was a chorus of condemnation, and there were proceedings against the men held responsible, but the story of criticism blew over and for 27 years the building was left to rot. Now a great task is to go.

On the site of Ford's theatre, according to present plans, will be erected

FORD'S THEATRE

Washingtonians are saying the building should have been condemned and razed long ago. Failure to do so led to the deaths of 22 men and the injury of many others on June 3, 1894, when the upper floor of the old structure collapsed, carrying down with it and mingling men and timbers and brickwork in an awful heap. The victims were government clerks, for since modern office building. On it there may or may not be placed a tablet telling of the shot which, far more than the report at Concord bridge, played about by Emerson, was "heard round the world." Some Washingtonians and government officials favor the reconstruction of the building in its old form. It has been altered slightly since the time of the Lincoln shooting, or the erection on its site of a Lincoln museum to house the Lincoln relics owned by the government and displayed in the National museum, and the Lincoln house owned and exhibited by O. H. Oldroyd in the Peterson house, opposite the theatre.

The Peterson house is the one in which Lincoln died. It stands diagonally opposite the theatre and at the time of the shooting was occupied as a boarding house by a man named Peterson. Lincoln was carried there soon after he was shot and was laid on a bed in a rear room on the first story. The room had been rented by a young soldier. He was turned out to make way for the wounded president. There Lincoln died the next morning. Anyone who wishes to do so may stand on the very spot which saw the last moments of Lincoln. The bed is no longer there. It is owned by a Chicago collector of historical relics.

The house in which Lincoln died is owned by the government, but the thousands of Lincoln relics kept there are the property of Mr. Oldroyd, who has made his life work the collection of articles owned by or relating to Lincoln. He began his collection in the first Lincoln campaign, in 1860, and continued it during the war, in which he served as a federal soldier. It is a strange fact that the man who has been possessed by such absorbing interest in the life of Lincoln, making the exhibition of Lincoln relics his life work, never saw the president.

The Oldroyd collection first was housed in the Lincoln home in Springfield, Ill., which Mr. Oldroyd rented from Robert T. Lincoln, son of the president. When the state of Illinois purchased the house Mr. Oldroyd was compelled to move his collection. He heard about that time that the Peterson house, wherein Lincoln had died, was available for his purpose, and he accordingly moved his relics to Washington.

He had been told and believed that thousands of visitors would flock to see the Lincoln family bible, wherein Lincoln had written his name in boyhood, the chairs and other furniture from the Lincoln home and office in Springfield, the rail split by Lincoln and John Hanks in 1830 and the other interesting mementoes of the dead president. But the thousands did not come, and for a time Mr. Oldroyd was in hard straits. Now, however, with the spread of knowledge regarding his collection times are easier for the old man who lives continually in an atmosphere of devotion to the memory of Lincoln.

The government permits Mr. Oldroyd to occupy the Peterson house free of rent and to charge an admission fee, but he says that he hopes congress will buy his Lincoln collection and preserve it suitably, making him its guardian. It would be recompense and honor well earned by 50 years' devotion to the memory of Lincoln.

Musterole Better Than
Mustard Plaster!

MUSTEROLE is oil of mustard combined with other simples used in home medicine.

It is a clean, white ointment that you rub on—and the pain is gone!

No plaster—no mess—no blister!

It does all the work of the good old-fashioned mustard plaster, but does it better.

Millions of jars of MUSTEROLE are sold annually.

Doctors and nurses recommend it to patients.

It is constantly used in many of the large hospitals.

MUSTEROLE is what Twentieth Century science has made of the remedy that your mother and grandmother depended on. It gives instant relief from Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chills, Frosted Feet, Colds of the Chest (it prevents Pneumonia).

At your drug-gist's—in 25c and 50c jars and a special large hospital size for $2.50. Accept no substitute. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c to the MUSTEROLE Company, Cleveland, Ohio, and we will mail you a jar, postage prepaid.

Fred Gentner, Tulsa, Okla., tells how MUSTEROLE relieved:

"Two years I suffered with rheumatism. The doctors treated me for different kinds of sickness, but did me no good. I read of Musterole and began to use it at once. In a short time I regained the use of my limb."

SAYS WIFE SPAT ON HIM

Harry Weinstein in Divorce Court Also Declares She Objected to His Bald Head

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Why, in Leverett street, two or three weeks back, she spat in my face," said Harry Weinstein in testifying in his own behalf in the libel brought by his wife, Mollie, in the divorce court yesterday afternoon.

The libel case continued: "She left me because, I suppose, she was ashamed to face me any longer after I saw what she was doing." The libel case did not specify to what he referred.

He said that his wife had thrown water from a window on him and that one morning his wife's father had come downstairs, and he and the libel case had "it out" on the sidewalk. "I had trouble with the whole family."

"She complained of my bald headedness. She said, 'I once liked you when you had some hair on your head, but dows and the police. She went to night court to testify for several of the prisoners. The throwing of the bricks followed a speech by Miss La Follette. She is scheduled to speak regularly at meetings of the strikers.

you have no hair today on it." She always told me that she looked like a child of 16, and that there was a 'duck' at the Massachusetts General hospital and at a nearby theatre that would admire her beauty any time it was talk about the house."

During the forenoon session Mrs. Weinstein had testified to various alleged acts of cruel and abusive treatment on the part of her husband, ranging over a period of three or four years. Among her witnesses were patrolmen of Division 3 at the West End, Mrs. Pearl Victor, who lived next door to the Weinstein family, Mrs. Mitchell of 52 Chambers street and Hyman Davis, father of Mrs. Weinstein. The case was continued.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Life may be given in many ways
And loyalty to truth is sealed
As bravely in the closet as the field,
So beautiful is fate.

But then to stand beside her
When even churls beside her
To front as he in arms and not to yield—

This shows, methinks, God's plan
And measure of a stalwart man,
Lined like the old heroic breeds,
Who stand self-poised on manhood's solid earth.

Not forced to frame excuses for his birth,
Fed from within with all the strength he needs.

Such was he, our martyr-chief,
Whom the Olden had led,
With ashes on her head,
Went with the passion of an angry grief.

Forgive me if from present things I turn
To speak what in my heart will beat and burn,
And hang my wreath on this world's honored urn.

Nature, they say, doth date
And cannot make a man
Save on some woman's plan,
Repeating as it rote.

For him her old world molds aside she threw
And, choosing sweet clay from the breast
Of the unexhausted west,
With stuff untaught shaped a hero new and true.

Wise, steadfast in the strength of God.
—James Russell Lowell.

Called the Local Fire Department Out

Last Night, But Little Damage was Done

An alarm from box 46 shortly before 6 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to 24 First street, where there was a slight blaze caused by an overloaded furnace. There was very little damage.

At 7:30 the department was called for a chimney fire at 200 Chalmers street. There was no damage.

RAILWAY CLERKS DANCED

Entertained Friends at Associate Hall

The annual dancing party of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, held last evening at Associate hall, was one of the prettiest affairs of the kind held in this season. The large attendance of members and their friends thoroughly enjoyed dancing through the very liberal order of twenty numbers which Kittredge's orchestra furnished.

The hall was very artistically decorated with bunting, flags and scenery, the background being set with American flags, while the front was decorated with potted plants and greenery. The effect of the red, white and blue bunting, caught up at short intervals around the hall by clusters of green sprigs and also hung from the central chandelier to the four corners of the hall, was very pleasing in its arrangement. Curtain drawn windows and cozy corners were also notable features of the party. Ice was served at intermission and when the last dance had been rendered this year's party was unanimously voted the best ever given by the brotherhood.

BEFORE THE COMMITTEE ON
RAILROADS

To Appeal For More Favorable Rates

About 65 young ladies of the State Normal school in this city visited the state house yesterday in company with Principal Cyrus A. Durgin and attended the hearing given by the committee on railroads on the several bills to regulate further the use of quarterly tickets on railroads, as well as to place all students on an equal basis with respect to reduced rates.

Principal Durgin called attention to the injustice done Normal school pupils in the present rate schedule and he asked the committee to consider it. Mr. Durgin submitted a comparison of the rates charged pupils attending the Lowell Textile school and those attending the Normal school. The following rates were shown:

Textile School	Normal School
Medford	$4.25
Winchester	2.85
Lawrence	3.50
Andover	3.10
Boston	4.90
Woburn	4.50
Haverhill	4.35

Rep. Victor P. Jewett of this city is a member of the committee and says he will do everything in his power to have the rates equalized. Previous to the meeting of the committee, Rep. Jewett accompanied the members of the party through the building, visiting the chambers of the senate and house.

The party also visited the state library, where they saw the log of the Mayflower; Memorial hall and the Hall of Flags, as well as the famous paintings commemorative of events in the early history of the state and nation. The young ladies enjoyed their visit very much.

ON CHARGE OF FORGERY

Throttle

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—George J. Atkinson, 21, who had lived at 14 Brighton street, Charlestown, was taken off an engine in Bangor, Me., yesterday morning and brought back to police headquarters last evening by Inspector George Farrell.

The prisoner is charged with having forged the name of Earl Lane of 14 Brighton street, Charlestown, to a check on the William Savings Bank amounting to $242, which he is alleged to have uttered to the paying teller of the Puritan Trust company.

Shortly after Jan. 9 Atkinson went to Bangor and hired a room on River street. When the strike occurred on the Bangor & Aroostook railroad he got a position as engineer. Through a letter sent to a friend Atkinson was located. Inspector Farrell got a lower court warrant and camped on the trail of the alleged forger.

After risking his life by crossing a network of tracks, the Boston inspector mounted a moving engine and placed Atkinson under arrest. At first the Boston man thought that it had something to do with the strike, but when Inspector Farrell made his mission known Atkinson is said to have wined.

The pair reached police headquarters about 7:30 last evening. The prisoner was booked and then locked up at the city prison for the night.

The arrested man and Lane, the complainant, had roomed together in Charlestown. Atkinson is charged, took his roommate's bank book, which had a balance of $500 at that time. When the accused had gotten through with it, the police say, it had a balance of but $7.85.

Although there is but one specific charge against Atkinson at present, others will be preferred against him, the police say.

What Our Modern Drug Store Service Means
To the People of Lowell

It means that you can buy a SUPERIOR GRADE of Drugs, Medicines, Rubber Goods, etc., than heretofore has been possible—and at Lower Prices. This is a broad statement to make but the facts prove it.

We operate an immense laboratory just for the purpose of testing, analyzing and bottling the goods we offer you. The Liggett laboratory is equipped with every modern device for guaranteeing absolute purity, maintaining the highest technical standard and constantly insuring your safety.

The purchasing power of our 57 stores, conducted as one, is remarkable. It is the reason why Liggett's Hall & Lyon Stores can and do sell standard articles at the ordinary cost price of most druggists—and still make a profit. We must make a profit or we could not continue in business—but we do not want an exorbitant profit. We realize that by selling goods at a small profit our stores will attract many times the number of customers than would be the case otherwise. It will pay you to remember this fact when shopping.

TO STRIKE ON MONDAY

Boston Garment Workers
Vote to Quit

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—The more than 5000 men and women members of Boston United Garment Workers' union, the makers of men's clothing will strike at every Boston factory Monday morning to enforce the eight-hour workday and better wages and conditions, and also as a step to assist the striking New York garment workers, much work from struck shops in that city being finished in Boston shops. It is declared by the union members.

Other than the public notice of the fact that all the employees will strike and of the demands, no notification will be given to the employers until Monday morning, when, after the hands have struck, the committees of the unions will call upon each firm and as rapidly as they sign their hands will be ordered back.

For the members of all the unions of coat, pants and vest makers, the demands are for the eight-hour workday, no overtime work, recognition of the union, abolition of the sub-contracting system and the sending of work to tenement houses to be finished and proper sanitary conditions at every shop.

The wage rate requests for the pants and vest maker will be for the same day wage for the eight-hour workday as is now paid for the 10-hour workday.

Unanimous For Strike
The wage raises demand for the coat makers under the desired eight-hour day system are: For those now getting $12 a week or less, a raise of 15 per cent; for those whose present wage rate is between $12 and $15, a raise of 10 per cent; and for all who now received more than $15 a week, a raise of 5 per cent.

The vote to strike was practically unanimous, and when the decision was announced at the meetings held in the various halls at 734 Washington street, there was continued and tumultuous cheering by the men and women members who had remained until just after midnight for the result of the ballot.

It was almost the unanimous wish of the members that the strike take

BUILD BOAT AND ESCAPE

Boys in Reformatory
Worked for 3 Months

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—After working for months building a boat, which was finished only a few days ago, and collecting provisions and clothing, two boys yesterday made their escape from the reformatory on Bainsford Island.

The boys, Harry Sargent, 16 years old, of 3 Corbin street, Dorchester, and Edward Sullivan, 17, who lived at 20 Village street, Boston, had been at the island since early in the summer and under the special care of the superintendent of the school, who taught them the carpenter's trade. For the last few weeks they have done all the odd jobs of repairing about the school.

Late in the afternoon the boys could not be found at the roll call, and an investigation was started. At first it was believed that they had stolen a boat and rowed to the Quincy shore by way of Long Island, but it was soon found that all the boats were in their usual places. The wardens were inclined to believe that they were still on the island and all the guards were ordered out. Every nook and corner was searched without avail.

Late last night the watchman found several long marks in the sand. With the aid of his lantern he made out the tracks left by a boat which had been drawn down to the water's edge since the last tide. He also found a large patch of grass trodden down. Con- cealed from the passby with alder bushes, chips and shavings were strewn about on the ground.

The watchman reported the discovery to the wardens, and another investigation indicated that the boys had built a boat.

Yesterday afternoon the wind was blowing directly toward Long Island, and with the incoming tide, which at 5 o'clock would be at full flow, the boys could make a successful voyage to the island.

The Quincy police were notified and several officers are guarding the roads leading from places where the boys may effect a landing.

BLAMES CAT'S BACK
Electricity There Caused Explosion of Asphyxiation Tank, Providence Animal
Catcher Fears

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 31.—Official dog catcher Herbert A. Dean of this city has put a poster up to the experts at Brown university. What he wants to know is: Has a cat got enough electricity in its back to explode a big gas tank?

Officer Dean took a cat to his tank yesterday in Lockwood street. When he put it into the tank for suffocation the receptacle exploded, slightly injuring his employee, Earl Brown, and singeing Dean's hair.

If it had been the first time the tank had exploded, Dean said, he would think nothing of it, but he said that the last time he put a cat into the tank, several months ago, the same thing happened. Dog after dog has been killed in the tank, but never an explosion.

"Tony Mack" Dead
LEWISTON, Me., Jan. 31.—Anthony E. McDonough, widely known in New England as "Tony Mack," died suddenly at his home on Bridge street last evening. He had been suffering from a severe cold and the day before yesterday went to Lowell to attend a funeral and got chilled.

"IZZY" DID GOOD JOB

Tailor Cleaned Up $1525
by Fire

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The excellence of the service the "Arson Trust" furnished its clients was vividly described yesterday under arrest from Davett. Kleinberg is under indictment for arson, first degree.

In his confession, given out by the district attorney, Kleinberg said he had concluded that a fire was the best way to recover his losses in the tailoring business. Friends told him about "Izzy the Painter," and he arranged with "Izzy" to do the job for $1500.
removed the most valuable rolls of cloth, locked his shop and gave "Izzy" the key. The next morning, he said, the condition of the place justified
"Izzy's" reputation.

Four more indictments were found today by the grand jury in its investigation of arson.

Actor Byrne to be Ordained as Priest

BALTIMORE, Jan. 31.—Michael J.
Byrne, one of the brothers of "Eight Bells" fame, will be ordained a priest next June in St. Francis academy, Loretto, near Altoona, Pa.

Byrne is now a sub-deacon. The actor's family has kept the secret for almost four years, but Byrne's intention became known in this city last night.

DEEMED REMARKABLE CASE

Boy and Girl are Born to Mrs. Declan
Troy of Yonkers, N. Y., 32 Hours
Apart

YONKERS, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Tonkers physicians are watching with interest the condition of two infants who were born 32 hours apart. They regard the case as remarkable.

Mrs. Declan Troy, of 3 Dale place, is the proud mother. The first child, boy, was born on Monday at 6 a. m., and the second, a girl, came at 3 o'clock the following afternoon. The boy weighed a little more than eight pounds and the girl nine pounds.

Dr. Clarence W. Buckmaster said that mother and both infants are doing well. In fact, he said, Mrs. Troy is up and around. He said he expected the birth of the second child momentarily and after many hours had passed he called in Dr. Stephen Leo for consultation.

BACHELORS UP IN ARMS

Over Declaration That
They Should be Barred

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Bachelors of both the senate and house today are lying in wait for Dillingham of Vermont. While the senator has not yet been found it is not believed he is in hiding despite the allegations. The trouble arose because of the Vermont senator's declaration at a local church last night that bachelors should not be admitted to the country. Mr. Dillingham is chairman of the immigration committee of the senate. In view of the fact that many of these men are married, he told his hearers, referring to the tide of immigration flowing to these shores, that they leave their wives and chil-

DEMAND THAT DECATUR STREET BE WIDENED OR THAT AIKEN STREET BE EXTENDED

VIEW OF DECATUR STREET SHOWING ITS NARROWNESS

The above photograph of Decatur street will give the public an idea of the narrowness of this street, which is the center of considerable traffic and also the necessity of quick action on the part of the municipal council to either widen the street, or to make a one-way street of it, or again to extend Aiken street from Merrimack street to Salem street, and thus avoid the repetition of numerous accidents which have occurred in this narrow passage-way recently.

Some time last year a petition signed by Alexander Archambault and others, asking that Decatur street be widened, was presented to the council and a hearing was given. Several people spoke in favor of the project, among them being Mr. Archambault and Mr. Ephraim Pelletier, both owners of real estate in said street. It seemed that Mr. Archambault wanted the city to widen the street by purchasing Mr. Pelletier's property on the opposite side of the street, while Mr. Pelletier advocated the widening on Mr. Archambault's side.

Commissioner Barrett suggested relief of the situation by extending Aiken street from Merrimack street to Salem street, but nothing was done and the conditions are unchanged.

Decatur street is 112 feet wide, which means about one-fourth of the width of an ordinary street. It extends from Merrimack street opposite St. Jean Baptiste church to Salem street between Common street and Hancock avenue, and is greatly used both ways. When two wagons meet, one is forced to travel over the sidewalk much to the detriment of the walk and fences, or a collision occurs. This narrow street is a menace to pedestrians, for one never knows when a horse will be driven on the sidewalk. Besides sidewalks and fences are damaged.

Under the circumstances, it is suggested that the city should take action against him if he did not repair the break on the wall. He said he will not do it until something is done to relieve the situation.

As it was exclusively published in The Sun a few days ago, Jan. 24, a horse ran away in Decatur street after a collision with a wagon owned by the A. I. Brooks Co., and considerable damage was done.

A couple of days later another of Brooks' wagons collided with one owned by the Mussey laundry and a runaway was narrowly averted. Several other accidents have occurred in this narrow street quite recently, and it seems that people are bound to drive their horses through just the same. Of course it is a short cut and everyone is taking advantage of it notwithstanding the danger.

The people in that vicinity demand relief from this state of affairs and this relief can come only from widening Decatur street, or making it a one-way street and extending Aiken street.

men in the old country it would be a good thing for this nation to rule that only married men accompanied by their families shall enter the gates." The bachelors in congress are non-

Unless the senator is able to prove an alibi the free men in the capital intend to take him severely to task.

SOCIALIST UNSEATED

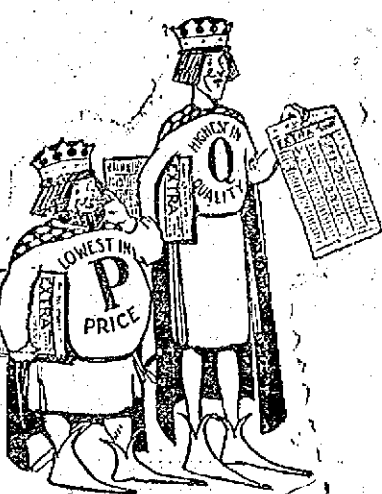

Kansas Senate Ousts Its Only Member of This Party Because of Votes by Missourians

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 31.—The Kansas state senate yesterday unseated its only socialist member, Fred Stanton of Crawford county, by a vote of 28 to 10 in favor of E. E. Porter, republican. Evidence tended to show that men crossed the line from Missouri to vote for Stanton, and that many aliens voted.

Conservation of Cattle

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 31.—Letters urging the conservation of the cattle of the country so that the supply of beef will meet the demands of an increasing number of consumers were sent from here today by R. H. Woodbury, secretary of the National Livestock exchange, to the governors of all states in which legislatures are in session. Legislation is asked forbidding the slaughter or sale of calves or cows under three years of age except those sent for breeding purposes.

Mr. Woodbury also urged leading livestock men of the country to support the proposed legislation.

Such Values You Have Never Seen Before!

The Suits and Overcoats being shown and sold at the P. & Q. Shop are greater values than any man in the city has ever seen in his life. We say this without fear of contradiction by anybody.

Our way of doing business is to offer you not only first-class values always at the same prices---$10 and $15, but to place within your easy reach such extra values that you cannot afford not to take them.

This week we continue the sale of a special lot of Suits and Overcoats made up from the special purchase of all-wool fabrics to which we referred last week. Remember, these are extra values, not "mark downs." While this is a special sale, it is not a cut-price sale. It is special because the values are special, although the prices remain the same---

EXPLOSION IN LABORATORY

Rockefeller Institute Building in New York Shaken and Neighborhood Alarmed—Nobody Hurt

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—One of the Rockefeller Institute buildings was shaken to its foundations yesterday by an explosion in the chemical laboratory. The detonation alarmed the neighborhood and kindled a fire in the experimental room. It was extinguished before the arrival of the fire apparatus.

Dr. La Farge, working under instructions from Dr. Alexis Carrel, had completed an experiment and stepped out of the door when the explosion occurred. He was injured from his feet but was not hurt. Plaster from ceilings and walls was torn down in several rooms of the building.

WOMEN APPEAL FOR RIGHT TO VOTE

400 From Every Section of the Country Appeared Before the House Committee Today

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Four hundred women from every section of the country appeared today before the house committee on presidential and congressional elections to appeal for the passage of the French bill to give women the right to vote for representatives in congress. Heading the petitioners was the Rev. Olympia Brown of Racine, Wis., president of the National Women's Equality League of the United States and with them were a dozen members of congress, including representatives from each of the nine equal suffrage states.

"THE PENALTY OF DELAY"

Wilson Obligated to Call a Dentist

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—President-elect Wilson does not feel that he is limited in picking his cabinet to the men who have been suggested to him by political leaders and friends of candidates. While riding to Philadelphia from Princeton to see a dentist, he read some of the published reports which drew the inference that because he was unable in his conversation with the correspondents last night to recall off-hand who had been suggested for the secretaryship of state besides Mr. Bryan the selection of the Nebraska was indicated.

"There is absolutely no justification for that inference," declared Mr. Wilson today. "I could not recall the names of men who have been suggested for portfolios other than the secretaryship of state, either."

"And I might be making some nominations of my own, for I certainly will not feel bound to confine myself merely to names that have been suggested to me."

The governor took occasion to reiterate that Col. E. M. House, his intimate friend who also is close to Mr. Bryan, had not gone to Miami, Fla., at his direction.

The governor has found that he will have to give up several days between now and inauguration for trips to the dentist. "It's the penalty of years of delay," he said regretfully.

MERRIMACK VALLEY WATERWAYS BOARD RECOMMENDS
A U. S. SURVEY TO FIX PLAN TO DEVELOPE RIVER

THE MERRIMACK VALLEY WATERWAYS BOARD

The Merrimack valley waterway board, appointed by the governor to look into the feasibility of developing the Merrimack river from the sea to the New Hampshire state line, has reported and advises that the cost of improvement be shared by state and national governments, and that immediate action be taken to procure a U. S. survey that will fix upon a definite plan and give an estimate of the cost.

The report was presented to the legislature yesterday and reads as follows:

"The first meeting of the board was held Aug. 29, 1912. Inspections have been made of the river from Lowell to the sea; public hearings have been held at Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, Amesbury and Newburyport; and the subject matter of this inquiry has been discussed by the members of the board with many business men, city and town officials and others, for the purpose of ascertaining facts and the desires of the public along this river.

"By means of a circular letter and by personal inquiries, a large amount of statistical matter has been collected.

"The board has been accorded the great privilege of several conferences with the United States engineer officer at Boston, within whose district this river is located, and who now is making an inquiry and examination of the river, which authorized and requires the secretary of war to cause preliminary examinations and surveys to be made at certain localities, including the Merrimack river, with a view to securing depth from Lowell to the sea or in any part of this section of the river. A copy of the stenographic report of a public hearing on this subject held by this officer and copies of the reports of public hearings given by the board, have been exchanged.

Map Prepared

"A map of the entire river from the sea to the boundary line between Massachusetts and New Hampshire has been prepared, compiled from surveys made by the United States, by the commonwealth of Massachusetts and from other sources. On this map are shown the shore lines, depth of water, bridges and dams, the topographical features of the territory adjoining the river, the boundary lines of cities and towns, and other details of interest which will be helpful in dealing with questions which demand consideration.

"Surveys are being made by the board in the vicinity of the dam at Lawrence for the purpose of obtaining the data necessary for determining if possible the feasibility and practicability of a project for a new channel for the passage of water craft from a point in the river below this dam to the pool above it.

"For many years a dam, locks and canals have been in existence at Lowell, owned and controlled by the Proprietors of the Locks and Canals, also a dam, locks and canals at Lawrence, owned and controlled by the Essex company. There have been developed at both of these cities great manufacturing industries calling for all available water power for their maintenance and use. Special reference to these dams has been made in reports of the United States engineers in considering projects for improving this river for the purposes of navigation to and above the same.

New Hampshire Commission

"In response to a written request, the governor of New Hampshire has appointed a commission of three citizens of that state to confer with this board, as it is recognized that the development of the Merrimack river in Massachusetts for the purposes of navigation must be beneficial to New Hampshire generally and particularly to the communities along the river within that state.

"Communications have been sent to cities and towns inquiring whether or not they would be willing, provided the necessary authority, therefore, is obtained from the legislature, to acquire by purchase or otherwise the land bordering on this river, and to build thereon, and equip and operate for public uses wharves or suitable landing places to be used in conjunction with an improved river channel of adequate depth from the mouth to Lowell.

"The board is advised that up to the date of this report the United States engineer officer at Boston has not made his report in response to the requirement of the River and Harbor Act of March 2, 1912, previously referred to. It is hoped, however, that the information which he has obtained as a result of his examinations and inquiries will be sufficient and of a character to justify a recommendation for an allotment for a further survey of this river to be followed by a project for improvement, and an appropriation by congress.

"The board is impressed with the importance of this subject as bearing upon the growth and prosperity of this section of the commonwealth, and is convinced of the necessity of this great waterway for commercial purposes. In view, however, of the adverse opinions hitherto expressed by the representatives of the general government who have passed on the matter, because of the large expense involved in the undertaking, and in view of the increasing and urgent demands of other sections of the country for waterway improvements calling for large expenditures, it is apparent that there may be a delay of years in obtaining from congress appropriations sufficient to carry out the project.

FUNERALS

CORNELL—The funeral of Charles M. Cornell was held at the home of his wife, Mrs. M. J. Cornell, at North Chelmsford, yesterday afternoon. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock. The Rev. J. L. Roberts sang "Sweet Bye and Bye," and "The Christian's Hope." The Rev. J. L. Roberts, Frederick H. Caswell, and John Bridgeford. The burial was in Riverside cemetery. Undertakers in charge of the funeral were Messrs. J. B. Currier Co.

GAUDREAU—The funeral of Daniel Gaudreau took place this morning from his home, 26 Hamilton street, at 10 o'clock. The Rev. J. L. Roberts officiated. The Rev. J. L. Roberts, Frederick H. Caswell, and John Bridgeford. The burial was in Riverside cemetery. Undertakers in charge of the funeral were Messrs. J. B. Currier Co.

MARTIN—The funeral of Grace V. Martin took place from the home of her brother, Edward P. Martin, at 14 Lincoln street, this morning at 9:15 o'clock. The Rev. J. L. Roberts officiated. The Rev. J. L. Roberts, Frederick H. Caswell, and John Bridgeford. The burial was in Riverside cemetery. Undertakers in charge of the funeral were Messrs. J. B. Currier Co.

cient to pay the whole cost of improving the river to the extent desired by the citizens of the Merrimack valley.

Work Under War Dept.

"Assuming, therefore, that the state would be unwilling to pay the whole cost of such an improvement as would be approved by the war department, it is respectfully suggested and recommended that it cooperate with the federal government by paying a portion of the cost and making such appropriations, from time to time, as may be necessary to carry out under the direction and control of the war department works of improvement in this river necessary to make it navigable from the sea to the boundary line between the states of Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

"Until it is definitely known, within a reasonable time, whether or not the federal government will take favorable action, it does not seem necessary or advisable for this state to attempt to make a comprehensive plan for development such as chapter 708 of the acts of 1912 calls for; but there are many questions which should be studied and investigated, particularly those relating to the further development of power, and to the building and maintenance of wharves and terminal facilities which are especially required by the war department to be reported upon in connection with examinations and surveys made for river and harbor improvements by the United States engineers.

"It is the opinion of the board its term of office should be extended to March 15, 1914, to enable it to make further surveys and examinations, and a report on or before February 1, 1914, in order that if the government acts favorably, there may be no delay on the part of the state and the various municipalities in carrying out such work, supplementary to that of the government, as will provide the facilities necessary to carry on the large amount of business which will surely follow the opening to navigation of the whole river."

Mr. and Mrs. George Rousseau and Miss Hannah Harrington. The funeral arrangements were under the direction of Undertaker George R. McKenna.

Physician Valuation of Railroads

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Favorable report on the bill to authorize a physical valuation of railroads is expected early next week from the senate committee on interstate commerce. Senator La Follette has it in charge and it is said the committee approves his recommendations. The bill has passed the house.

Recommendations for legislation to perfect and strengthen the Sherman anti-trust law were discussed today by the committee. While no agreement has been reached it is understood the committee will make an urgent appeal for adoption of amendments to make the Sherman law more effective in its control of trusts and monopolies.

The anti-trust report will be considered at another meeting of the committee Monday.

Whist Party

Last evening the home of Mrs. J. J. Campbell, 160 Andover street was the scene of a happy gathering of ladies who for a couple of hours enjoyed a spirited game of prize whist. The first prize, a curio to be treasured for years, fell to the lot of Miss Ella Riley, and the second to Mrs. Breckman. After which another social hour was spent in both instrumental and vocal music. Refreshments were indulged in and a general good time was enjoyed. During the evening refreshments were served. The ladies departed at a late hour all agreeing that the party was one of the most pleasant they had attended for some time.

FREE LIST OF TARIFF SECOND DARROW TRIAL

Furnished Concluding Former Counsel for Mc Namaras Arraigned

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The free list of the tariff furnished the concluding chapter today of hearings before the house committee on ways and means. The free list, the administrative features of the Payne-Aldrich laws and miscellaneous matters in connection with customs duties were under fire with prospects for winding up of the tariff hearings tomorrow. Half a hundred witnesses were on the program. The free list covers articles whose estimated domestic production in 1911 was $11,100,000 and consumption $11,500,000, out of a grand total of $22,014,000,000 production and $21,523,000,000 consumption of all articles in the 14 schedules and free list of the Payne-Aldrich law.

In 1911 congress passed and President Taft vetoed the free list bill framed by Chairman Underwood's committee. That measure proposed to put on the free list agricultural implements, cotton bagging, cotton ties, leather, boots and shoes, furs, silks, meats, cereals, breads, flour, lumber, sewing machines, salt and other articles.

President Taft's veto on the ground that the bill would diminish the revenue by from $10,000,000 to $14,000,000. Democratic leaders now figure on putting on the free list at the coming extra session substantially the same articles that were on the free list two years ago.

ED. CHAPMAN BURIED

Funeral of Man Who Was Killed Wednesday

The funeral of Edward Chapman, the West Chelmsford man, who was electrocuted while at work at Fletcher's quarry, on Wednesday, took place from his home this afternoon. After leaving the late home of deceased the funeral cortege proceeded to the West Chelmsford Methodist church, where services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Crawford. The services were largely attended and sorrow was evident on all sides. Following the church services the remains were consigned to their final resting place in the Chelmsford cemetery. The funeral was in charge of Undertaker Walter Perham.

INCREASE IN SHIPPING

Due to Doubling of the Freight Rates

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—High rates for trans-oceanic freight, are caused by supply and demand rather than by conference agreements, among steamship lines, W. G. Sickle of the Hamburg-American S. S. Co. today told the house shipping trust committee. The doubling in freight rates in the past two or three years, he said, "is the result of a vast increase in shipping which now exceeds the amount of tonnage available to carry it. We are forced to maintain reasonable rates by the fear of competition from regular lines outside of the conference and from tramp ships. We naturally try to get as much out of the business as possible up to the danger point of killing the business or driving the business to the tramp ships."

"These tramp steamers that you say control rates are practically all owned by the conference lines," said Rep. Humphrey.

"I don't admit that," said Mr. Humphrey, "but I make the statement that a majority of these tramps are owned or controlled by the conference lines. These conference lines use them to handle their surplus freight."

Protest By President Taft

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Protest was made to President Taft today by the entire Maine congressional delegation and Senator-elect Burleigh against the plan to make Portland the only port of customs entry in the state.

Attorney General Wickersham, however, gave an opinion today that the president's power to reorganize the customs service in accordance with the act passed at the last session of congress will permit the treasury department plan of reorganization to be carried out practically as originally drawn.

Many other protests from other states than Maine have been registered, though it is understood President Taft approves the plan of consolidation.

Rebel Attack Threatened

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Consul Philip S. Holland at Saltillo, Mexico, reports the nearby town of Viesca threatened with a rebel attack. The rebel leader, Antonio Rodriguez, has been ordered to Saltillo. The Saltillo San Luis Potosi produce 2000 goats so that he may feed his 1500 revolutionists.

To Dedicate Duck

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Special efforts are to be made to get ready the great naval dry dock at Bremerton to receive a warship, probably the Oregon, before March 1. The purpose is to dedicate the dock as a compliment to President Taft's administration under which it was begun.

Fire in Brockton School

BROCKTON, Jan. 31.—Fire started in a pile of wood in the basement of the Kingman school on Kingman street last evening, doing a damage of $500. The cause is unknown. When the firemen reached the big wooden school building corner of it was enveloped in flames, while smoke was pouring from all the windows.

The flames were kept from reaching the first floor, except in one corner, where the fire damaged one room.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 31.—The second trial of Clarence S. Darrow, former counsel for the McNamara brothers, on a jury bribery charge growing out of the famous dynamite trial, began today.

Darrow is alleged to have bribed Robert Hain, a sworn juror in the McNamara case, through Bert Franklin, who was a detective for the McNamara defense but became the chief witness against Darrow in his trial on the charge of having tried to bribe George Lockwood, a McNamara victim. Soon after the close of the McNamara trial Hain confessed to having taken a bribe from Franklin.

10 LIVES WERE LOST

Lieut. and Crew Believed to Have Perished

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Lieut. Humphrey Smith and nine bluejackets belonging to the crew of the British cruiser Percussus are believed to have been lost while watching the pirates on the Oman coast of the Persian gulf. They had been detached in one of the cruiser's cutters, which it is feared sank with all hands during a recent gale as no trace of them has since been found.

LAST OF TRIPLETS DEAD

Infants Died Together Today

Elizabeth and Asakia Itusson, aged one month and nine days, died at the Lowell General Hospital this forenoon. They were two of the triplets born to George and Rose Itusson of 25 Adams street. The third child died shortly after the birth of the triplets and the other two were sent to the hospital in order that they might receive scientific care. They were quite frail and both of them passed away this morning.

PRETTIEST BRIDE-TO-BE

Miss Williams to Wed Mr. Schermerhorn

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Amos Cutting Schermerhorn, well known in New York society and club circles, and Miss Georgiana Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phelps Williams, of No. 1056 Fifth avenue, took out a marriage license yesterday. Mr. Schermerhorn, who lives with his brother, J. E. Schermerhorn, at No. 25 East Seventy-ninth street, gave his age as twenty-four, and Miss Williams said she was nineteen.

When the young couple entered the city hall, they succeeded—with no desire on their part, however, to attract attention—in breaking up a number of conferences and the routine work of even the biggest city officials. For it was the unanimous opinion that Miss Williams is the prettiest girl who ever visited city hall. Neither she nor her fiancé, however, seemed to heed the attention Miss Williams' beauty attracted, and as soon as the necessary papers had been signed, they hurried away in a big limousine car.

Mr. Schermerhorn said the wedding will take place on February 20, at the Fifth avenue residence of Miss Williams. It is, he said, to be a very quiet affair. His brother will be best man, and Miss Katie Schermerhorn, his sister, will be Miss Williams' maid of honor and only attendant. Coadjutor Bishop Nelson of Albany, will perform the ceremony.

REPUBLICANS ORGANIZED

Met Last Night and Elected Officers—William L. Robertson Chosen Chairman

The republican city committee organized last night by electing William L. Robertson chairman, Herbert L. Chapman vice-chairman, and Edward T. Goward secretary and treasurer. Mr. Chapman, the vice-chairman, was a strong supporter of Theodore Roosevelt in the national republican convention as a delegate from this district. He voted for Roosevelt for president, but has always retained his position in the republican organization.

BOB VEAL FIGHT ABSURD

Dr. Chapin Declares it is Good to Eat

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Of all the absurd fights waged by the so-called "pure food reformers," the most absurd is that against the sale of "bob veal," according to the declaration of Dr. C. V. Chapin of Providence, one of the vice-presidents of the Massachusetts Board of Health Association.

This assertion was made yesterday afternoon by Dr. Chapin at the annual meeting of the association at the Hotel Brunswick, at which he read a paper on the best means of expending the appropriations of "boards of health."

There are many absurd fights being carried on by persons against the sale of certain especially impure foods," said Dr. Chapin, "but of all the fights which are now and have been under way the most absurd is that against the sale of bob veal."

"Bob veal is all right as an article of food if we but know it is bob veal when we buy it. This meat sometimes makes people sick, but so do strawberries and lobsters."

Dr. Samuel H. Hargis, recently re-elected as the chairman of the Boston board of health, was elected to the presidency of the association to succeed Dr. Henry P. Walcott, chairman of the state board of health, who has been president of the association many years.

The other officers include Professor W. T. Sedgwick of Brookline, first vice-president; Dr. C. V. Chapin of Providence, second vice-president; John C. Coffey of Worcester, secretary; Dr. Francis G. Curtis of Boston, treasurer; and the following executive committee: Dr. M. V. Pierce, Newton; George Balling, Brookline; Dr. H. A. Chase, Brookline; W. S. Underwood, Belmont; and Dr. F. A. Woods of Holyoke.

Two Days' Pay After 27 Years
BOSTON, Jan. 31.—The two days' pay which "Charley" Connell, a Swamscott policeman, received a few days ago after waiting 27 years for it, was spent by him yesterday for several things he needed, after he found that most every person in the town was stopping him to inquire about his good fortune in receiving the money.

It seems that "Charley" was a teamster before he joined the force and, when he left his job, two days' pay was coming to him. He told a friend about it and his friend got busy on the quiet and the result was that the money was forwarded to the ex-teamster, much to his surprise and gratification.

Send $15,000 for Home Rule
BOSTON, Jan. 31.—A contribution of $15,000 from Philadelphia to aid in the fight for Irish home rule was yesterday forwarded to the Hon. John E. Redmond, M. P., John Fitzgibbon, Esq., M. P., and the Hon. Patrick O'Donnell, D. P., by Thomas B. Fitzpatrick, national treasurer of the United Irish League.

The money, all collected since the recent convention of the league in this country, is only a part of what Philadelphia intends to send to Ireland and is one of the many contributions sent to the trustees from Pennsylvania.

LORDS VOTE DOWN BILL

Home Rule Measure Rejected by Big Majority

LONDON, Jan. 31.—After a four-days' discussion, the house of lords last night rejected the home rule bill, 326 to 69. The result was a foregone conclusion.

The speeches aroused little interest because, as the Earl of Halsbury pathetically observed, the position of the house was now that of an ordinary debating club—the peers could express their views and reject the bill, but they could not prevent it from becoming law.

Nevertheless, the largest muster of peers since the fatal evening they passed the parliament bill assembled in the house and begemmed peeresses thronged the side galleries.

Lord Lansdowne wound up the debate for the opposition; Lord Morley of Blackburn for the government. The scene was altogether lacking in the dramatic excitement which accompanied the lords' rejection of Mr. Gladstone's bill in 1885 by a far greater majority, 375.

The attendance of peers was quite black until a couple of hours before division was taken and the speeches failed to infuse new life into the well-worn arguments. Lord Morley, in closing the debate, remarked the absence of the ferocity which characterized the debates on the Gladstonian measure, and, replying to Lord Lansdowne's warning that the giving of home rule to Ireland would be a menace to England if England ever were involved in serious international trouble, reminded Lord Lansdowne that his own land policy would give Ireland cash or credit to the extent of two hundred millions British money, and that Lord Lansdowne would scarcely be likely to do that if he really believed that Ireland were likely to become England's enemy.

Lord Curzon of Kedleston, in a speech earlier in the evening, also referred to the flatness of the debate, had shown over the bill and to "the one debate in the house of commons," deplorable and unutterable flatness of

FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Grange Schoolmates of County Antrim, Ireland Held Reunion at Celtic Hall Wednesday Evening

A very pretty and homelike assembly was held Wednesday evening at the Celtic hall in Middle street of the former schoolmates, friends and relatives of the Grange school in County Antrim, Ireland.

At 8:30 the meeting was called to order by the chairman of the evening, Mr. Bernard Hamilton and from that time until an early hour of the morning the hall was filled with laughter and merriment. A letter of regret was read from Mrs. Hon. Mayor O'Donnell and from several others who expressed their desire to be present, but being detained on account of business.

Mr. Hamilton in brief stated that it was the first anniversary of his kind to be held in the eastern states and sincerely hoped that it would be adopted by other members of the Irish schools now living in America. He also stated that he believed that in a very short time that this assembly, which was voted to meet at least once a year,

Thieves Take Roof of House
CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Chicago robbers set a new record yesterday when they ripped off the roof of a house in the edge of the town district and carried it away. By an oversight they left the walls standing, but then perhaps that was because the walls were useless, being constructed of old timber, while the roof was of new lumber.

K. A. Williams, who is a night ticket agent at the North Ashland avenue station of the Chicago & Oak Park elevated railroad, is the owner of the roof which was carried away.

$10,000 Fire at Somersworth
SOMERSWORTH, N. H., Jan. 31.—Fire damaged the Roberts block and a tenement building on Fourth street last night, with a loss of about $10,000. The clothing store of M. Segal, in which the blaze started from some unknown cause, was burned out. A poolroom, shoe store and two tenements were damaged also by the flames and water.

IS DENIED ADMISSION
Castro Cannot Visit the United States

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Cipriano Castro, former president of Venezuela, was yesterday denied admission to the United States as a visitor by Charles Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor.

The Venezuelan's unwavering refusal to answer the question whether, while president of his country, he was a party to the killing of General Paredes was the cause of Secretary Nagel's order for his deportation.

Termed Pious Murder
The cabinet minister sustained the adverse report of the immigration authorities against Castro on the ground that his declaration to answer "may in itself constitute an admission by conduct" of the commission of a felony. The immigration law bars from entry any person convicted of or admitting the commission of a crime involving moral turpitude, providing it is not purely a political offense. The secretary held that the murder of Paredes was not a purely political crime.

Further, the secretary declared that an alien was compelled to answer "yes" or "no" any pertinent question regarding his admissibility. It permitted to refuse he admonished that "the immigration service might just as well adjourn."

Secret Service's Tip
The alleged information against Castro was furnished the department of commerce and labor by the state department and Secretary Nagel in his decision frankly admits that but for the state department's action Castro would probably have been admitted without question.

"Cipriano Castro's former position as president of Venezuela," he added, "would, under ordinary circumstances, have furnished further inducement for such action." The immigration bureau, he declared, had followed the same course in this case as that pursued in any other where official warning had been given regarding the character of an alien.

"It is officially charged," said Mr. Nagel, "that Castro, while president of Venezuela and in full possession of the authority of that state, directed the killing of Paredes without trial or hearing of any kind, Paredes at that time having been made a prisoner while engaged in a revolt against Castro."

The information that Castro ordered the killing of the general under these circumstances Mr. Nagel declares to be specific and confirmed by authenticated copies of original telegrams.

Rights of Alien
Regarding the broader question as to the right of an alien to answer well directed questions to determine his admissibility, the secretary holds that the recognition of that privilege would result virtually in the admission of all aliens because of the failure of proof against them. He disagrees with the contention that the admission of the commission of a felony cannot be forced under the immigration law, but must be voluntary.

"The alien is not in a criminal court where he might stand upon his rights and refuse to make a confession," concluded the secretary. "He is before an administrative body asking for the privilege to enter, and he is under the necessity of qualifying for that purpose."

LAXATIVE FOR OLD PEOPLE—"CASCARETS."

WHAT GLASSES ARE TO WEAK EYES—CASCARETS ARE TO WEAK BOWELS

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic, and the bowels are unelastic.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

would be one of the largest in the city of Lowell.

The special feature of the evening was the ovation tendered to their old school master, Hugh Francis Lagan, who is 50 years of age and still living in the old country. The ovation was one that if the old schoolmaster could have been present he would have been much in need of words to express his delight. After the applause had subsided, Chairman Hamill proposed to all present that in honor of the occasion and in appreciation of all that they have received from Master Lagan a token be forwarded to him in the old country. This was immediately put into motion, seconded and finally a committee appointed to forward Master Lagan a token most suitable for the occasion.

At this time refreshments were served and dancing was started. Music for the evening was furnished by the Grange school orchestra under the leadership of John Lafferty, well known with his fiddle. Mr. Lafferty also rendered several selections during the evening.

The committee in charge was as follows: James Graham, Bernard Hamill, Patrick Scully, Henry Brady, Patrick Scully, John McClellan, John Lafferty, John Scully, Edward Darrow, George McBrane.

Those present were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hamill, Mr. and Mrs. John Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Graham, Mr. and Mrs. John Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Nichol, Miss Neeson, Miss Scullin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mullin, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, Mr. Michael Duffy, Miss Marguerite Scullin, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scullin, Miss Rose Nichol, Miss Mary McNamara, Miss Mary Duffy, Miss Sahara Agnew, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McCann, Miss Mary Scullin, Mr. and Mrs. John Lafferty, Miss Sahara Scullin, Miss Maria Drain, Miss Bridget Gribbin, Mr. and Mrs. Peter McBrane, Miss Lizzie Gribbin, Mr. and Mrs. James Scullin, George H. ED. MELOY, EX-FIRE ENGINEER, DEAD BATES MAKES FORMAL STATEMENT

One of the Bravest Fire Fighters of His Day

Edward Meloy, formerly assistant chief engineer of the fire department, and well known throughout the city for his long term of service with the local fire department, died last night at his home, 30 Fort Hill avenue, at the age of 66 years. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Marietta Hogan, and two sons, William J. and Fred E., all of this city.

In the death of Mr. Meloy the members of the fire department lose a valuable friend, one whom they loved and esteemed most highly.

Mr. Meloy was born in this city on Dec. 16, 1847. He joined the Excelsior No. 1, hand engine company, as torch boy, in 1861, and two years later was promoted to a regular member of the department. In 1876 he was transferred to Mazonia Hose 4, and promoted to the board of engineers in 1883, while three years later he was made assistant chief engineer.

THE LATE EDWARD MELOY

Deceased had quite a number of narrow escapes during his long career in the department, and was considered one of the best fire fighters in the country.

Of his many experiences during his years of service the one at the burning of the Centralville bridge in Bridge street, in 1882, stands out before the others. Together with three other members, Engineer Meloy was stationed on the bridge directing a stream of water on the flames, when without the slightest warning the span on which he was standing gave way and he with his companions was thrown into the river below.

Engineer Meloy landed on the edge of the stream and was able to save himself from drowning by clinging to a plank which fortunately was large enough to bear his weight. The falling of a large beam struck him on the head, making a cut from the back of the head to the forehead, and required 14 stitches to close. The fall also caused temporary paralysis of one side of his body so that he was only able to use one arm to hold himself from falling into the water. In this position he remained for some time, the blood from his wound flowing down his face and blinding him, while the burning embers threw off smoke that all but smothered him. The minutes seemed like so many hours and it was only when he had almost given up the fight for his life that his comrades who had instituted a search immediately after the collapse, located him and pulled him to safety.

In his half dead and alive condition he was rushed to the nearest hospital and treated for his injuries. Dr. Fox was the surgeon who treated the fireman at that time, and he sewed up the wound without giving the injured man an anesthetic.

In July, 1898, Engineer Meloy was thrown from the Protective while responding to an alarm and he had seven or eight stitches taken in a laceration on the head; and at a fire in a building in Gorham street some time later he accidentally fell through a bulkhead and suffered severe bruises about the body.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Opera House
The phrase "moving pictures" conveys a wrong idea of the admirable show at the Opera House in which the wilds of Africa, the trapping of apes, jackals, lions, rhinos, cheetahs and many animals found only there are shown in pictures so natural and lifelike that one sees the hyena panting as if but twenty feet away, then the men getting into the cage in which it was carried to New York. The parade of the animals to the waterhole, the family of elephants, rhinos, giraffes, zebras, gazelles, monkeys, baboons and scores of others, is the most wonderful ever seen. Every child in Lowell and every teacher should see this exhibition.

There are many exciting incidents in the production of Paul J. Rainey's African hunt which is being shown at the Opera House all this week, with matinees daily.

One of these was when a lioness had been tracked by Mr. Rainey's Mississippi hounds, who play a most important part during the entire expedition and was finally brought to bay by the hounds. The lioness had a pair of cubs with her which were captured after a most thrilling incident. With the capture of her cubs she became a ferocious animal, without a second's warning broke through the ranks of the dogs and made directly

Says "Big Bill" Keliher Told of the Wrecking of the Cambridge Bank

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Former Governor Bates, receiver for the National City bank of Cambridge, issued a formal statement today in which he said William J. Keliher, the confidence man, had made to him a complete statement of the facts in the case so far as he had knowledge of them.

The bank was wrecked by George W. Coleman, a twelve dollar a week clerk, who was convicted of stealing $350,000 and is now serving a sentence of not less than five years nor more than eight years at Greenfield.

After his conviction he appeared as a witness against Keliher, who was charged with aiding in the looting of the bank. The young man told how he had been induced to go to New York with the promise of rich rewards for a "fixed" game only to find himself later the person defrauded.

It is understood that the receiver never has been satisfied in the three years since the bank was forced into insolvency that the stolen funds were all dissipated and has hoped through information that he thought Keliher might give to recover a portion of the stolen money. To what extent Keliher's statement would aid him, if at all, the receiver refused to say.

Mr. Bates also refused to confirm or deny that what Keliher had told him was along the line of a statement credited to Keliher and published here today. In the published story the confidence man is quoted as going into the details of his operations such as they were revealed in court.

Keliher is in the Charlestown state prison, where he is serving a sentence of from 15 to 18 years.

In reference to an alleged confession by William J. Keliher, published in one of the morning papers, Mr. Bates, the receiver of the bank, says that he is informed by the paper that published the alleged confession that it obtained its information directly from Mr. Keliher. Mr. Bates neither confirms nor denies the statement made in the article, further than to say that Mr. Keliher had made to him some weeks ago a complete statement of all the facts in the case, so far as he had knowledge of them.

It is known that the bill being given there this week is a good one. It contains four high-priced acts and a number of interesting photo plays. The performances are continuous—always something going on from 1 to 10:30 p. m.

LOOKING FOR MEMBERS

Y. M. C. A. Conducts Very Energetic Campaign

If you are not already a member of the Young Men's Christian Association the chances are that somebody will ask you today to join. The campaign for new members is booming and it is expected that the membership roll will be brought up to 2500 in the next eight days. Next Monday at 6:15 the first reports of the committee will be made at the supper to be held at the new association building.

A very excellent supper was served last night and there was no dearth of enthusiasm. There were over 50 men present and they took the names of over 1600 prospective members and will make a report of the canvass of these names next Monday.

Brief addresses were made by Secretary B. E. Yarnell, President F. A. Bowen, Boys' Secretary T. R. Williams, C. E. Fleming, chairman of the membership committee, W. S. Dillon, formerly secretary of the Lowell association, now secretary at Manchester, and H. E. Dodge, secretary of the Fall River association. Mr. Dodge said that the local building is quite large enough to accommodate 2000 people.

Agent For Incendiary Fires

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Harry Brown, member of a fire insurance adjusting firm was named as a booking agent for incendiary fires by witnesses examined today by Assistant State's Attorney Johnson, who is inquiring into the workings of the so-called arson trust. According to Johnson, witnesses told him that Brown solicited persons to furnish flats and houses for the single purpose of setting fire to them and collecting insurance. Brown is alleged to have instructed them how and when to take out their policies.

BON MARCHE EMPLOYEES

Enjoyed Sixth Annual Party at Lincoln Hall

Lincoln hall last night was the scene of a very pretty party, the occasion being the sixth annual dance of the Bon Marche Employees' Benefit Association. Early in the evening the hall was crowded, both with spectators and with the members and their friends who came to dance, and everyone present had a most delightful time.

No expense had been spared in the decorations for the hall, which were very elaborate. There was no definite color scheme, the draperies hung about the walls and the streamers that were lightly suspended from the central chandelier to the balcony, were of many different pastel shades, pink, blue, lavender, green and white. These dainty rainbow colorings furnished an admirable setting for the beautiful dresses worn by the girls, and when the dancing began it was a pretty sight to watch the gay throngs of dancers from the balcony.

A charming cozy corner had been added up for the matrons, where they received during the early part of the evening. The orchestra was stationed on the stage, which was banked with palms, concealing them from view.

The Middlesex Union orchestra provided the music for the dancing. There was a long and varied order of 20 dances, with an intermission after the tenth, during which light refreshments were served. The happy affair did not come to a close until midnight.

The matrons were as follows: Mrs. Walter E. Scott, Mrs. M. J. Ryan, Mrs.

J. S. Hastings, Mrs. P. H. Duval, Mrs. W. A. Squire, Mrs. C. E. Martin, Mrs. Sydney Whittman.

The officers of the dance were as follows: General manager, Frank E. McLean; assistant general manager, Mary Doherty; floor director, Margaret Murray; assistant floor directors, Anna Golden, Gertrude Holden; chief aid, Eva Sullivan; Jesse Campbell, Mary Breault, Ethel Rowe, Eugenia Heroux, Alma Lequin, Clara Nelson, Margaret Riley, Loda Delisle, Helen Allway, Jessie McAdams, Olive Lebon, Daisy Chase, M. J. Ryan, Frank Sullivan, James Rourke, Sydney Whittman, J. S. Hastings, Peter Corcoran.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

KEEP ABREAST OF THE TIMES

Edward T. Hartman, secretary of the Massachusetts Civic League, says: "For the past 100 years Boston has grown steadily worse as a place of residence. We are familiar with that style of domestication, for there are many among us who say that Lowell has grown worse as a place of residence. State-ments such as this are very sweeping, but they are usually based on a wrong point of view, or grossly exaggerated."

Some people do not keep abreast of the times. Their minds dwell on a past condition of affairs, more or less ideal, according to their fancy. To them all places and things deteriorate with time. People, on the other hand, who, knowing the past, look more to the responsibilities and needs of the present, see that progress brings many drawbacks to its trail, which must be remedied, if at all, not by extolling the past but by facing the future.

The changes of 100 years, or even of 50 years, are quite radical. Within that time has come an enormous increase of population, and factories and mills have multiplied enormously. Among the myriad inventions that have benefited mankind are the telephone, telegraph, trolley car, automobile. Some of our disgruntled critics should picture themselves as living in the communities of the "good old times" that they deplore, before the invention of any of these, not to mention the thousand things that have sprung up for the convenience of the people. The conditions that govern the past would be as far behind today as would be the stage coach of our ancestors for the transportation of the people.

But with improvements have also come new problems. In the advance of civilization the people who formerly worked in the mills and factories have progressed in the social scale, and in their place are immigrants from all the countries of Europe, crowding our later needs. A feeling of selfishness has grown with the multiplicity of manufactures. The employer no longer takes that personal interest in the employed that he did before the situation became complex. The cost of living has gradually increased with the result that in all our cities we find a large part of the population engaged in a struggle for existence. Some children of tender age work in the factories, and living conditions among the toilers are not what they should be.

It is not by deifying these conditions, however, and criticizing our cities as places of residence that good will come. At the demand of public spirit legislation is being daily enacted to meet these requirements. If, instead of selfishly deploring our fate, we give a little attention to public affairs and to the wants of those around us, we may find sufficient interest in present day conditions to keep our minds from dwelling on the "good old times" we hear so much about and to which none of us would care to return.

MAGNITUDE OF DIVORCE EVIL

Judge John B. Ratigan of the superior court made a very startling statement relative to the frequency of divorce, in an address delivered by him at the dinner of the Holy Cross club in Young's Hotel. He asserted that 124,000 children are orphaned in this state each year, and that about one million children are orphaned in the United States yearly, as a result of divorce. It used to be stated that the drink evil was the principal cause of children becoming public charges, but of late, the divorce evil shows signs of becoming fully as serious, if not, a great deal more so, in the breaking up of homes and casting minor children upon public charity. Judge Ratigan spoke from his experience in the divorce courts of this state. At a session of the court in Worcester, he said that he had 74 cases of divorce to consider in one day, although the court holds a session three every month, excepting July and August.

In this plain but emphatic manner, Judge Ratigan called attention to what is undoubtedly one of the greatest evils of our country today. It is one that demands attention from religious bodies and legislative throughout the land, in order that some means may be adopted to check its baneful effects. Some people suggest as a remedy uniformity of divorce laws, but a law that will prohibit divorce, except under the most extreme conditions, would be still better.

Divorce, however, has become so common of late that there is indisputable ground for the belief that many people get married with the intention that if they do not get along to their satisfaction, they will find some pretext to dissolve the union. It is also a fact that many people who are married form new friendships with a view to prospective divorce and subsequent marriage. These conditions are undermining the social fabric in our country today and unless they are effectively checked the consequences will ultimately be of the most disastrous character.

THE I. W. W. DOCTRINE

There is little doubt that the garment workers of New York deserve higher wages and better working conditions. Their cause is undoubtedly a just one, but we doubt whether it has been helped in any degree by the advocacy of the I. W. W. leaders. Ettore and Giovannitti took advantage of the strike to preach "sabotage." Ettore has been more guarded in his remarks, at least when delivering addresses in New York than has Giovannitti. The latter, however, seemed to court arrest in New York when he told the strikers that they always make a mistake if they go on strike without leaving the machinery of their employer in such a condition that the men who take the places of the strikers cannot use it. "When a striker leaves his machine behind him in perfect order," said Giovannitti, "he leaves behind him his chance of winning the strike"; therefore, in the opinion of the speaker, the striker is perfectly justified in loosening a screw or bolt or performing some delicate operation which would incapacitate the machine when the strike breaker attempted to use it.

This is a dangerous doctrine, indeed it may be called revolutionary or anarchistic. It is a doctrine that will injure any labor organization that adopts it, and there should be no hesitancy in condemning any so-called labor leader who preaches such a doctrine. It is in every way subversive of law and order, justice and right, and it should be met and suppressed by the strong arm of the law. Unable to use their special weapon of a general strike these ubiquitous agitators are now resorting to a policy of violence and the destruction of property, a policy that must be condemned by every man who loves justice and fair play.

FROM THE TENTH FLOOR

If only someone would invent a method of penetrating the walls of houses and the thoughts of men, a Sun reporter's life would be a journalistic paradise. From his tenth floor he can look out over the city and view all its activities. In one panorama his field of vision embraces Lowell to its limits in the four points of the compass—on one side, the postoffice, the jail, the spires of a dozen churches; on another, the city hall, textile school, gas house, a line of prosperous stores, a forest of mill chimneys, and beyond, the undulating mountains. Before his eye the smoke of industry comes up in fairy spirals, more dense betimes than he approves. Every sphere of activity is represented. The rivers and canals crawl on their harnessed way, the hum of wheels comes up, softened by distance, automobiles run by like Christmas toys, cars drag their elongated bodies lazily, people crawl like pigmies bent on business or pleasure. But, though it is all there, it is a riddle, to disentangle the threads of which the reporter must descend from his tenth floor, and move among the people.

These who sought to turn popular sentiment against Mr. Wilson before his election, by dwelling on his supposed aristocratic tendencies, should read what he says regarding the impossibility of holding a reception in Washington on the night of the inauguration: "I don't think a reception on that evening should be by invitation. In fact, unless it could be arranged on a democratic basis and no one excluded, which seems physically impossible, I would not favor it."

The militant suffragettes recently arrested in London wish to be treated as political prisoners. They resent being charged with the offense of "disorderly conduct," under which classification their acts are judged. We see nothing deserving of a more elegant title in the pouring of oil into letter-boxes, and the breaking of the windows of private property.

Swedish newspapers, commenting on the disclosure that Thorpe was a professional when he won prizes at the Stockholm Olympic games, take the view that he is entitled to those prizes on the ground that the question has been raised too late. There is not much gratification in honors thus retained, because of a technicality. Better for the name of American sportsmanship abroad that he surrender them, even at this late date.

Some of the waiters who lost their jobs by following the advice of the I. W. W. leaders in New York showed their appreciation of the doctrine they had followed by throwing bricks through the windows of the I. W. W. hall. The bricks were probably meant to offset the bouquets thrown at themselves by the leaders of the organization.

ALICE AND MAY

Say, May, have you been reading any of the Boston papers lately? No, I've been too busy lately to find time to read anything but The Sun. I've been out almost every evening this week. Monday night I went to the Merrimack Square theatre to hear Frank Bush—he's certainly awfully funny. Tuesday night some girls came to see me, and we sat talking about the pretty dresses at the 15th Hour cotton, and they didn't go home until it was very late. Wednesday, I went to the high school officers' ball, and I had the loveliest time ever. Last night I saw Harnden. Isn't it wonderful the way he gets out of that milk can? You see, Alice, I don't have much time to read the newspapers. Why did you ask me about the Boston papers?

I was wondering if you had noticed all the Lowell news in them. If they never knew it before, Bostonians must realize now that Lowell makes quite a big spot on the map of Massachusetts, after all. Yes, what was the news? About the water main?

That was one thing. Well, that break was certainly a pretty bad thing, and it did a lot of damage. Commissioner Barrett and Mr. Thomas must have done a lot of worrying that morning. But what was the other news?

Well, there was that romance between the baseball pitcher and the Lowell girl, who first met her father, a husband at a Lawrence and Lowell game. It seems queer to think that a romance such as you read about in novels, has happened right here in our own city. I never cared much for baseball, but I'm going to ask my brother to take me to a few of those games next summer.

Yes, May, and it's perfectly awful just think of the impression people in other cities will get of Lowell. What they ought to be ashamed of is that it is. The idea of anything like that happening in our city. Why, for goodness sake, Alice, what are you talking about? What is it that is so disgraceful?

To you mean to say you don't know May? Aren't you interested in what is going on in your own city?

Of course I am, but I don't know what you're talking about, now. Please hurry up and tell me. I'm getting so curious.

Well, it's about everyone getting drunk in Lowell. Everybody getting drunk? What, you don't mean that surely, Alice?

Well, no, not exactly, May. But one of the Boston papers said, the other day, that "one out of every thousand persons in Lowell was cited for drunkenness. I guess it's true, too."

That is certainly terrible, Alice. But what can they do about it? Judge Knight wants to start an investigation. Some people, I suppose, know what they're talking about, but I don't see how they can do anything about it.

What do you suppose is the matter with the Lowell liquor, Alice? Oh, great trouble with the whiskey is that men drink too much of it.

CITY MUST PAY BILLS

Ordered to Pay for L

Elevators

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—In an opinion handed down in the supreme court yesterday, the city of Boston and not the Elevated Railway company must pay $51,612 plus the interest since 1905 for the installation of the machinery and elevators at the Atlantic avenue station of the East Boston tunnel. The decision makes the elevators a part of the tunnel, its entrances, etc., and the expense of their being installed must be borne by the city, by a statute which provided that the Transit commission build the tunnel and the city pay for the building of all approaches to it.

In a trial before Judge Forester he found for the city, the city contending that the elevators were a part of the company's equipment and that the bench has decided that the legislature in passing the statute wanted the street free from congestion, as most of the traffic is between the tunnel and the Elevated structure.

MR. QUA SAYS BILL IS LEGAL

Advised City Treasurer Stiles to Issue Check for the Knox Fire Auto

Attorney Francis W. Qua was called upon by City Treasurer A. G. Stiles for an opinion relative to the payment of the bill to the Knox Automobile company for the fire apparatus furnished by the same company to the city. Mr. Qua might not legally in the matter. Mr. Qua decides that the city treasurer is fully authorized to pay the draft for the Knox fire auto and that there is nothing in the city charter making the signature of the treasurer necessary.

Office of F. W. Ward and S. E. Qua.
Room 515, Hancock Building,
Lowell, Jan. 29, 1913.
A. G. Stiles, Esq., City Treasurer.

Dear Sir: I have carefully examined the ordinance of the City of Lowell, namely, whether you as city treasurer are authorized to issue your check for $2500 to the Knox company for the construction of a sewer line, and the appurtenances, and beg to submit the following opinion. The facts as stated to me are that the apparatus in question was specifically constructed for the use of the city department of public works with Alderman Barrett, the commissioner having charge of that department; that it could not be bought in the open market.

for the amount. It is now contended that you ought not to pay the draft because it was not approved by the present council. I think that this was not the commissioner at the time when this bill was introduced. I could find nothing in the charter or ordinance that the City of Lowell was required to acquire the appurtenances of the commissioner of that grade as a prerequisite to the payment of a draft, especially ordered to be paid by the municipal council.

Section 12 of an ordinance passed Oct. 1912 provides that no money shall be paid out of the city treasury except upon an order or resolution of the municipal council. Certain exceptions are made in the ordinance which would not be considered as they have dered; and that it has been delivered and accepted and is now in use by the fire department. The primary objection to the payment of the bill seems to have been that the apparatus in question was not ordered through the office of the chief of the supply department. I do not think that this objection is valid. It was not a purchase of material or supplies for the city but a contract for the construction of an apparatus. It is in the list of wants of the department, of a kind not usually kept on hand for sale by dealers, and therefore was properly considered by me as a consumer who had charge and authority over that department. But whether this opinion of the law as to the authority of the chief of the supply department is correct or not I think is immaterial bearing on the question we are considering. Section 11 of the same ordinance provides that "before making any order for the treasurer for the payment of any money from the treasury on any resolution, ordinance, order or vote of the municipal council a certified copy of the original resolution, ordinance, order or vote authorizing or directing, said payment is bearing the official signature of city clerk shall be filed with the auditor and city treasurer. These provisions of the ordinance seem to have been fully complied with. I therefore, of the opinion that you are fully authorized to pay the draft that it is your duty to do."

Very truly yours,
Francis W. Quinn

was fined $15. The story goes that Lessard with several others created a small riot in a local theatre a short time ago by blowing a sneeze producing substance about so as to drown out the sounds of the music with the merry "A-chews." The boy has an unenviable record of misdemeanors and his parents in court said that he had been conducting himself especially unworthily of late.

Boyd Lawson responded to a charge of breaking and entering and larceny of two watches, a pin and a chain from a house in Manchester street. The defendant lad and two other boys who were connected with the affair later restored the articles and the court ordered a continuance of the case until February 28. In this period the lad will be sent to Kentucky where his father is now located.

George Morlane and George D. Jones, both delinquent lads, were committed to the man's labor to go to Mrs. Boynton's support.

Edward M. Leighton paid a fine of $6 for drunkenness; Wallace P. Birmingham was held for tomorrow's session while Lawrence Haley was committed to the state farm. Five released by the probation officer.

The witness said that when the defendant struck him, he also (the defendant) caught hold of Pigeon's hand and after the battle the latter missed two rings. One of these, he said he afterward found in the street near the scene of the affair. Witness also said he did not drink but had been drinking ginger.

It was brought out in this testimony that there was a debt between Pigeon and another man which entered into the conversation. The defendant said that Pigeon was the assaulter and that he had to defend himself.

Mr. Qua decides that the city treasurer is fully authorized to pay the draft for the Knox fire auto and that there is nothing in the city charter making the signature of the commissioner of finance a prerequisite of payment.

Office of F. W. and S. E. Qua, Room 515, Hildreth Building,
Lowell, Jan. 29, 1913.

A. G. Stiles, Esq., City Treasurer.

Dear Sir: I have carefully examined the question submitted to me by you, namely, whether you as city treasurer are authorized to issue your check for the bill to the Knox company for the construction of a motor propelled fire apparatus, and beg to submit the following opinion. The facts as stated to me are that the apparatus in question was actually constructed for the use of the fire department under a contract with Allerman Barrett, the commissioner having charge of that department; that it could not be bought in the market but had to be specially ordered; and that it has been delivered and accepted and is now in use by the fire department. The principal objection to the payment of the bill seems to have been that the apparatus in question was not ordered through the office of the chief of the fire department. I do not think that this objection is valid. It was not a purchase of material or supplies for the fire but a contract for the construction of a special machine adapted to the wants of the department, of a kind not usually kept on hand for sale by dealers. The contract was duly contracted for by the commissioner who had charge and authority over that in view of the further action that has been taken by the municipal council in reference to this bill.

At the meeting of the municipal council on Jan. 28, 1913 the following vote was passed: "That the city auditor or be instructed to issue a draft for the sum of $5,500 directing the city treasurer to pay said draft to the Knox Company for the construction of a motor propelled fire apparatus as contracted for, received and accepted by the city of Lowell." I understand that the auditor in compliance with the above vote has issued his draft on you for the amount. It is now contended that you ought not to pay the draft because it was not approved by the present commissioner of finance who was not the commissioner at the time when this bill was contracted. I can find nothing in the charter or ordinances of the city of Lowell which requires the approval of the commissioner of finance as a prerequisite to the payment of a draft especially ordered to be paid by the municipal council.

Section 12 of an ordinance passed Oct. 1912 provides that no money shall be paid out of the city treasury except "on an order or resolution of the municipal council. Certain exceptions are made in the ordinances which need not be considered as they have no bearing on the question we are considering. Article 17 of the same ordinance provides that "before issuing any order to the treasurer for the payment of any money from the city treasury on any resolution, ordinance, order or vote authorizing or directing said payment, the auditor shall see that the official signature of the auditor and the signatures of the city auditor and city treasurer. These provisions of the ordinance seem to have been fully complied with. I am therefore of the opinion that you are authorized to pay the draft.

Now that the disqualification of Thorpe has brought the eyes of the sport loving public to the focusing point on the Indian athlete it seems light to momentarily shift the spotlight to another great copper-skinned performer, Chief Myers, the glancing heavy hitting backstop. The "Big Chief," whose real and only name is Terence by the way, was picked up by Ralph Glass, the old Dartmouth and Red Sox twinner, when Ralph was in college. Myers' home was in Denver, Col. but he played ball all over the lot during the summer the same as all the other "amateurs" of the time. Glass, it seems was fitting a game against an aggregation of Indian ball players and was having an easy time with them but for one exception. The big fellow who was playing the initial sack had an unusual appetite for the benders that retired his helpless teammates. Out of five times at bat the present National leaguer got five hits for a total of eleven. The Dartmouth pitcher knew that he had put all the stuff that he had on the ball each time that the "Chief" faced him. Glass immediately began to do some rapid figuring with the result that the Indian slugger accompanied him when he left the town for the Little New Hampshire college town. Here Myers was properly matriculated and began his studies as a student of Dartmouth college. The big fellow studied hard and faithfully but his preparation was so scanty that it was an utter impossibility for him to receive a diploma and he left college before completing his freshman year. Before he left, however, he broke all the windows within batting distance, and the "Chief's" batting distance is some distance, of the college compass, by the slant of the bat hitting a baseball through it. Today the students will show you where "Chief" Myers developed a ball through the window in the Dartmouth hall, farthest removed from the campus. The Indian ball player was quickly picked up by the big leaguers and has since rapidly risen to the top of the baseball ladder. His ideas of training have had a great deal to do with his continued success. Myers never touches any form of alcohol and cigarettes on two means a day, one in the morning and his hearty meal at night, playing all of his games on a practically empty stomach.

"Rach" Leggett is one of the finest little athletes that this city has seen perform for the local high school. As a member of the football, baseball, and track teams his name was always mentioned as a mainstay. Leggett played a remarkable game on the football field for a man of his weight and was reasonably certain to tear on some kind of a sensational play before the whistle blew in any game. "Rach" was also a sprinter of sterling worth among the schoolboy short distance entrants of the state, the 200 yard dash being his best event. The Lowell boy is at present captain of the Rock Ridge prep school track team as well as president of his class. He has not definitely made up his mind as to what college he will enter in the fall but "Rach" will, in all probability, wear a green football suit next fall.

Manager Pieper of Lawrence is anxious to open the season for his team in Worcester. There are other teams that would like to open there, too. Pieper has a good chance to draw down the plums for his band and entourage.

Pat Donahue, the former Red Sox player, may join the Syracuse team of the New York state league. Pat has kicked around quite a bit since he left Boston.

The New York Giants have a long schedule of spring training exhibition games. Twenty-five contests have been booked, the first to be played March 1 in Dallas, Tex.

Hannes Kolehmainen takes long walks from five to 15 miles every other night as a part of his training. In this way he is getting down to weight and this accounts, it is thought, for the great form he has lately developed. He hopes to show "the pace" that started the world's best athletes in Stockholm.

Sporting News

The Boston Post says: The Philadelphia middleweight, who is now under the management of Joe McLean, will meet Joe Thomas, the former Californian, at Jimmy Gardner's Lowell club on the night of Feb. 14.

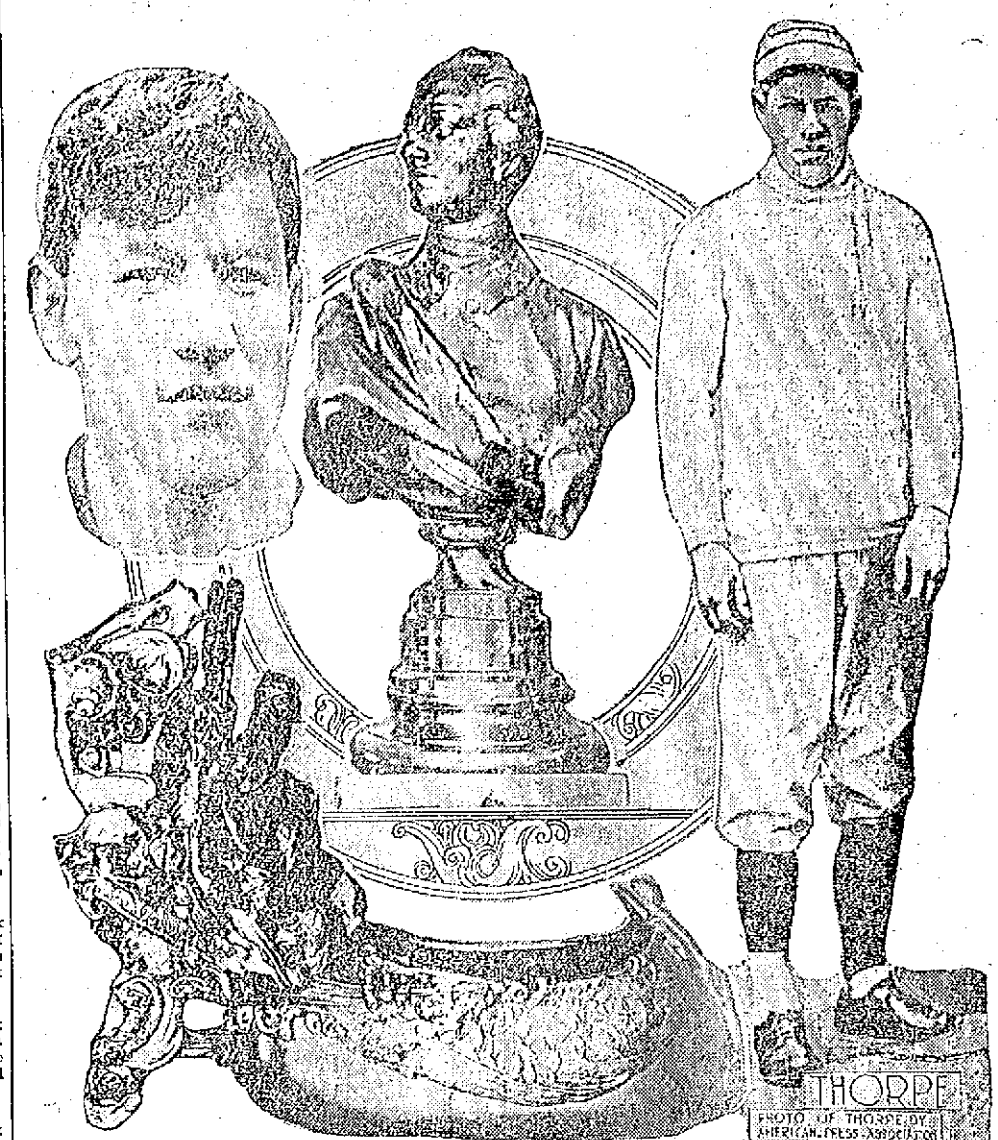

David Gorbach, manager of Benny Kaufmann of Pittsburgh, writes that his boy is on the trail of Johnny Kilbane and hopes to land a contest with him at an early date. Gorbach states that Kaufmann is willing to meet any boxer who is within the feather limit. One of the New York papers is out with a story about French Cross stalling in his bout with Shugrue on Wednesday night, while further along in the same paper we are informed that the "Fighting Double" injured his arm in his recent bout with Joe Rivers, and therefore was unable to do his best against Shugrue.

Now that Mike Donlin has been caught, the bugs are wondering what First Clark will do for an outfield in 1912. Will he return to the game, or is he risking everything on the return of Artie Hoffman? Hoffman, Carey and Wilson, with a couple of the youngsters in reserve, would make up a capable outfield—but will Hoffman be fit to play his game?

Just a few alphas, dear brother: Batter, after striking out and slumping his bat on against a box seat close to the players' bench. "I would like to have that hat over again and I would lose it. He hasn't got a thing, and we ought to hit his stuff with a stocking full of mud."

He crossed me with that hook. It was the first one he has landed me this season.

Frank Chance would have club nicknames eliminated and his team known as the New Yorks. Gotham fans may disagree, but if Chance fails to bring the team from the rut the club will be called worse names than some fans know were in the dictionary.

VIEWS OF THORPE, WHO HAS BEEN STRIPPED OF AMATEUR STANDING—TWO TROPHIES HE WON

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The amateur athletic world never received a greater surprise than when Jim Thorpe, Carlisle, the greatest all around athlete of this or any other country has ever known—Jim Thorpe, the wonderful Indian football, baseball, basketball and lacrosse player, broad and high jumper, hurdler and sprinter—laureled by a king and acclaimed by millions—admitted he was a professional. One small indiscretion of his athletic youth has come forward at this late day, after he had won all the glories that could be gained in his chosen field, and he finds himself branded as a "professional," the most heinous offense that can be committed among amateurs. It seems a very little thing that this great Carlisle star did. In the summers of 1909 and 1910 he played baseball for money with the Rocky Mount team of the Eastern Carolina association, as well as with the Fayetteville team of the same league—a league that stands for all the professional ball player means when he refers scornfully to the "bushes." Today this league, probably never very hale and hearty in its most prosperous days, is defunct, but it lived long enough to furnish a means for the amateur destruction of the greatest athlete of all times. All the material honors that Thorpe gained in the Olympic games of 1912—the trophies and whatnots—have been stripped from the Indian holder, and they will be returned to the donors. None of his marvelous records will stand. They will be wiped out completely, as if they never existed, although it is rather doubtful if this summary method will remove them from the memory of the people who follow athletic events. Picture on right shows Thorpe in baseball uniform. Bust of King of Sweden was captured by Thorpe when he won the pentathlon at Olympic games. The Viking ship, given by the czar of Russia, was turned over to the Indian when he captured the decathlon. Thorpe may take up professional baseball this summer. Several big league clubs are after his services.

BOTH READY FOR BELL

Wood and Jasper Are Well Trained

Ray Wood of Fall River and Young Jasper of Boston, the principals in tonight's main bout at the Lowell Social and Athletic club, are both in the pink of condition for the mill, and each is confident of being returned the winner. The two men have trained carefully for this engagement and the defeated man will have no excuses to offer. Jasper put in his work in Boston, under the watchful eye of Al Belmont and Edwards. Battling Nelson's old trainer, and both will accompany the Italian into the ring tonight, and act as seconds.

Wood, at his condition at his home in Fall River, being assisted by an efficient corps of "seconds." The bout is scheduled to last twelve rounds. The semi final between Henry Myers of Charlestown, and Young Belmont of Lawrence, ought to be a whirlwind affair, inasmuch as the two men are lightning rod performers, and are anxious to settle their claim of supremacy. At their last meeting which took place in this city, Belmont accidentally fell through the ropes and he was obliged to discontinue fighting. The award was given to Myers, and Belmont claims that he had the better of the go up to the time of the mishap. Tonight's entertainment will settle the assertions of both men. They are carded for eight rounds. Two bang-up preliminaries are also on the program, and the bill as a whole is one of the best ever arranged. Extra seats have been provided and all who attend are assured of a place to watch the bouts to good advantage. The meeting will be repeated to order by President Jimmy Gardner at 8.15 o'clock.

First Track Meet Tomorrow

The high school team will hold its first track meet tomorrow afternoon at the Dodge street annex at 2 o'clock sharp. The opponents of the local team came here from Newton high, where a clever bunch of track circles. The Lowell boys should win the meet without a great deal of trouble if the team lives up to its possibilities. If the relay race decides a meet the Kirk street performers are always there strong for the banks are mighty difficult for strangers to travel on. Captain Bailey should be the palest of his team in the sprint events as well as in the low hurdle dash. If the boys are beaten in their first meet it will certainly not be for lack of hard work on their part.

"SHUT OUT KING"

Big Ed Reulbach of the Chicago "Cubs" of "Crabs," Won Title by Strung of Victorles

There is no greater name among National league pitchers than Ed Reulbach. Mathewson was his superior in all around work, so was Mordecai Brown. But neither Mathewson nor Brown ever exceeded or even equaled the consistently brilliant record by which Reulbach won the title of the "Shut Out King."

The history of those successive years when the Cubs were the greatest baseball machine ever built are starred with the brilliant exploits of Reulbach whose dazzling feats furnish the highest example of that club's almost absolute perfection.

How the great pitcher began his career and some of his choicest romances from that career are all given in graphic detail in the following article:

In the third year at Notre Dame, Reulbach had so far improved that he was elected captain of the varsity, and was, without question, their leading pitcher. It was on the strength of his third year that he joined a team of college stars playing in then what was called the Northern league at Montpelier and Barre, Vt.

As the prospects for a good year looked better in this league than at Sedalia, he made every effort to purchase his release from the latter club. He had been receiving $125 per month for a five months' season at Sedalia, and now demanded $250 per month for his services. This the club refused to pay and Reulbach refused to sign. Instead he journeyed to Montpelier and Barre, and, having outworn the name of Lawson, adopted the equally serviceable one of Sheldon. Young Mr. Sheldon was supposed to pitch twice per week, and for this received $20, or $15 per game. Having pitched two games and won them both, and the affairs of the club being in a prosperous condition, he was raised to $125 per week plus a collection taken up among the fans.

only a great sportsman and a good sport but a millionaire as well, and his aggressive spirit, coupled with his abundant resources, led him to adopt a club of his own.

Centrals Defeated

The Lowell Centrals played the Newburyport Clerks' five in the town hall at Newburyport last night, the local team losing the match by the score of 10 to 10. The lineup:

CENTRALS: Smith 1b, Grant rf, Lynch c, Murphy 1b, Murphy 1b, Lewis 1b.

Baskets—A. Murphy, J. Vaughn, J. Rourke, D. Murphy, J. Smith, 2 Points on foul, Clerks 4, Centrals 2. Referee—O'Brien of Amesbury. Timer—F. H. Kelley. Scorers—Cufack and Woods. Time—Three 15-minute periods.

Soccer Game Postponed

The soccer game between the Burlington and Methuen, which was scheduled for Feb. 1, has been postponed until Feb. 8.

Butler, Sculler, Enfores Road Rise

Everard B. Butler of the famous Argonaut Rowing club of Toronto and holder of the amateur sculling championship of the United States was born in Toronto Dec. 29, 1855. Butler's climb to fame as an expert with the oars was one of the quickest on record. He never saw a racing shell until he joined the Argonauts in 1899. Two years later he possessed the amateur rowing championship titles of both the United States and Canada.

In 1910 he was a winner at the middle states regatta in Philadelphia and at the Canadian Henley at St. Catharines. The next year he again won at the Canadian Henley and also captured the United States and Canadian single championships. This year Butler added the American championship singles and the quarter mile dash to his list of victories, winning both events at the national regatta at Peoria, Ill.

CLOSE AND INTERESTING GAMES

Many Rolled on the Local Alleys Last Night—Bowlers and Pin Boys Were Busy

There were several close and interesting matches rolled off last night on the local alleys by the teams in the various Lowell leagues.

The Calvary Baptist bowling team was far superior to the First Baptist team in their match game last evening. The Church street church five were defeated by the score of 1633 to 1331. Perrin was the high man of the night's rolling with a total of 320. The First Baptist team, on the other hand, rolled the St. Paul Methodist team in a fairly close game. The Dutton street church team won the first and last strings and the totals by the score of 1334 to 1226. Both of these games were rolled for the Baraga league standing.

The Climax team defeated the bowling quintet from the Testers in their Home-Electric league game last night by 29 pins. The totals stood 1277 to 1248. Brown of the Testers was high man.

The Nashua five took the Moody Bridge bowlers into camp by the margin of 24 pins. Boucher of the winners was high with a three string total of 285.

The Washingtons won from the Regulars. The Parcel Posts Defeated the Plumbers.

PARTY OF LOWELL MEN
Visited Mr. Joseph Clark at Taunton

WHERE HE AND WIFE ARE IN THE HOTEL BUSINESS

Many Local Officials Joined the 'Party' in Trip to Taunton Where Banquet Was Enjoyed

The City Hotel in Taunton was the scene of a merry gathering Tuesday evening when Lowell friends of the proprietor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark, paid them a visit. Mr. Clark was at one time engaged in the hotel business in this city and he took possession of the City Hotel in Taunton several months ago, and by all accounts, he is making a big success of it. The following story of the Lowell visitors to Taunton is from the Taunton Herald-News of Wednesday:

A large delegation of the leading citizens of Lowell paid a flying visit to the City Hotel last evening where they gave a testimonial banquet to Joseph H. Clark, the manager, and also made presents to Mr. and Mrs. Clark. The Lowell party made the trip to this city by a special train and left on their return journey shortly after midnight. A number of Mr. Clark's friends in this city were also guests at the banquet.

Shortly after 3 o'clock the guests fled to the main dining room upstairs where an excellent turkey supper with all the fixings was served. The dining room was decorated with a profuse array of palms and carnations, and in the rear was draped a large American flag. During the supper Henry's Union orchestra furnished music.

After all had appeared their appetites, cigars were lighted. James H. Hearn, private secretary to Mayor Jas. F. O'Donnell of Lowell, stated that Mr. and Mrs. Clark had the best wishes of an entire community and they hoped and wished him every success in his new venture. He then introduced Andrew E. Jarrett, fire and water commissioner of Lowell, as toastmaster. Mr. Jarrett proved to be a capable exponent of the electrician's art, and expressed his sincere regret that Mayor O'Donnell, whom he termed as one of the best mayors Lowell ever had, could not be present on this occasion, as on the advice of his physician he could not come; he asked the speaker to extend his best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Clark. Continuing, Mr. Jarrett paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Clark and stated that this delegation was but a mere handful of Lowell citizens who were friends of the latter, and that the name of "Joe" Clark was known throughout Lowell as a man who had always kept his promise, always a booster and not a knocker, always willing to lend a helping hand to friends and willing to help them up the ladder and not stay at the top rung and
